1. Describe a person you know who likes to talk a lot.

You should say:

- Who this person is
- How do you know him/her
- What he/she likes to talk about
- And explain how you feel about this person.

- I know many people who are very talkative but here I am going to talk about my cousin Rubina, who is the most talkative person known to me.
- She is my paternal uncle's daughter and lives next door.
- She is fifteen and is studying in 10th class.
- She is tall and beautiful and has a fair complexion.
- She has dimples on both cheeks when she smiles.
- She has jet black curly hair and generally leaves her hair loose.
- She is such a chatterbox that when she is around, you don't need any TV or radio for entertainment.
- She can go on and on and sometimes I wonder from where she gets all the energy to speak so much.
- She is loved by all in our family and even in the neighbourhood.
- She is fond of watching movies and then she tells me the story in so much detail that I feel I have actually seen the movie.
- She has a great sense of humour and can lighten up any tense situation.
- She is very good at studies and wants to become a lawyer.
- I believe she will be a very good lawyer because she has good communication skills.
- No one can feel bored in her company.
- She is an extrovert and can make friends very soon.
- She is also very conscious of her health and goes for morning walk daily.
- She used to be very chubby in childhood but now she has shed off the extra kilos and looks very fit.
- Sometimes her talkative nature has put her in a lot of trouble.
- Many times her teachers have punished her in class for talking a lot.
- I remember once she was made to stand out in the sun for one hour in the scorching heat of the sun.
- She was on the verge of fainting but even that could not quieten her.
- I love this cute chatterbox and when she is quiet, I feel something is wrong and I don't like it.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What communication skills are important?

I believe verbal communication skills are the most significant and must be honed in every individual. The communication in everyday life revolved mostly around verbal skills rather than written communication or non-verbal communication.

Good interpersonal skill is also a top requirement in the jobs these days.

2. Are you talkative?

No I am not a person who speaks a lot. I mostly speak when I am asked to or when some situation requires my opinion. I believe in the philosophy that one should speak less and think before speaking.

3. Are most Indian people talkative?

I guess, yes, most of the Indian people love to talk and it is evident by the large amount of noise you can hear at the public places like railway stations, malls etc. I think one of the primary reasons that Indian people love to talk is the fact that Indians love to socialise. They like to know each other's well being and discuss what is going in one's life

4. What jobs need employees to be talkative? m a k k a r _ | E L T S

The first job that comes to my mind would be of a Radio Jockey because talking is the primary thing they have to do in their job. They are supposed to entertain people by talking a lot, cracking jokes. Another job, I would say, could be a teacher as they have to give lectures to the students, which involves a lot of speaking.

5. Should children be encouraged to talk more?

I believe teaching communication skills to children is very important and they should definitely be encouraged to speak. They should also be taught when they should speak more and when they should speak less because speaking more is not important but speaking the right thing is.

2. Describe a place where you would like to go to relax. (FUTURE TENSE)

You should say:

- Where it is
- When you would like to go there
- What you would like to do there
- And explain why you would like to go to this place

Or

Describe a place where you are able to relax (PRESENT TENSE)

- Where it is
 - What it is like
 - How often you go there
 - and how you feel about this place
- Relaxation is important in everyone's life
 - Everyone has different ways of relaxation
 - Elderly people go to religious places and parks to relax
 - Young people have a lot of pent up energy, so they go to gyms and discos to sweat out that energy, and relax.
 - I usually go to a gurdwara to relax.
 - I go there once or twice a week
 - Whenever, I go there, I do circumambulation of the holy book inside the main hall, and pay obeisance to the almighty.
 - There is a well-maintained fish pond in the gurdwara, which has many different species of fish.
 - I just sit on the steps of the pond and listen to the holy chants going on all the time there.
 - It gives me great relaxation and peace of mind.
 - Last Sunday, I took some bread from home and fed the fish.
 - There are two catfish among the other many, who seem to be talking to me.
 - I know it is all my imagination, but I love it over there.
 - I feel that the tempo of life has slowed down a bit.
 - It is so relaxing to watch the movements of the fish in the water.
 - This activity takes away all the physical and mental tiredness away from my body.
 - I feel very light-hearted after that.
 - Even though there is always a great rush in this temple, yet one can find peace and quiet over there.
 - Sometimes, I offer voluntary services in the community kitchen over there.
 - Free food is offered to one and all in the community kitchen and this service is round the clock.
 - So, this is the place I go to relax.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do students relax themselves?

Students relax by going out with friends or just lazing around at home. Sometimes they even get relaxation by going to the gym. Actually a gym is the place where they release their pent-up energy and then feel relaxed.

2. What activities do employers organise to help employees relax?

Employers organise group excursions for their employees to relax. Some employers also provide gym facilities in the workplace so that the employees can sweat out their stress.

3. Do people now have more ways to relax than in the past?

Yes, people have far more ways to relax than in the past. Technology has given many new ways to spend free time and to feel relaxed. People play online games and chat with their friends across the globe to feel relaxed.

4. Do you think natural sceneries are more helpful than indoor activities?

Yes definitely natural scenery is far more relaxing than indoor activities. Nowadays people are suffering from nature deficit disorder, which means that they are spending less time with nature and more time indoors.

5. Do you like to visit movie theatres?

Yes, I like to visit movie theatres. Once in a month or two I watch a movie in the cinema.

6. Where do Indian people like to go on weekends?

Indian people like to go cinemas, shopping malls, and restaurants on weekends. Sometimes they go to their relatives' homes

7. What do old people do to relax?

Old people go to religious places. They go to parks and sit on the benches and talk with others of their age

8. What is the importance of relaxation?

Relaxation is very important. It recharges one's batteries. After relaxing people can work better and students can study better.

9. What are the ways people relax themselves?

People relax in different ways. Some go to parks, some go to religious places, some just sit at home and listen to music or watch TV. Young people have a lot of pent up energy, so they go to gyms and discos to sweat out that energy, and relax.

and restaurants for relaxation. Young people sweat out their stress in discos and gyms for relaxation.

3. Describe a long-term goal you would like to achieve.

You should say:

- What the goal is
- How long have you had this goal
- How you would achieve it
- And explain why you set this goal.

Describe a goal you want to achieve in the future or Describe an ambition that you have had for a long time

- What the goal is?
 - What would you do to achieve it
 - When will you achieve
 - Explain why you want to achieve it
- Setting goals is very important in life.
 - Goals give a direction to life
 - If we don't have a goal, we don't have anything to work for.
 - I set up short time goals for myself such as doing well in exams and working hard to achieve those goals.
 - But, my ultimate long-term goal is to give a comfortable life to my family.
 - I have seen my family struggle for finances (money) at times, and so I want them to lead an easy life
 - I have just completed my senior secondary / graduation here, and I plan to go abroad for my higher education.
 - So, I understand that I have a long way to go before I can achieve my goal.
 - First, I will complete my higher education in Canada, and then, hopefully, get a good job and start earning well.
 - I have seen my relatives, who are in Canada, lead a very lavish lifestyle.
 - My parents now look upon me to give them such a life.
 - They have saved some money to send me to Canada.
 - I know that I will have to work part time to cover my overhead expenses.
 - I don't want to put any more burden on my parents.
 - I hope I am able to achieve my goal one day.
 - I also want to be a productive member of society.
 - I believe that if God has given us more than others, we should share something with the poor.
 - I would be very happy, if I am able to achieve all that.

Or

- A big dream I have is to go and study in Canada.
- I've been thinking about this goal since I finished my senior secondary school.
- My plan is not just to study there but to eventually make it my home and bring all the comforts to my parents.
- For a while now, I have been working on this goal step by step.
- First, I need to clear a test called IELTS.
- It's like a key that opens the door to studying in Canada. So, I'm preparing for that.
- After I clear IELTS, my next step is to apply to Canadian universities.

- I want to study something I really like, maybe something related to computers.
- Choosing the right program is important to get a good education and also to have good opportunities in Canada.
- Once I get admission to a university, I'll be flying to Canada for my studies. It's a big step, and I'll be away from home, but it's exciting because I'll be learning new things and meeting new people.
- The reason I set this goal is because I want to make my parents proud and happy.
- They have always supported me, and this is my way of giving back to them.
- Canada is known for being a nice place with friendly people and good opportunities.
- I believe studying there will not only help me learn new things but also open doors for a good job.
- Being in Canada, I can work hard, build a good life, and eventually bring my parents to live with me.
- I want them to have all the comforts and happiness.
- It's a long-term goal, but I think it's worth it because it's not just about my dreams; it's also about making a better life for my family.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Should parents set goals for children?

Parents are the best people to set goals for the children. They can help their children in setting goals. They know the temperament of their child and so it is all right if they set goals for them, but at the same time they should keep in mind the aptitude of the child and set realistic goals for him.

2. When do young children start to set goals for themselves?

Children start to set goals for themselves after completing senior secondary, when they have to decide which college to join. But these goals are mainly in consultation with their parents. Once they start earning they start setting goals independently.

3. What kinds of goals are not realistic?

Every person has his own abilities. One should set goals according to one's capabilities. If a person will set unrealistic goals, then there are chances of going into depression. For example, if the person is suffering from asthma he should not set the goal of going to Mount Everest.

4. Why do people set goals?

People set goals because goals give them a motivation to work hard. They give a direction to life. It is not essential to have very high goals, but without goals there is nothing to work for.

5. What would you feel if you couldn't achieve your goals?

Naturally I would feel dejected, but then I would start working hard again to achieve my goal. I know that perseverance is needed to achieve anything in life. So I would keep working hard till I achieve my goal.

4. Describe a uniform you wear (at your school or company) or you wore at school

- When you wear it?
 - Who bought it for you?
 - What does it look like?
 - How you feel about it?
- Uniform is very important to maintain discipline in schools or even at workplace.
 - It also helps in distinguishing between customer and employees or students of different schools.
 - This is why every place has a different uniform.
 - I do not wear any uniform now, but I used to wear one in my school.
 - In fact, in my school we had different uniforms for weekdays and different for Saturday which was the games day.
 - For the weekdays, the students had to wear white shirt with steel grey bottoms along with a tie, belt and black shoes.
 - But for the games day, it was coloured T-shirts and white bottoms with the school belt and canvas shoes.
 - During the winters, we also had to wear a blue coloured blazer with the school motto woven on its pocket.
 - This was my favourite part of the uniform as I looked really handsome after wearing it.
 - Also, our school uniform was comparatively better looking as compared to other schools in town, so I felt a little bit proud about it as well.
 - But I really hated wearing the games day uniform because the white color gets dirty very easily.
 - My parents used to buy the uniforms for me.
 - They bought it every alternate year because of my physical growth the old uniforms would get shorter.
 - I also remember that I used to take great care of my uniform and kept it neat and tidy. This also got me compliments from my teachers.
 - In the end I would like to say that not many students understand the importance of wearing uniform, but it must be taught to them.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why should students wear uniforms?

Uniforms have a lot of advantages. Firstly, it teaches them about discipline and equality which are important qualities to learn in the childhood.

2. On what occasion should people wear uniforms?

I don't think people should wear uniform for particular occasion because it would be wastage of money. Buying a uniform that one would wear for a single occasion does not make a lot sense to me but if people wear it every day in the school or army it serves a better purpose.

3. Should companies ask employees about the design of their uniforms?

Yes, companies should definitely do that because when employees will participate in the designing process they will have more respect for their uniforms. They will have a sense of ownership and hence they will wear it more proudly.

4. Can people tell someone's personality by his or her clothes?

I think it is very difficult to judge someone's personality by looking at what they are wearing. Every individual is different, some like fashion and some do not. So a person wearing simple clothes could be a highly intellectual person or could be an average guy. We can only find out once we talk to them.

5. What color would catch people's attention most?

I think the bright colors catch the attention most. Colors like red and yellow normally have a striking effect. Also, these colors are not worn by many people, so, one's chances of being the odd one out become higher.

5. Describe a sportsperson/athlete that you admire

- Who is the person?
 - What is his/her achievement
 - Why do you admire him?
- I think, sports play an integral/important part in our lives and every person has a sportsperson in their life whom they admire either secretly or openly.
 - Today, I would like to talk about a sportsperson who has been a constant source of inspiration to me and the millions of other people in our country.
 - His name is Virat Kohli and he is a cricketer.
 - He plays as a right-handed batsman.
 - He is just 35 years old and was also one of the youngest Captains of Indian Cricket team.
 - He led the Indian cricket team in all the three formats of the game i.e. One Day Internationals, Test Cricket and Twenty Twenty matches
 - He is also ranked as one of the world's most famous athlete by the Forbes Magazine
 - One of his greatest achievements was leading Indian Under 19 team to victory in World cup tournament
 - He Debuted (note the pronunciation - debued) for India when he was only 19 years of age and since then he has never looked back and broken a lot of records.
 - Currently he has the highest number of International centuries in the game, just one more than the legendary Sachin Tendulkar
 - From a personality perspective, he is an aggressive player with a winning attitude and strong commitment towards the game.
 - One thing that a lot of people don't know about Kohli is that he lost his father while playing a test match for his state team but he still continued to bat and only after he had saved his team from losing, he went for the cremation of his father.
 - Apart from sports, Virat Kohli also does a lot of charity through his foundation which works for better education and healthcare of underprivileged children.
 - He is married to the famous actress Anushka Sharma and they have a 3 year old daughter named Vamika.
 - They got married in Italy and it was one of the biggest weddings of year 2017.
 - I wish that he will win the twenty- twenty world cup for India in 2024 and lead India to number one spot in all formats of the game.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do teenagers like exercising in your country?

Yes, in my country teenagers love to exercise, many of them go for jogging in parks near to their homes and some of them also join gymnasiums and sports club for exercising because it helps them in staying fit and healthy

2. Do you think physical education is necessary? Why?

Yes, physical education is necessary because it helps us in staying fit and healthy. It also teaches us a lot about different sports and nutrition. With the help of physical education, we can learn the right way of doing exercise so that we do not injure ourselves during exercising.

3. How do you think physical education classes affect children's development?

Physical education classes help children in learning about their bodies and how to stay healthy. These classes also make them aware about healthy diets which promotes growth among them,

4. What kind of exercises do Indian people like?

Well, Indians love to do all kinds of exercises, but I believe Yoga is the most popular exercise in India as it originated from here. Some people also like running, bicycling, swimming and other sports exercises as well. Going to the gymnasium has also become a fashion among the youth of our country as they like to build strong muscles.

6. Describe a job you would not like to do in the future

- What is the job ?
- How you heard about it?
- Why you don't want to do it?
- How you feel about the job?

- Nowadays, people have a lot of job options and everyone has a preference related to the job they would like to do or not.
- Also, no job is easy nowadays as there is a lot of competition and people have to work really hard in their jobs.
- Some people like to take the challenges that a job brings while some find them difficult. I think it depends on one's interest.
- Today, I would like to talk about a job, which I think is challenging and I would not like to do it in the future.
- It is the job of a car salesman.
- Although it seems like a simple job but nowadays it is not easy to convince people when they go to buy a car.
- There are a lot of responsibilities as well and pressure is always high.
- It also requires one to be extrovert, which I think I am not.
- One of my friends is working as a salesperson and I often find him stressed about his job.
- He has to spend almost 10-11 hours at the car showroom every day.
- And he does not get off on Sunday, as most customers visit the showroom on this day.
- Also, nowadays most of the people do their research online before buying a car so it becomes very difficult for a salesman to talk to them and sell the car.
- My friend is not able to meet his sales targets and always looks worried.
- Moreover, one does not get promotions easily in this job, so it does not seem like a great career option to me.
- In the past, people used to enjoy working as a salesman, but I think it is really difficult.
- I would prefer doing a job related to computers.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kind of jobs do young people prefer?

The young generation likes to do the jobs which involve creativity and where they can work independently. They also look for jobs that are well paid and require less physical effort. In our country most of the graduates are employed in IT industry. I think they like to work as programmers or IT administrators.

2. Some people will lose their jobs because of technology, how to deal with it?

I think it is the responsibility of the government to skill these people on new technologies so that they can find new jobs. Otherwise there would be large scale unemployment, which would be detrimental for the society.

3. Will you settle down in another country?

Yes, if I get a good job opportunity in a developed country, I would like to settle there. I feel if a person does not settle early than he or she will never achieve success and will always lead a stressful life.

4. How do young people today decide their career?

The present generation has a lot of options when it comes to deciding their career. In the past the young looked upto their family members while deciding their career but nowadays the youth have lot of role models from different fields and they make their own decisions. Some of them also like to explore different jobs before finalising on one. Moreover, they also do a lot of research looking at future prospects of different jobs.

5. Which do young people generally prefer - boring jobs with higher pay or interesting jobs with lower pay?

Nowadays the young are intelligent, and they understand if they are not doing something they like, they will never be happy. So, they choose the jobs they are passionate about and money takes the backseat.

6. Which do you prefer physical work or work involving thinking?

I prefer intellectual work over work that requires a lot of physical effort. I feel work that stimulates your mind is more satisfying as compared to physical work which is monotonous.

7. Do you think today we have less physical labour than we did in the past?

Yes, today we have to do less physical work as compared to the past. Thanks to the advancements in technology, our lives are more comfortable convenient nowadays. The work that required strenuous effort in the past can now be done with the click of a button.

7. Describe an interesting conversation you had with a very old person.

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - Where you had the conversation
 - What you talked about
 - And explain how you felt about the experience.
- I have had many interesting conversations with my grandparents, but here I would like to talk about an interesting conversation I had with my friend's grandfather, S. Manmohan Singh.
 - He is in his late eighties.
 - We had this enlightening conversation in the comfort of his living room during one of my visits to his house.
 - During our conversation, his grandfather shared captivating stories about his experiences and insights into the Indian freedom struggle.
 - He vividly recounted incidents from that era, talking about the sacrifices made by countless individuals who fought for India's independence from British rule.
 - He narrated tales of bravery, and unity among people from different walks of life who came together for a common cause.
 - We delved into various aspects of the freedom movement, discussing the pivotal role played by Mahatma Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Subhas Chandra Bose, and other prominent leaders.
 - He explained the significance of events like the Salt March, Quit India Movement, and the sacrifices made by freedom fighters to secure our nation's freedom.
 - Moreover, my grandfather emphasized why it's crucial for young people to be aware of India's struggle for independence.
 - He told that understanding this history brings a sense of patriotism and an appreciation for our hard-earned freedom.
 - This conversation was incredibly enlightening and thought-provoking.
 - It made me realize the importance of acknowledging and learning from our past to shape our future.
 - Hearing first-hand accounts of the struggles during India's fight for independence was not only educational but also deeply inspiring.
 - It instilled in me a sense of pride and respect for the sacrifices made by our ancestors.
 - I realized that the lessons from the past should not be forgotten but cherished and carried forward by younger generations.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think old people and young people can share the same interest?

It may sometimes be difficult for old people and young people to share the same interests. Young people are generally more energetic, so they prefer outdoor sports, but old people can only play those games which are not physically trying. It would be wrong to say that they cannot share the same interest. They both can share the same interest in TV programs, movies, indoor games, etc.

2. What skills can the old teach the young?

Old people today have seen a lot of changes in their lifetime. My grandfather has told me many stories of how difficult his life was when there were no vehicles and horses were used for transportation. He has also seen a lot of technological advancements. For example, the evolution of music started with radio and was followed by gramophones, cassette players, cd's and dvd's, and finally I-Pods and Mobile Phones. The most important life skills such as adaptability, versatility and openness to change, can be taught by the old to the young.

3. What skills can the young teach the old?

Young people are faster at learning about modern technology and better at operating gadgets. They can definitely teach these skills to old people. Also, since young people are now entering various businesses, other young people understand them and can do a better job of negotiating prices of goods and services. This too is an important skill for old people who are always keen to get a good bargain.

4. Do you think the old people should live with their family?

Ideally they should. But, if not possible for some reasons, they should be in old age homes and not live alone. Living alone can be dangerous for them.

8. Describe a period when you were busy.

You should say:

- When it was
 - What you did during the period
 - What made you busy
 - And explain how you felt about the experience
- I have seen many busy periods in my life, such as during exams or when we have some guests over from abroad for a short stay.
 - However, one of the busiest periods I've experienced was before my sister's wedding, which took place last summer.
 - In the months preceding the wedding, I found myself deeply involved in various tasks and responsibilities related to the event.
 - As my sister's wedding was a significant family affair, there were numerous arrangements and preparations that needed attention.
 - I felt very important when my parents involved me in the arrangements.
 - Primarily, I assisted in helping to choose the venue, arranging meetings with caterers, florists, and decorators, and managing the guest list.
 - The days just before the wedding were incredibly hectic.
 - I had to oversee last-minute details to ensure everything was in place for the big day.
 - From attending dress fittings to organizing transportation for guests, each day was filled with numerous tasks to complete.
 - Despite the immense busyness and occasional stress, the experience was incredibly fulfilling and rewarding.
 - Witnessing the joy and happiness on my sister's face during her special day made all the hard work worthwhile.
 - Moreover, it brought our family closer together as we collaborated and worked tirelessly to make the wedding a beautiful and memorable occasion.
 - The sense of accomplishment I felt after seeing the successful outcome of our efforts cannot be explained in words.
 - Overall, although it was an extremely busy period, it was an unforgettable and joyful experience.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you like the fast pace of modern life?
I do not like the fast pace of modern life much, but I think that there is no escape from it. It has become a part of our lives.
2. How do you feel when you are really busy?
When I'm busy, I don't have time to think of anything, and that keeps me stress-free.
3. What's the best way to deal with stress?
The best way to deal with stress is to remain busy. One can have hobbies to keep one busy. If the person is busy, he doesn't have time to think of depressing things.
4. What kind of lifestyle is suitable to people in modern society?
People in the modern society, are busy. I think the fast-paced life style suits them the most. Those who are not living the fast life seem to be living in some other era.
5. What relaxation techniques do you usually use? I do some yoga, and listen to soft music to relax.

9. Describe a time when you used a map.

You should say:

- When it was
 - Where you were
 - What you did
 - And explain how you felt about it.
- Using the GPS when traveling by car has become very common, especially while visiting new places.
 - One particular incident that comes to mind when my family and I heavily relied on a map was when we had to attend a wedding at a new marriage palace in Ludhiana, India, and ended up getting lost on the way.
 - It was the wedding of the daughter of my father's colleague, and we were all invited.
 - They live in Ludhiana, and so they had booked a newly opened Marriage Palace named Occasions in Ludhiana.
 - It was in the outskirts of Ludhiana.
 - It was a sunny afternoon, and we put on the GPS directions on our phone.
 - We set off excitedly in our car from Phagwara.
 - However, the route to the new marriage palace seemed confusing due to recent construction and road diversions.
 - We realized that the GPS wasn't entirely accurate.
 - We found ourselves taking wrong turns and ending up in unknown places.
 - Finally, we decided to take the help of locals.
 - As it was a new marriage palace, we could not get any help.
 - Ultimately, we had to rely on the GPS system only.
 - After a series of twists and turns, we managed to find our way to the new marriage palace.
 - Despite the delay and the initial stress of being lost, the experience of using the map and navigating through the unknown added a unique thrill to our journey.
 - Though the situation was a bit challenging and caused some anxiety initially, the teamwork involved in figuring out the correct path and eventually arriving at the destination created a memorable adventure.
 - I can never forget that wedding and how much effort we had to put in to reach there.

10. Describe a time you successfully did something difficult.

You should say:

- When it was
- What you did
- Where it happened
- And explain how you felt about it.

- I Try to do things that I find difficult as I believe that once I do that difficult thing, I will have more confidence than before.
- Here, I would like to talk about an incredibly rewarding experience I had when I was doing Sr Secondary.
- It was winning a declamation contest amidst tough competition.
- It happened during my final year of high school when our school organized an inter-school declamation competition.
- I am an introvert by nature, and so public speaking was a daunting challenge for me.
- However, motivated by my friends, I decided to participate.
- Preparing for the contest was a very challenging process.
- I spent weeks practicing tirelessly in front of the mirror and with friends.
- The topic was on the importance of youth empowerment and education.
- The competition took place at a renowned school in Mohali, Punjab.
- When it was my turn to speak, I gathered my courage and delivered the speech with passion and conviction.
- Despite initial jitters, I spoke confidently and emphasized the significance of empowering the youth through education.
- When I concluded my speech I received a warm round of applause from the audience.
- Ultimately, to my surprise and delight, I was announced as the winner of the declamation contest.
- The feeling of accomplishment was great.
- Overcoming my fear of public speaking and succeeding in a competition made me feeling elated and empowered.
- I had stepped out of my comfort zone to achieve something I initially deemed challenging.
- The experience instilled in me newfound confidence and a belief in the power of determination and hard work.
- It taught me that facing difficult challenges can lead to personal growth and can pave the way for unforeseen successes.
- Winning the declamation contest remains a cherished memory, serving as a reminder that with determination, one can conquer even the most daunting of tasks.

Or

Well, I have done many things in my life which I found difficult in the beginning but then with practice they became easy.

- For example, I found cooking to be very difficult at first but now I can cook anything easily by just following the recipe.

- But one challenging thing I would like to talk about today is when I assembled my own Personal Computer two years back.
- It was after my exams were over and I had requested my parents for a new desktop.
- All my friends had bought branded Personal Computers from Dell and HP which came pre- installed with all the software.
- However, being a gamer, I was more interested in getting a gaming computer with a more powerful configuration but buying a branded gaming PC was out of my budget.
- So, I discussed it with one of my techie friends and he advised me to buy the computer parts separately and assemble it on my own, as it would cost much less than a branded PC.
- Since I did not have much knowledge about computer hardware at that time, it seemed very difficult to me to do this task on my own.
- But I still decided to go ahead and started reading a book on computer hardware and also started to watch computer assembly videos on youtube, which gave me a lot of confidence.
- Through the videos I learnt a lot about the different computer parts and their functioning.
- Finally, after I gained enough confidence, I ordered all the components online as it was much cheaper than the retail shops.
- It took me a complete day to put all the parts together and basically the most difficult part was building the CPU.
- One has to be very careful while installing the processor on the motherboard and then installing cooling fans over it.
- If this process is not done carefully it could lead to a short circuit and the processor could get damaged.
- Luckily, I was able to put it all together perfectly in my first attempt and when I pressed the power button, I heaved a sigh of relief.
- I was very nervous during the entire assembly process, but I also felt that if I hadn't read the hardware book and watched the videos on youtube, I would not have been able to do this thing on my own.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kinds of jobs require people to be confident?

I think all jobs require a certain degree of confidence but the ones which involve dealing with customers require a lot more confidence. For example, if a salesperson is not confident enough then he will not be able to convince the customers about the product he/she is trying to sell.

2. On what occasions should children be encouraged? How?

I think children should be encouraged in those situations where they feel hesitant in doing something that is good for them. But also, the encouragement should be done to a certain limit, they should not feel like something is being forced upon them. For example, we can encourage children to learn something creative such as painting if they show interest in it. And to encourage them more, parents can take them to a museum so they can develop their interest further

3. How do you help children stay focused?

There are many ways in which children can be helped. First of all, one can provide them an environment which is free of distractions, like when they are studying, they should not be allowed to use cellphones. Another way to help them focus would be to teach them about meditation in which they have to focus on their breath or a single sound.

4. What challenges do young people face today?

Well, I think there are two main challenges that young people face these days. The first one is related to the mind and mental health, nowadays everyone is aware of the rise in depression and suicide cases among the youth. Another challenge faced by them is the ever-increasing competition in education or their professional lives.

11. Describe a situation when you helped someone.

You should say:

- What the situation was
- Who the person was
- How you helped them
- And explain how you felt after helping him/her.

- Man is a social animal.
- Giving and receiving help is part of living in society.
- One memorable instance where I offered assistance to someone in need was when I helped a blind person cross the road.
- It happened about 2 months ago.
- As I was waiting at a busy intersection, I noticed a visually impaired gentleman standing on the corner.
- It looked as if he wanted to cross the road, but was not sure as there was too much traffic noise around him.
- I approached him and asked if he needed help crossing the road.
- The gentleman, Mr. Singh, was grateful for the assistance.
- He explained that he needed to reach the other side but the traffic noise was making it challenging for him.
- Taking his arm to guide him, I waited for a suitable gap in the traffic.
- Upon safely reaching the other side, Mr. Singh expressed his gratitude, thanking me for the assistance.
- He shared a bit about his daily challenges in getting around independently, highlighting the importance of simple acts of kindness from strangers.
- Helping Mr. Singh cross the road left me with a profound sense of fulfilment.
- I realised that the small acts of kindness can have a profound impact on someone's day, especially when faced with challenges.
- It made me reflect on the importance of empathy and the significance of extending a helping hand to those in need.
- I felt a deep satisfaction in knowing that I had made a tangible difference in someone's life, even if just for a brief moment.
- Lending a helping hand, no matter how small the gesture, can create a ripple effect of positivity in the world.

Or

- Man is a social animal.
- We all have to give and receive help from others many times.
- Here I am going to talk about a situation when I helped an accident victim.
- It so happened that I was going to Ludhiana last month to attend a wedding.
- On the way there is a petrol pump.
- We saw that a lady was lying on the side and there was a lot of blood from her head.
- This accident had just happened 2 minutes before.
- She and her husband were on a scooter and as they were coming out of the petrol pump a speeding car hit them and sped away.
- We parked our car on the side and came out to see if we could help.
- Her husband had minor injuries but she was in a bad shape.

- We immediately called 108 for help.
- It is the number of the free ambulance run by the government.
- Within fifteen minutes the ambulance was there.
- We did not move the lady because it could aggravate her injury.
- She was breathing properly but had a lot of pain.
- There was a first aid team headed by a doctor in the ambulance.
- The ambulance people picked her very carefully on a stretcher and immediately rushed her to Phillaur Civil Hospital.
- We took the number of other relatives of the patient from her husband and called them.
- Actually he was also very shocked because of his wife's condition.
- We took him to the Phillaur hospital in our car.
- Only after they were settled, we moved on.
- We were late for the wedding but we were happy that we could help some needy people.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you like helping others?

Yes, I like helping others. I feel very happy when I can be of any help to anyone. Whenever any person comes to me for help, I do my best to help that person

2. In your view should children be taught to help others?

Yes, children student should be taught to help others. They should be made to realize that if today they will help others, then tomorrow they will get help if they need help.

3. How can we encourage children to help others?

We can encourage children to help others by setting an example. If they see their elders helping others they will automatically learn to help others.

4. Do you think people are less willing to help others these days compared to the past?

Yes, I think so. Today's life is very fast. People have become workaholics. They have become self centered. They have no time to help others.

5. Do people trust others as much as they used to in the past?

No, I do not think so. My parents and grandparents tell me that life was simpler and slower in the past. People trusted each other. Today, it is very difficult to find people whom you can trust.

6. How do people in your community help one another?

People in my community help each other in whatever way they can. Some people help by giving money and some people help by giving their time.

12. Describe an occasion when someone or something made noise.

You should say:

- Who/what made the noise
 - What the noise was like
 - What you did
 - And explain how you felt about it.
- With so many vehicles on the roads noise has become very common in our lives and we have got so used to it that it has started seeming normal.
 - However, here I am going to talk about a time when my neighbours children made a lot of noise.
 - One day, my dog, Mithu, accidentally scared those children, and it led to quite a commotion.
 - It all happened when I was taking Mithu for a walk in our neighbourhood.
 - Max is a friendly and playful dog, but he gets excited when he sees children.
 - Manpreet and Manthan were playing in the street and Mithu could not stop himself and playfully ran towards them.
 - Manpreet got startled and let out a loud scream, expressing his fear.
 - It was a sharp, high-pitched sound that caught the attention of everyone nearby.
 - Max, sensing Manpreet's reaction, immediately stopped and started wagging his tail.
 - Seeing the situation, I rushed over, apologised to Manpreet and tried to calm him down.
 - I explained that Mithu was just being friendly and didn't mean to scare him.
 - Manpreet still a bit shaken, and expressed his fear of dogs.
 - To avoid any more noise and ensure Manpreet felt comfortable, I quickly led Mithu away from him and continued our walk in another direction.
 - I also apologized once more and reassured Manpreet that I would be more cautious in the future.
 - The incident left me feeling a mix of concern and responsibility.
 - I took it as an opportunity to educate Mithu and myself on how to approach people more cautiously during our walks.
 - In the end, the situation was resolved, and Manpreet appreciated the gesture of understanding.
 - I made a commitment to ensure Mithu's exuberance/playfulness didn't cause any more unexpected noise in the neighbourhood.

OR

- Noise pollution has become an inevitable part of our life.
- Whether we like it or not, we have to tolerate it. We can't escape it.
- Here, I'm going to talk about a situation when there was too much noise.
- A religious function, which we call jagrata or jagran, was held last Sunday in my neighborhood.
- In such functions people sing hymns and chants in praise of Gods and Goddesses the whole night long.
- The function started at 8 PM and went up to 5 AM.
- There is a law against using loudspeakers after 10 PM but people don't abide by the law in the name of religion.
- They do not realize that some people might be suffering from excessive noise.
- I was not able to sleep the whole night.

I closed all windows of my house to reduce that sound, but it did not make any difference.

- Then I put earplugs in my ears but that too did not work.
- There might have been many other people who suffered like I did that night.
- I am not against any religious event, but I'm definitely against using loud speakers after 10 PM.
- Such laws should be implemented more strictly, and I believe that the use of pressure horns also must be restricted.
- Noise pollution has a negative effect on our mental health as well as physical health.
- It can lead to hearing impairment, Fatigue, Heart problems, Insomnia, Anxiety, Depression and so on.
- It can also reduce the work efficiency.
- One of my uncles has come from Canada and he tells me that in Canada people are not using horns unnecessarily and still the traffic runs very smoothly.
- I hope we all realize the menace of noise pollution and do our bit to reduce it from our lives

13. Describe something in your country that you are interested in

You should say:

- What it is
- How you know about it
- Why you are interested in it
- And explain whether you would like to know more about it

- India has a rich culture and history.
- There are so many places and things in my country, I would like to know more about.
- One remarkable ceremony in my country, India, that has always captured my interest is "The Retreat" at Wagah Border in Atari.
- I first came to know about The Retreat at Wagah Border through my friends who had visited the region.
- Wagah Border of India is a boundary separating India from its neighbour Pakistan.
- And every evening, at sunset, a flag ceremony is held here, following which the gates are closed for the day.
- This Wagah Border Retreat ceremony is no less spellbinding than a theatrical play.
- Soldiers march in sync and bring down the national flag ritualistically.
- The marching of the soldiers creates a sense of national pride and unity among the spectators.
- Before the event, women and kids dance to patriotic songs, increasing the energy among the spectators.
- Thousands of people, including foreign nationals, line up at Wagah Border Attari to watch the show.
- It's a show of national pride, and also a source of entertainment for everyone.
- My interest in The Retreat is driven by its historical significance and the unique nature of the Beating Retreat ceremony.
- While I've seen glimpses of the Beating Retreat ceremony through the videos my friends captured, I am eager to witness it in person.
- Yes, I would absolutely love to know more about the history behind The Retreat, and its impact on fostering goodwill between India and Pakistan.

14. Describe something you do regularly that helps you work and study better.

You should say:

- What it is
- When you do it
- How it helps you
- And explain how you feel when you do it.

- One thing I do regularly to help me work and study better is taking short breaks to go for a walk.
- I usually do this in the afternoons.
- If the weather is good, I go out for the walk, else I walk within the building where I am at that time.
- Going for a walk helps me in many ways.
- First, it gives my brain a little rest.
- When I've been working on something for a while, my mind can get a bit tired.
- Walking helps to clear my thoughts and gives me a break from staring at a screen or books.
- Also, walking is good for my body.
- Sitting for a long time can make me feel a bit stiff, so a short walk helps me stretch my legs and move around.
- It makes me feel more awake and ready to focus on my work again.
- I usually feel a bit stressed or tired when I've been studying or working for a long time.
- But when I take a break to walk, I feel a lot better.
- The fresh air and movement help to refresh my mind, and I come back feeling more energized.
- During the walk, I often notice things around me, like trees, birds, or the sky.
- It's like a small pause from the busy world of studying.
- This makes me happy and helps me approach my work with a more positive mindset.
- In the end, taking these short walks has become a helpful routine for me.
- It not only makes my mind clearer and my body more active but also makes the whole process of studying and working more enjoyable.
- I feel more balanced and ready to take on the next task after a little walk break.

Or

- We all make efforts to work or study well.
- I am a student and I also do certain things so that I can study well.
- One such thing is that I always study on my study table and chair and never on my bed.
- I have seen that when I study on my bed, I fall asleep very soon and all my plans of studying till late night go unfulfilled.
- I can also concentrate better when I study on my study table.
- Secondly, I make it a point to switch off my cell phone when I have to study.
- Cell phone is very distracting and if open Whatsapp, then I start chatting with friends and waste precious time
- Another thing I do is that I shut the door of my room so that my siblings don't disturb me.
- Sometimes I play some music while studying.
- This kills the background noise
- I also make it a point that my bed is not cluttered and when I hit the bed, I can sleep soundly.

- I usually study at home, so I take all these steps at home.
- I study mostly in the evening for 3-4 hours every day.
- When I have to study seriously, such as near my exams, I take all these steps.
- By taking all these steps I can study better and also sleep better.

All jobs need patience. Without patience, things can go wrong and then even more patience is needed, as more time is wasted. So, one can do things better by doing things with patience, and it also saves time.

2. Do you think people need to be patient in their free time?

Yes, of course. The age old adage - Haste makes Waste - has a great meaning even today. Time is the most precious commodity. So, even free time should be managed well and with patience.

3. Do you think Indian parents should allow their children to do whatever they want to do in free time?

Parents should plan the free time of their children to some extent, especially when children are very small. Even after that parents should keep a watchful eye on them, even if they loosen the reins.

4. What is the routine of people in your country?

It is very difficult to generalise. India is a vast and diverse country. Routine depends on age group, gender and occupation. Mostly people go for work in the morning. They watch TV and spend time with friends and family in the evenings.

5. What are the routine activities that old people and young people in your country do? Old people go to parks and religious places. Young people go to gyms and hang out with friends.

6. What do you like to do in your spare time?

I like to do so many things in my free time. Sometimes I listen music, sometimes I watch TV and sometimes I play with my pet dog, Nora.

15. Describe a photo that you took and are proud of Or a photo that makes you smile

- When did you take this photo?
 - Where you took it?
 - What is the photo about?
 - Why you feel proud of the photo?
- I am not very interested in photography.
 - In fact, the photos I take normally don't come out that well.
 - However, recently, I visited Sikkim with my family and there I took a photograph of my mother and father sitting on a bench with the beautiful, picturesque mountains in the background.
 - The picture came out really well.
 - It was a not pre-planned photo, and I didn't use any special camera.
 - It was just my phone camera.
 - We had gone to a monastery in Sikkim, which is around 2 hours drive from Gangtok.
 - The view of the monastery with mountains in the background was just breathtaking.
 - I felt I had to capture it.
 - But I feel, a picture without any people is boring and my parents hadn't had a picture taken with just them in recent times.
 - I mean there are pictures of them, but it is with us or other family members.
 - The only pictures of my parents alone are their wedding photos, and they are very old.
 - So, I wanted to click a photograph that would capture their beautiful relationship.
 - I didn't know, how a photograph could do that, but the picture shows it.
 - It's very hard to describe it in words but whoever sees the photograph talks about the beautiful relationship between my father and mother afterwards.
 - So, the picture depicts it somehow.
 - I am so proud that I clicked the picture.
 - Recently, my parents got it photo framed and we have hung the photo on a wall in our living room.

Part 3 - Follow Up Questions

1. Why do some people like to use photographs to document important things?

I think photographs are one of the best ways to keep past memories alive. Whenever we look at photographs, we cannot help but remember the events and people that happened during that time. Also, photographs are one of the best ways to share our experiences with others. It is rightly said, a picture is worth a thousand words.

2. What can one learn from photographs taken throughout history?

The main thing people can learn from photos is the successes and failures of our ancestors. On the one hand, photographs are a living proof of human ingenuity and progress and on the other hand, they also show how and where we failed. For example, photos of rich forests in the past at places occupied by modern high-rise buildings show our architectural achievement but at the same time show how we sacrificed our environment to achieve the same.

3. Are photographs the best way to remember something?

I used to believe that too. However, I recently read an article on how smells are much more effective in making us remember. In fact, that is why storytellers of the past use incense sticks and spice bowls when telling stories.

4. Which is better, taking photos or keeping a diary?

Both have their own importance but people hardly keep a diary these days. Clicking photos is more convenient as it is instant and one can easily scroll through them, whereas maintain a diary requires much more effort.

16. Describe a useful object in your home that you can't live without.

You should say:

- What it is
 - How often you use it
 - How you use it
 - And explain why you can't live without it.
- There are many things which I have become so used to that I think would be difficult to live without, such as the cell phone, computer, microwave etc.
 - One thing in my home that I really can't live without is my electric kettle.
 - I use it almost every day.
 - The electric kettle is a simple thing.
 - It's like a pot, but it heats up water really quickly with electricity.
 - I use it to make hot water for tea, coffee, or instant noodles.
 - I also use it to make warm water for cleaning or sometimes for a quick hot water bottle when I feel a bit chilly.
 - I use my electric kettle in the morning for a cup of tea to start the day.
 - During the day, I make a few more cups of tea or coffee, especially when I'm studying or working.
 - It's so easy to use - just fill it with water, plug it in, and in a few minutes, you have hot water.
 - The reason I can't live without it is that it makes my daily routine easier.
 - I don't have to wait for water to boil on the stove, and I can make a quick cup of something hot whenever I want.
 - It's like a small helper in my kitchen.
 - Whenever I feel a bit tired or stressed, having a warm cup of tea made from my electric kettle makes everything feel better.
 - It's not just an object; it's a part of my daily comfort.
 - Without it, I think my day would be a bit less cozy and a bit more challenging.
 - In the end, my electric kettle is a simple thing, but it brings a lot of warmth and comfort to my daily life.
 - It's become an essential part of my home, and I can't imagine not having it around.
 - It's the little things like this that make my home feel complete and make each day a bit more pleasant.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1 Why are children attracted to new things (such as electronics)?

I think everyone is attracted to new things nowadays. Children are attracted more so because for them everything is new and they are curious about things work. Another reason is that children want to possess or own the latest technology to show off to their friends and classmates.

2 Why do some grown-ups hate to throw out old things (such as clothes)?

Adults have a personal connection or a story attached to old things. For example, a sweater made by their mother or gifted by an aunt. They feel like they are losing a part of themselves when they throw them out as it is a reminder of their childhood and hence, they are hesitant. In today's era of mass-produced goods, there is no connection to products.

3 Is the way people buy things affected? How?

Yes, people today buy things online. Moreover, like I said before we don't have an emotional connection with products as in the past. Earlier, we felt a loss when something broke down. Now, it's just an object, and breaking down is an opportunity to buy a newer version.

4 What do you think influences people to buy new things?

I think it's just that as things get old, people get bored, and to renew their excitement, they buy a new thing. It also the influence of ads, which keep on reminding us that we are missing out if we don't have the latest version of something.

17. Describe a film you watched or Describe a film that impressed you a lot.

- When and where you watched it?
 - What was the movie about?
 - Why you chose to watch it?
 - How you felt about it? and explain why it made you think a lot?
- I've seen many movies in my life.
 - Here, I would like to talk about a movie, which I watched recently and it had a lasting impression on me.
 - The movie is 'Pihu'.
 - It is based on a true story.
 - I watched this movie on Netflix.
 - I was just browsing through Netflix to watch something for about half an hour, when I came across this title.
 - I watched it alone.
 - I would like to share it with my friends, because I know they would also like it, just as I liked it.
 - I couldn't shut down my laptop and watched it to the end.
 - It's about a 2 year old girl, who is left alone with her mother, who has committed suicide.
 - She does so after a fight with her husband.
 - Pihu thinks that her mother is fast asleep and tries to wake her up many times.
 - This little girl doesn't even know what is safe for her.
 - I could not blink an eye during the whole movie.
 - This movie haunted my thoughts for days after that.
 - When I came to know that this movie is based on a true incident, then I felt very sorry and sad for the little girl who must have suffered all that.
 - The film explores issues faced by married couples.
 - It also highlights how important communication is between young couples.
 - It must have been a challenge to shoot the whole film with a 2-year-old child in the main role.
 - The film won the award for the Best Film in Morocco.
 - It was the opening film at the International Film Festival of India, which was held in Goa in 2017.
 - This film has also won many other awards.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kinds of films are popular in India?

Well, India is a diverse country. All genres of films are popular in India. People love action, drama, comedy, thriller, romance and many other movies.

2. Do different age groups like the same kinds of films?

No, I don't think so. People from different age groups usually have a different choice in terms of the kinds of films they like. For example, the older generation may prefer movies related to social and political issues and youngsters may prefer action and comedy movies. I think the preference for the type of movies people like, changes with age.

3. What kinds of films do young people particularly like?

Young people like to watch movies based on reality or real-life incidents. Superhero and science fiction movies are also quite popular among youngsters. Other popular genres enjoyed by the young generation are comedy, romance, horror, and action.

4. Do fewer people choose to watch movies in cinemas than people did in the past?

No, I don't think so. These days more people choose to watch movies in cinemas as compared to the past. People are leading a very busy and hectic life and going to cinemas to watch movies is a popular way that people choose for entertainment and for spending time with family and friends. Also, the ever-increasing multiplexes are evidence that people prefer going to cinemas despite the online streaming options like Netflix, Amazon Prime Video, etc.

5. What are other ways to watch movies now?

Some other ways to watch movies are on TV, through the online streaming websites and apps like Netflix, Hotstar, Amazon Prime Video, etc. and through DVDs, which, however, is becoming less popular.

6. What's the difference between American movies and movies from your country?

There are some differences between American and Indian movies. The content of the script is one of them. It is more closely related to the respective cultures of these countries. Language is one point of difference. Indian movies are made in Hindi, English, or several other languages, depending on the region they are made in. However, American films are mostly in English. Another point of difference is the technology available and used in films, especially for graphics, like in animation and for special effects. Indian films still need to catch up on that and have not reached the level of finesse in this area as American films have.

18. Describe an unusual holiday you had.

You should say:

- What holiday it was
- Who you were with
- What you did
- And explain why it was unusual.

- Usually, I spend my vacations at my grandparents' place in Mohali.
- Two years ago, my cousin Rajat from Canada also came during the summers.
- He is very adventurous and really wanted to have some fun during his visit to India.
- My uncle suggested a trekking holiday.
- Kasauli is a hill station very near Chandigarh.
- We had never before experienced such a holiday, so it was very unusual for us.
- We packed our things and drove to Kasauli.
- My uncle booked the Kasauli Club hotel for our stay.
- We started early in the morning, around 6 am, and reached the club in 3 hours.
- Then we put our water bottles and some snacks in our backpacks and started our first-ever trek.
- We also had some tea in a thermos flask.
- The air was fresh and chilly.
- There were tall trees and colorful flowers everywhere.
- Some trees were so old that they looked like giants.
- We took lots of pictures to remember our trek.
- We walked for about two hours and then sat down at a place and enjoyed our tea and snacks.
- After that, we walked back to our hotel.
- The hotel was also in a very nice place.
- At night, we dined on the terrace and saw millions of stars in the sky.
- It was magical.
- We told stories and played Antakshari at night.
- Antakshari is a game in which every person sings a song based on the last alphabet of the previous song.
- The next two days, we also trekked on different trails.
- Exploring nature in Kasauli was the best holiday ever.

19. Describe something that you picked up that was thrown by someone else.

- Where was it?
- When was it picked up?
- What did you do after you picked it up?
- How did you feel?

- I play with my friends in a park near my house every Saturday and Sunday.
- Last Sunday, it was a sunny day, and the park was full of people.
- We played on the swings and had a lot of fun.
- Suddenly, I noticed a boy throw a plastic bottle near the bench.
- I felt sad seeing the litter in such a nice place.
- I decided to do something about it.
- I walked over, picked up the bottle.
- I wanted to put it in the nearby dustbin.
- It wasn't a big thing, but I wanted to help keep the park clean.
- But I also wanted to tell that boy that he had done something wrong.
- He must be around 10-12 years old.
- As I went towards him, he saw me coming with the bottle in my hand.
- I told him that littering was wrong and that he should himself put the bottle in the bin.
- His mother was also sitting on a nearby bench and was seeing all this.
- He looked at his mother and then took the bottle from my hand and threw it in the dustbin.
- After he threw the bottle away, I smiled at the boy and he smiled back.
- It made me happy to know that I had made a small difference.
- My friends saw what I did, and they smiled at me.
- We continued playing and had a great time. I felt proud that I did the right thing.
- I remembered what my parents always say about keeping the environment clean and not littering.
- Later, I thought about how small actions, like picking up trash, can make a big impact.
- It's important to take care of our surroundings.
- I hope everyone does their part to keep our parks and streets clean.
- Even the little things we do can make a big difference.

20. Describe a person who is good at making people feel welcome in his/her home

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - How you knew him/her
 - How he/she makes you feel welcome
 - And explain how you feel about this person.
- One individual who excels at making everyone feel exceptionally welcome in their home is my aunt, Mohini.
 - I've known her for as long as I can remember, and she has always been the epitome of hospitality.
 - As soon as you enter her house, she greets you with a genuine smile and a heartfelt welcome.
 - She has a way of making everyone feel special and valued.
 - She ensures that guests feel comfortable and at ease.
 - She pays attention to even the smallest details, from offering refreshments the moment you arrive to providing cozy seating arrangements and making sure everyone has what they need.
 - What's truly remarkable about my aunt is her ability to engage with people effortlessly.
 - She's an excellent conversationalist, always interested in hearing about your experiences and sharing her own stories.
 - She makes everyone feel included in conversations, fostering a sense of belonging and camaraderie.
 - Personally, I feel incredibly fortunate to have such an amazing aunt who embodies the essence of hospitality.
 - Her warmth and kindness make every visit to her home a delightful experience.
 - She creates an environment that encourages laughter, bonding, and cherished memories.
 - Her genuine care and welcoming nature not only make her home inviting but also leave a lasting impression on everyone who has the pleasure of visiting.
 - I hold immense admiration and respect for her exceptional ability to make people feel at home.

21. Describe a skill that you learned in your childhood.

You should say:

- What the skill was
 - Who taught you this skill
 - How they taught you
 - And explain why you think it is important.
- As a teenager, I found joy in learning how to cook.
 - At first, I was curious about how my mother made delicious meals, so I started by observing her in the kitchen.
 - She taught me the basics of cooking like chopping vegetables, boiling rice, and making simple dishes.
 - I loved experimenting with different ingredients and flavors.
 - I would often help my mom while she was cooking and gradually learned to prepare meals on my own.
 - It was exciting to create something tasty from scratch.
 - My favorite dishes to make were pasta, fried rice, and homemade pizzas.
 - I followed recipes from cookbooks and online videos. I'd try new recipes every week and enjoyed the process of making something delicious.
 - I also liked baking cakes.
 - Baking allowed me to be creative and share the cakes with my family and friends.
 - Cooking wasn't just about making food; it was a way to bond with my family.
 - We would cook together on weekends, sharing stories and laughter while preparing meals.
 - Learning to cook taught me patience and responsibility.
 - I learned about food safety, how to handle kitchen tools, and the importance of cleanliness.
 - Whenever guests came over, I would cook for them.
 - Their compliments boosted my confidence and encouraged me to keep improving my cooking skills.
 - Cooking became a skill I treasured as a teenager.
 - It was more than just a hobby; it was a way for me to express myself and bring joy to others through delicious meals.

22. Describe an exciting activity that you experienced with someone else

You should say:

- What the activity was
- Who you were with
- When and where it happened
- Why you went for it
- And explain how you felt about it

- In recent years, adventure sports have gained a lot of popularity and many youngsters are doing them for the thrill and excitement they offer.
- Even I couldn't avoid their allure and recently went to Rishikesh to do bungee jumping with my best friend Suresh.
- Actually this year, one of our mutual friends went there with his family.
- He did bungee jumping and the way he talked about it, we also got motivated to try it.
- In fact, he talked about it non-stop for a whole month.
- Ultimately, we decided, we had to do it just to shut him up.
- Suresh also has a slight fear of heights, so we also thought that it would help him overcome his fear as well.
- So during this year's summer vacations, Suresh and I went to Rishikesh to try it.
- There are many other places which offer bungee jumping in India, but Rishikesh is the closest and cheapest option.
- Coming to my feeling, I think they kept on changing with time.
- At first I was pretty excited.
- As the actual date came near, my excitement got mixed with slight nervousness.
- I was still excited but I was also slightly afraid.
- Just before jumping, I also contemplated about just cancelling and coming back.
- But then I saw Suresh doing it and I thought, if he could do it despite his fear of heights, why couldn't I.
- Thinking that, I just went ahead. Still afraid, but somehow I controlled my fear.
- However, as soon as I jumped my fear vanished and it was all exhilaration.
- I felt like I had just done something impossible.
- The only disappointment was that it lasted for much shorter duration than I had envisioned.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kinds of activities do young people like to do?

Young people like to take part in a variety of adventure sports like bungee jumping, river rafting, paragliding and so on. Besides that, they also like to play conventional sports like football, volleyball, cricket etc.

2. Why do some young people like adventurous activities?

The main reason is of course the thrill that these games entail. The risk involved makes these much more exciting. These sports give a different kind of rush that is impossible to achieve in other sports. Moreover, these sports also help push our mental and physical boundaries and overcome our deepest fears.

3. Do you think old people accept changes?

Most elderly don't like change because I think it becomes difficult to adapt to changes as people grow older. In their youth, people have a sharp memory and flexibility which allows them to quickly learn new things and technologies. However, it becomes much harder to do so in the later stages of life.

4. How do exciting activities relieve people's stress?

I think these activities make people forget about their worries and thoughts and bring them back to the present. And ultimately when they put their lives at risk, they feel that their other worries and stresses are much more insignificant in comparison.

5. Can you give some (other) examples of adventurous or risky activities?

There are many adventurous activities that people like skiing, mountain climbing, dirt biking, sorbing and so on. In a way, any activities which put our life at risk are adventurous in my opinion.

6. What skills do people need to take part in adventurous activities?

I think there are only two skills required to take part in adventurous activities, a strong willpower and physical fitness. Physical fitness is a given, but a part of these games is also overcoming our fears and that is only possible through mental fortitude.

23. Describe a successful person who you once studied or worked with

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - When you studied/worked with this person
 - What you did together
 - What this person did to become successful
 - And explain how you felt about studying or working with this person
- I am going to describe a friend of mine called Ramesh. Ramesh is a software engineer by profession.
 - He is in his mid 20's, I think.
 - He is tall, he is about my height, with dark hair and a friendly face.
 - He is always smiling and he cheers me up whenever I see him.
 - I first met Ramesh in college, he was my roommate in the hostel in my first year in college.
 - So on the first day when we were moving into the hostel, Ramesh introduced himself to me and we struck up a conversation and got to know each other and then we became good friends.
 - Ramesh as I said is a software engineer and he is really good at that.
 - We studied computer science at university where I met him and since then he has been working in software industry.
 - During college days he helped me a lot in understanding the complex computer languages and algorithms.
 - He is very good at programming and together we worked on an app for queue management at hospitals.
 - Also, because of his programming skills Ramesh was able to secure a job in Google and got a record salary package.
 - When I studied with Ramesh I was always amazed by the hours he would put into studies and this is something that pushed me as well to study hard.
 - He was like a role model to me at that time and because of him I could also secure a good job in a reputed company.
 - I believe his success comes from his work ethic, he is really hard working, he is really persistent.
 - He lives in a different city now but we often catch up with each other on social media and discuss about our good old college days.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is money the only measure of success in your country?

No, in my country wealth is not seen as the only criteria to establish success. Although, it is one of the factors and an important one, but not the only one. There are many successful people in my country who do not have a lot of money but are still considered successful because they have achieved tremendous feats in their life or professions.

2. How do you define whether one is a successful person?

First of all, I think the definition of success is subjective and varies from person to person. But still a broader definition of success would be about achieving personal goals and finding fulfilment in one's pursuits.

3. What is the standard of success in your country?

The standard of success in India, like many other countries, is highly diverse and influenced by individual and societal expectations. In my country a person who has achieved good educational qualifications, financial stability and has good family ties is generally considered successful.

4. Is there a contradiction between success and happiness?

I think it depends. Success can contribute to happiness when it aligns with one's personal values and goals, but it may lead to unhappiness if pursued at the expense of one's well-being and contentment. Balancing both is key to a fulfilling life. For example a wealthy person with ill health will not be happy.

5. Is it easy to succeed in the national tests in your country?

Honestly speaking, in my country it is very difficult to clear national tests or competitive exams. Because of the humongous population there is immense competition in such examinations. To give you an example, almost 9 lac students give civil services exam every year and out of them only 1000 make the final cut.

6. What are the factors that influence students grades at school?

I would say there are myriad factors that play a role in students grades. Although, primarily it depends on the efforts/hard work put by students, the guidance from teachers and the support from parents is also very important. Apart from this nowadays

24. Describe a park or a garden in your city

You should say:

- When you often go there
 - Where it is
 - Who you often go there with
 - What it is like
 - And explain why you like to visit it
- In today's time parks and gardens are the lungs of cities and towns that have become jungles of concrete.
 - It is a delight to find a green space in the urban areas of today.
 - I live in Chandigarh that has a very well-developed infrastructure and many parks and gardens.
 - In fact it is called 'The City Beautiful', because of its layout and the greenery in it.
 - It was designed in the 1950s by a French architect who understood the value of green spaces in modern living.
 - He provided the city with many parks where the residents can go and relax
 - The part of the city that I live in has three beautiful parks and I love all three of them. But my favourite is a garden by the name of a 'Hibiscus Garden.'
 - It has been landscaped very beautifully with slopes going up and down. A little stream running through the park. A few bridges and different varieties of the hibiscus plants.
 - Besides hibiscus plants, there are many beautiful huge trees that I love to go and sit under and admire nature from.
 - I have often seen people coming to this park on a holiday to have picnics with their children.
 - Young children, love to roll on the gently sloping hillocks, and there are youngsters who love to cycle on the sloping pathways of the park.
 - Whenever I get the time I visit this beautiful place and I usually go alone as I love to soak in its beauty and the peace I get by being there.
 - I am a very passionate photographer and this park has often provided me with some beautiful clicks.
 - For me, this park is my little piece of heaven on earth and being there is meditative for my soul.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do young people like to go to parks?

Not many youngsters like to go to the parks. One generally sees more children and older adults there.

2. What do old people like to do in parks?

Old people generally stroll in the parks. One notices they are like a community gathering place for older people who like to sit and chat with their friends in the parks. Some of them even feed the birds.

3. What benefits can parks bring to a city?

Parks bring life to a place. They are islands of beauty and peace. The greenery improves the quality of air in the city. They act as happy spots where people can come for sometime to relax, exercise or just sit and chat with their friends. Little children can enjoy playing games or use the rides to get rid of excess energy. Older children can cycle and exercise. On the whole parks and gardens bring peace and joy to the area they are in.

4. What are the benefits of going to the park for young people and old people?

Young and old people can relax in the open and enjoy their friend's company in the park. Older people generally walk in the park. Whereas youngsters can have picnics, exercise, play, run, cycle out there.

5. Why do some people like planting flowers?

Some people love the happiness and calming effect that flowers bring to the environment, thus they plant flowers.

6. Would you say people should help maintain public parks and gardens?

Definitely it's people's responsibility to follow the rules of public responsibility and help maintain the parks and gardens for the govt to do so alone is not possible or right.

25. Describe a beautiful city

You should say:

- Where the city is
 - How you knew the city
 - What buildings the city has
 - What it is famous for
 - And explain why you think this city is beautiful
- India is a diverse country.
 - There are many beautiful cities in India.
 - Some are beautiful because of their historical buildings, whereas others are beautiful because of their modern architecture. Some cities are beautiful because they are in the mountains and valleys, where as some are beautiful, because of the warmth of the people.
 - Here, I would like to talk about Chandigarh, which is also known as 'The City Beautiful'
 - It was designed by the French architect Le Corbusier.
 - It is the first planned city of India after her Independence.
 - Chandigarh is the cleanest and the happiest city of India according to two different surveys held in 2010 and 2015.
 - It is also the first smoke-free city in the country.
 - It is a union territory and is also the capital of two states - Punjab and Haryana.
 - The Rock Garden in Chandigarh is a masterpiece out of waste material.
 - Sukhna lake, is the biggest man-made lake. It is a beautiful place for the people to enjoy with their families.
 - The sector 17 market is a shopper's paradise.
 - The Rose Garden is Asia's largest garden. And has innumerable variety of rose plants.
 - The city has 47 sectors.
 - Each sector has residential and commercial zones
 - The roads are designed and oriented in such a way that most time of the day, they are under shade.
 - There are huge parking areas in the commercial zones so that the parking of vehicles doesn't create a havoc on the main roads.
 - The Parking lanes are as broad as the main roads.
 - So, you see, while the city was planned in 1952, it is still the most well planned and beautiful city of India.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the differences between modern towns and modern cities?

Modern towns and modern cities are not much different. All facilities are now available at both places. However, there are 2 major differences. First difference is that cities have more density of population. Secondly, life is a bit slower in modern towns than in cities.

2. How can people preserve historical buildings?

There is so much people can do in this respect. I believe that the role of people is to visit them more often with friends and family, so that the government can have funds to maintain these buildings.

Secondly, people should refrain from littering these places and writing on the walls. And finally, they should not indulge in vandalism.

3. Why do some people like to visit historical places?

People go to historical cities to learn/gain knowledge about the past, the way of life of the people in the past, their culture, their roots, and the architecture.

4. Why do people go to modern cities?

People visit modern cities for various purposes. Some go for work/business reasons, and some for tourism. Those who travel for pleasure to modern cities do so to experience a life, where modern technology is incorporated in every aspect of life and to learn and see how people there are using technology in their daily lives. Singapore is a very good example of such a city, where we can not only experience the modern way of life, but also see how they have used modernization to help preserve and enrich the environment.

5. What are the problems caused in maintaining historical cities?

The problems that maintenance of historical cities can cause are related to the funds required for the restoration and upkeep of the city. Another issue could be the pressure on the resources of that city because of tourism. Besides these buildings May ale up too much space which may otherwise be used for other purposes.

6. Do you think having too many tourists is a positive thing for historical attractions?

No, I don't think so. I believe that too many tourists will lead to pollution and also will affect the upkeep of the historical sites. Such sites need a lot of care and maintenance and limiting the number of visitors to such sites can help maintain them, prevent damage to such sites, and also sustain tourism.

7 What can we do to stop visitors from damaging historical places?

To prevent the damage to historical places by the visitors many measures can be taken. There should be strict punishments, like high fines for the people who try to cause harm. There should be security personnel employed to ensure that no one tries to damage the historical places and along with that there should be security cameras installed to monitor the activities of the tourists. There can be tourist guides appointed, who also can ensure that no one causes any damage.

8 Do you think too many tourists is a positive thing for historical attractions?

In my opinion having too many tourists has both advantages and disadvantages. It ensures that our history and culture is passed to the future generation

It brings revenue and business for the people of the city where the historical attraction is.

Disadvantage: Too many tourists can cause damage to the historical attractions.

26. Describe a difficult task that you completed at work/study that you felt proud of

You should say:

- What the task was
 - How you completed it
 - Why the task was difficult
 - Why you were proud of the completion of the task
- I think life would be pointless and boring without difficult tasks.
 - Achieving difficult tasks gives us a feeling of fulfilment, which is one of the best feelings in the world.
 - Today, I would like to talk about one such task, which I never believed I could do.
 - It was winning a public speaking competition.
 - It was difficult because I had a huge fear of public speaking in my childhood.
 - I came to know about my fear when my teacher asked me to read the news in front of the class in 4th standard.
 - I choked on the stage and I couldn't speak for more than 10 seconds.
 - Many of my classmates laughed at me and this increased my fear even further.
 - I avoided speaking in front of my class for a long time.
 - Whenever, it was my turn to read the news in front of the class, I used to pretend to be sick and take a leave from school.
 - However, I knew I had to get over this fear because public speaking is a really necessary skill.
 - It was my mother who pushed me and made me get over the fear.
 - She made me enroll in a speech competition in 8th standard.
 - Firstly, she made me practice in front of her.
 - I was able to speak in front of her without any problems.
 - Then, she invited some of her friends and she made me speak in front of them.
 - At first, I hesitated but gradually I became comfortable.
 - My mother's friends were really encouraging and they motivated me whenever I hesitated.
 - I used to practice everyday for 1 hour in the evening.
 - This practice made me more and more confident.
 - I don't know why but on the day of the competition I was really confident.
 - I spoke like I used to in front of my mother's friends.
 - I felt like nothing was different.
 - I was really happy that I didn't hesitate and spoke fluently without any issue.
 - The icing on the cake was that, finally, when the results were announced, I had stood first.
 - It was surreal moment.
 - It made me really proud of myself and it instilled the belief in me that everything is possible if I worked hard.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the things that make people feel proud?

I think it depends upon their age. In our childhood or youth, completing difficult or challenging tasks definitely makes us proud. For example, achieving a top rank in a competition, securing admission in a good top ranked university or winning a sports match. However, as people grow older, it is more about their children's achievements and they feel proud when their children achieve things in life.

2. Do people often feel proud of themselves when they complete a difficult task?

Of course, yes. I think human beings thrive on a sense of achievement. We feel proud when we complete difficult tasks because we know that many others wouldn't have been able to do them. Also, completing difficult tasks means that our efforts did not go waste and seeing our efforts bear fruits is one of the happiest feelings in the world.

3. What challenges do young people face today?

Young people face many challenges today but the biggest is certainly competition. Today, working hard is not enough and many fail despite working hard because of the increasing competition. The second challenge is inflation and high prices, which means affording things is challenging. Finally, today the youth have more responsibilities. Due to increased life expectancy, they not only have to take care of their children, but also their parents and grandparents. This means they have little time for relaxation or hobbies.

4. How do young people handle difficult or challenging tasks?

I think the internet has made life a lot easier in this regard. There is ample information available on websites like Google and Youtube on how to deal with problems. Moreover, young people also take advice from their parents and grandparents, while dealing with problems.

5. What kinds of rewards do people receive from work?

It depends upon the company. Firstly, in some companies there are performance-based bonuses and incentives, which people get if they achieve the set target. Secondly, people get motivation in the form of employer appreciation or awards like employee of the month, which are hung on the wall for all to see.

6. What are the most difficult jobs that people do?

There are many difficult jobs but I think the most difficult job is working in the armed forces, the army, the navy or the airforce because they have the greatest risk to life. Another job that I think is difficult is that of being a doctor or nurse as even small mistake can cost the life of others.

27. Describe a time that something changed your life in good ways

You should say:

- When and where it happened
 - What happened
 - How you felt about it
 - And explain how it changed your life in good ways
- Change is the law of nature.
 - Knowingly or unknowingly many things bring a change in our life.
 - Here I would like to talk about a time when my life changed for the better.
 - It was about two years ago.
 - My cousin Jasleen visited us from Canada.
 - She had gone to Canada for her higher education.
 - The Jasleen I knew was a size XXL.
 - But the Jasleen in front of me after 2 years was a size XS
 - She was unrecognizable.
 - She was also a lot more confident and smarter.
 - She was with us for 2 days only, but those 2 days with her changed me a lot.
 - Even I was on the borderline obese side, but nothing had worked for me till that time for losing weight.
 - I asked Jasleen about her journey from extra big to extra small.
 - She told me that it had not been easy for her, but she had made up her mind to lose weight gradually and in a sustainable way.
 - She made it a point to walk to her college, which was just a mile.
 - All her friends took the bus, but she walked.
 - Surprisingly they reached the college in almost the same time. They had to wait 5-10 minutes for the bus, but she reached the college in 14 minutes with her brisk walk.
 - In the evening she would again go to the library of the college.
 - So these 4 miles every day helped her.
 - Another thing she did was add a lot of fruit to her diet.
 - She stopped sugar altogether.
 - Just these 2 things and in two years she was a new person.
 - Since then I have started walking whenever and wherever possible.
 - My teas are without sugar and when I am hungry between meals, I go for fruit.
 - It has not only improved my looks, but I also feel healthier and more confident.
 - All my clothes look good on me and I don't feel conscious of my body any more.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is your country changing rapidly?

Yes, my country is changing rapidly. India is a developing country and is changing day-by-day for the better. With the advancement of technology it is stepping fast from a developing to a developed country. Change has always been happening, but technology has hastened the process of change.

2. What can smart phones do these days?

Smartphones are smart phones. They are mini computers that fit in our pockets. They do everything, which was earlier possible only on computers. They have risen above the basic purpose of phones that is communication. They provide information, entertainment, as well as connectivity.

3. Since most people do work on their computers, why do they still need to go to the office?

They still need to go to the office because there are still many jobs, which require face-to-face interaction. Furthermore, doing all the work from home through a computer can be very boring, as the office atmosphere is missing. Internet connectivity is still a problem in many places.

4. Do you think people's work in the future will be heavily affected by technology?

Yes, people's work will be heavily affected by technology. Those who will use technology can develop a wider network of customers or clients and will consequently do better at work.

5. Compare the pace of technological progress in the past and in the present?

Technological progress was much slower in the past as compared to the present. For example, when there was any new invention in the past, it took time to reach the people, but today the information of any new thing in the market can be made to reach the people instantaneously, because of the Internet.

IELTS Speaking Tip:

When responding to questions in the IELTS speaking test, be sure to provide detailed and well-structured answers. Use the "PEEL" method to structure your responses:

Point: Begin your response by directly addressing the question or topic. Make a clear and concise statement to introduce your answer.

Explanation: Provide details, explanations, or examples to support your point. This is where you elaborate on your answer and provide specific information.

Example: Offer concrete examples or personal experiences to illustrate your explanation. Real-life examples make your response more relatable and convincing.

Link: Conclude your response by linking back to the question or summarizing your main point. This helps your answer feel cohesive and complete.

28. Describe an interesting person that you have not met in person and would like to know more about

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - How you knew him/her
 - What interesting things he/she has done
 - And explain what you would like to know more about him/her
- There are many people I have not met in person, but inspire me and I would like to know more about.
 - Today, I would like to talk about the Prime Minister of Canada, Justin Trudeau.
 - I've read about him online and also get to know about his work through the news.
 - I think he is a charismatic, very good leader, and an excellent speaker.
 - He was born in Ottawa, Canada.
 - Justin Trudeau earned a bachelors degree in literature and then earned a Bachelor of Education degree.
 - He taught French, humanities, and math at a secondary school.
 - He also worked at a radio station and then was a part of the television mini-series, The Great War.
 - He won the 2015 and 2019 elections and is right now serving his second term as the PM.
 - I became interested in learning more about him when he visited India in 2018.
 - During the trip, he and his family wore Indian attire while visiting different parts of India.
 - When they visited the Golden Temple, they also served in the community kitchen.
 - I was really impressed by their efforts to learn more about our country and our culture.
 - He has always been in favor of environment-related policies and has committed to reduce Canada's gas emissions by 30% by 2030.
 - He has also banned the use of single-use plastics and has also passed legislation for marine conservation.
 - During the COVID-19 pandemic, his government's response was proactive and has been appreciated by other countries.
 - I feel he is a good leader and the world needs more such young leaders.
 - He is an inspiration and an example for young leaders worldwide.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Are there any differences in the relationship between you and your friends and between you and other people?

Of course, I am much more honest and direct with my friends. I know my friends well and I know their limits and what is tolerable to them. On the other hand, with strangers I am always afraid of saying or doing something that might hurt their feelings. So, I am much more reserved and sometimes I hide my true feelings in front of others.

2. Do people feel lonely in crowded cities?

Yes surprisingly although we are geographically surrounded by people in cities, emotionally we are much farther apart. Because of the busy lifestyle, people don't find time to interact and form close bonds with their neighbours and friends. Thus, more and more people are facing problems of depression and loneliness in cities.

3. Where and how can people get to know new people?

I think one of the best places to meet new people is celebrations like weddings, anniversaries and birthday parties. People can also meet strangers while travelling or visiting new places. I think getting to know people is all about spending time with them. For example, while travelling I used to play games with the fellow travellers and this way I learnt a lot about them.

4. Can clothing tell and reveal a person's personality?

Yes, I think appearance and clothing preferences can give a pretty good idea of a person's personality. For example, a person who wears informal clothes like T-shirts and Jeans is much more likely to be carefree and casual. Similarly, people who usually dress formally in public, are more disciplined.

5. Why do individuals from the same family have different personalities?

I think personality is influenced not only by upbringing but many other external factors like media, teachers and friends. Also, gender influences behaviour as most families treat boys and girls differently.

6. How does society influence a person's personality?

We are social animals. It is our basic tendency to conform to the standards set by the society. If people don't adhere to the morals and ethics laid out by the society, they are afraid of being left out and being a social outcast. So, in a way, people try to match their behaviour with what's considered normal and fit into the world around them.

29. Describe a foreigner who speaks your native language (hindi) very well

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - Where he/she is from
 - How he/she learns Hindi
 - And explain why he can speak Hindi well
- I don't know many foreigners as I live in a small village and I have never visited another country.
 - However, recently I came to know about a foreigner on the internet.
 - Nowadays, many people post their travel videos on Youtube.
 - I also love travelling, so I watch these channels sometimes.
 - One of these channels is of a foreigner, Chris Steven.
 - His channel grabbed my attention, as he converses in fluent Hindi.
 - He is an American and was born and brought up in America.
 - However, the way he speaks Hindi, it seems like he was raised in India.
 - He visits India often, because he is very interested in Indian culture.
 - As I watched his channel more and more, I came to know how he developed an interest in Indian culture and Hindi.
 - One of his neighbours during his childhood years was Indian and he introduced Chris to Bollywood movies.
 - That's how it all started for him.
 - Initially, his neighbour used to translate and help him understand the movies.
 - However, slowly he started watching these movies on his own.
 - He picked up a little bit of Hindi by watching these movies
 - His love for Bollywood also made him more curious about Indian culture.
 - Eventually, he learnt Hindi, by taking it as an optional course during College.
 - And his visits to India, polished his Hindi even more.
 - I know many of us Indians love to learn about Western culture.
 - So, its always nice to see a foreigner wanting to learn about Indian culture for a change.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What foreign languages do Indian children learn?

Indian children have many options nowadays. The most common is certainly English. Besides English, children also learn foreign languages like German, French, Urdu and Spanish.

2. Why do Indian children learn English?

There are many reasons. Firstly, it provides more opportunities than any other language in terms of foreign education and job opportunities. Also, it is easier to find English teachers as compared to teachers for German, French or Spanish. Finally and most importantly, it is the main medium of teaching in colleges and universities so it is a compulsion to learn English.

3. Why are so many people learning English?

For most people, I think it is about job opportunities. Today, there are many multinational companies in India and learning English is a must to get jobs in these companies.

4. How can you help children learn English?

I don't know. I don't think my English is good enough to help others. As you can see, I still make some mistakes. However, I can recommend some books like Wren & Martin and Youtube Channels, which can help one to become better in English.

5. Do you think the way people learn English today is the same as in the past?

I think some of the ways are the same. I learnt English as a child in my school and many children still learn it at school. However, today there are also more opportunities. For example, there are YouTube Channels which were not available in the past. Moreover, today, there are many streaming sites, which offer an opportunity to learn English while enjoying TV shows and movies.

6. What are the benefits of the Internet for people's learning?

I think it provides more opportunities for learning. Earlier, people were dependent upon teachers for learning. Now, they can learn on their own as well. Moreover, a lot of content on the internet is free. So, internet has made language learning a lot more affordable.

30. Describe a person who always has interesting ideas or opinions

You should say:

- Who this person is
- What this person does
- How you knew him/her
- And explain why you think his/her ideas or opinions are interesting

- We meet many people in our day to day life.
- Everyone has ideas and opinions of their own.
- Here, I'd like to talk about my cousin, Aisha, who always has interesting ideas and opinions.
- She is not just my cousin; she is also a friend philosopher and guide.
- We meet quite often as we are neighbours also.
- Aisha is a marketing professional in a renowned advertising agency.
- She has won the employee-of-the-month award in her company many times because of her unique ideas.
- What makes Aisha stand out is her ability to think outside the box.
- Whenever I have an assignment to complete, I seek her advice and she always has something new to suggest.
- I am amazed at her vast knowledge of almost anything.
- Whenever, there is something to throwaway, she starts thinking of making something useful out of it.
- She has decorated her home with 3-D origami projects made out of waste paper.
- Every time I meet her, she has something new to teach me.
- She has made planters of old coke and pepsi bottles, which look so amazing that many people in our neighbourhood have started doing the same.
- She has made many tote bags out of her old clothes and gifted them to friends and relatives.
- Everyone in our family admires her for her creativity.
- She is a role model for me.

Alternative idea

- I know many people who have a lot of interesting ideas and opinions, but here I would like to talk about my paternal grandfather, who is the most knowledgeable person in my eyes.
- His name is Manmohan Singh.
- He is in his early seventies, and retired from Punjab education services.
- He is not very tall, but looks very handsome.
- He generally wears white kurta pajama, but on formal occasions he wears pant shirt.
- He has a great sense of humour and can turn any tense situation into a happy one.
- No one can ever get bored in his company.
- One can have a discussion with him for hours on any topic on Earth.
- He is an ardent reader and reads 4 newspapers daily.
- He reads the editorial section in depth.
- He says that reading the editorials makes him look at things from different perspectives and then he can make opinions of his own.

- You can talk to him about politics, sports, business, Bollywood and many other things and you will be surprised at his knowledge.
- Although he is retired, he leads a very disciplined life.
- He gets ready in the morning and goes to a nearby park where many senior citizens like him come and chat with each other.
- I think very high of my grandfather.
- I am very proud of him.
- Many of my relatives and neighbours come to him for advice.
- He loves company and is very happy when he is surrounded with people.
- He loves meeting new people and making friends.
- So, my grandfather is the most knowledgeable person and has many interesting ideas and opinions.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. When do you think children start to have their own opinions?

Children typically start to have their own opinions as they grow and gain more exposure to the world around them. This usually begins during their early teenage years when they become more independent and curious about different aspects of life.

2. Are children's opinions influenced by their parents?

Children's opinions are undoubtedly influenced by their parents to some extent. Parents play a significant role in shaping their children's values, beliefs, and perspectives. However, as children grow older, they start to form their own opinions influenced by their experiences and interactions beyond the family.

3. Who are smart children likely to be influenced by?

Smart children are likely to be influenced by a variety of individuals. Besides their parents, they may be influenced by teachers, peers, mentors, or even public figures. The extent of influence can vary depending on the child's interests and experiences.

4. How do inventors or philosophers come up with new ideas?

Inventors and philosophers come up with new ideas through a combination of factors. These may include their natural curiosity, extensive knowledge of their field, critical thinking, and the ability to make connections between seemingly unrelated concepts. Creativity often plays a crucial role in this process.

5. Are there only old ideas from books or previous writers?

While inventors and philosophers may draw inspiration from previous ideas, they also generate new and original concepts. They build upon existing knowledge but often take it in entirely different directions, leading to innovations that go beyond what has been documented in books or by previous writers.

6. What kind of people have lots of great ideas in your country?

In my country, people who work in the fields of technology and entrepreneurship often have many great ideas. With the growing startup culture, individuals in these sectors are encouraged to think innovatively and come up with solutions to various problems. Additionally, artists, writers, and educators are also known for their creativity and the generation of new ideas.

7. When do children begin to have their own ideas?

It is an interesting question. I think children begin to have their own ideas at a very young age. Even very small children talk and amaze us as to where they got those ideas from.

8. Why are there more and more differences between children and their parents?

There are more and more differences between children and their parents because their thinking is different. This is precisely what we call as the generation gap. Parents have their own ideas of right and wrong, but children question everything and want to know why there are some things they shouldn't do. Children don't have the experience which comes with age, but they don't want to accept everything their parents say because they can't see the negative side of it. Parents sometimes lack the patience to explain things nicely and in a friendly way to their children. So, there is a conflict between parents and children.

9. What are the advantages and disadvantages of setting rules for children?

The advantages are that children become well behaved, responsible and productive adults. They also don't land into any trouble. For example, if parents set the rule that children should watch TV or play computer games for limited time, then they don't get addicted to these things and have time for their homework and outdoor games. My father doesn't allow us to be out of the house after 7 pm. We follow that rule because we realize that it is for our safety.

10. Is there someone with good ideas that has changed many people's lives?

Yes, there are many people with good ideas that have changed many people's lives. For example, all great scientists who have invented things have changed the lives of people. The inventors of cell phones have changed people's lives. The inventors of the automobile have changed people's lives. In our village, there was a problem of too much underground water because of which there was a seepage of water in the houses. One of my neighbours planted about 150 eucalyptus trees around those houses. Eucalyptus is known to suck out underground water. Now, the trees are fully grown; they look beautiful and there is no problem of seepage of water in the houses. So, that one person's idea has changed the life of many people.

31. Describe a successful businessperson you know

(e.g. running a family business)

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - How you knew him/her
 - What business he/she does
 - And explain why he/she is successful
- There are many successful businessmen in my country, such as Anil Ambani, MukeshAmbani, Rattan Tata, Gautam Adani and so on
 - But here I would like to talk about MukeshAmbani.
 - He is in his late fifties and looks very handsome.
 - He has a degree in Chemical Engineering
 - He joined his father in Reliance Industries in 1981, at the age of 24.
 - He has a great vision and ever since he joined his company, he took it to new heights.
 - He set up India's first private oil refinery at Jamnagar Gujarat.
 - This refinery can produce 33 million tonnes of oil per year.
 - He made it possible for India to compete at the global level.
 - He also owns the domestic cricket club of IPL known as the Mumbai Indians
 - In 2012, he was ranked the richest man in India and the second richest in Asia.
 - He is the 19th richest man in the world
 - He has a net worth of 21 billion dollars.
 - He lives in Mumbai.
 - His house has 27 storeys and is worth 1 billion dollars.
 - He lives there with his wife, Nita Ambani, three children and a staff of 600 people.
 - He believes that businesses should constantly innovate otherwise they will stagnate and wither away.
 - He believes that the main purpose of businesses is to create jobs and wealth.
 - And, he has successfully done so by his various industries.
 - His achievements have made him known not only in India but across the globe.
 - In 2013, he was conferred 'Entrepreneur of the Decade' by All India Management Association.
 - So, I think MukeshAmbani is a very successful businessman of India mainly because of the way he managed his assets in the petroleum industry.

Alternate option

- I belong to Phagwara and it is the hub of small scale industry. Many people are running small scale businesses in my hometown.
- My friend Param's father runs an industry by the name of Jagat Industries.
- His name is Darshan Singh Sandhu.
- I can say that he is a successful businessman because I have seen his business grow to great heights in the past few years.
- This business was started by Param's grandfather with a handful of workers about 50 years ago but now they have 300 people working for them round the clock and they manufacture and supply auto spare parts to various countries like Germany, France, US and Canada.
- They have a very good rapport with their workers and whenever they fulfil big orders, they give bonuses to them.

- They also take them with their family on a week's tour to any place in India.
- Last year they took them all to Agra.
- Param tells me that his mother looks after the needs of the workers' families from time to time.
- They make them feel part of their family and that is why they have never faced shortage of labour.
- Param tells me that if any worker is absent or not well, his father takes his place and does not let the work suffer.
- They also give a lot of emphasis on quality and that is why their products are in great demand in Germany and France.
- Although Param's family is very rich, they are very humble and magnanimous.
- His father keeps donating for charity on special occasions.
- So, this is the successful family business that I know of.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What factors lead to success?

Factors that lead to success include hard work, determination, and having a clear goal. When you work hard and stay focused on what you want to achieve, you have a better chance of being successful.

2. What do people need to sacrifice for success?

To achieve success, people often need to sacrifice their free time and sometimes even comfort. This means dedicating more time to work or studies and giving up some leisure activities.

3. Which is more likely to be successful, family businesses or large corporations?

It's hard to say for sure, but both family businesses and large corporations can be successful. It depends on how well they manage their resources and serve their customers.

4. Is it easy for a business to be successful without affecting the environment?

It's not easy for a business to be successful without affecting the environment. Many businesses produce waste and use resources that can harm the environment. To be successful and eco- friendly, businesses need to find ways to reduce their impact on nature.

5. Can you provide some examples of family businesses in your country?

In my country, there are many family businesses, such as small shops, restaurants, and big industries as well. These businesses are often passed down through generations and are an essential part of our communities. To cite an example, Ambani's are one of the biggest business families in India, they have their businesses in almost every sector from retail, oil, telecom to even defense manufacturing.

6. What qualities should be considered when recruiting employees?

When recruiting employees, qualities like skills, honesty, and a good work ethic are important. It's also important to find people who fit well with the company culture and share its values.

7. What kinds of businesses are popular in your country

Well, like everyone says that India is a diverse country so lots of businesses are popular here. Some of the most popular include real estate in which the earnings are really high. After that Indian IT sector has seen a lot of growth lately so people like to invest in technology companies.

8. If you had the opportunity, what kind of business would you like to do

I think this is a very interesting question, if given a chance; I will like to do something in the education sector probably related to IELTS only because I feel there is a lot of opportunity in this field. Moreover the current institutes do not provide quality coaching to the students that's why lot of students fail to clear the exam in single attempt.

9. What age do people want to retire in your country?

In our country people generally retire at the age of 60 but nowadays the trend is changing and people are thinking about retiring early. They want to work hard when they are young and earn more money so that they can retire by the age of 50 and fulfill their dreams such as traveling the world.

10. Would young people in your country like to open up their own business or find a job?

In my country, majority of the people like to do a job first because opening a business requires a large amount of money (huge capital), whereas a job is a more secure way of earning money.

11. Would you want people to do online business or run a company in real?

Well I have really never thought about this much but I think people should initially start online business because the risks in online business are lesser as compared to the real business. Also the amount of money required to start online business is lesser as compared to a reality business.

To expand your IELTS vocabulary effectively, follow these strategies:

Word Lists: Create lists of new words and phrases, organized by themes or topics like "academic," "travel," or "environment."

Contextual Learning: Understand words in sentences to grasp their meanings and usage nuances.

Reading: Read widely in English, from newspapers to books, to encounter diverse vocabulary.

Practice: Use new words in your writing and speaking practice to reinforce learning.

Online Resources: Explore vocabulary-building apps and reputable dictionaries for definitions and examples.

Word of the Day: Learn a new word daily to steadily expand your vocabulary.

Review: Periodically revisit and revise word lists for retention.

Diversify your vocabulary strategically to excel in IELTS reading and writing tasks.

32. Describe an area of science (biology, robotics, etc.) that you are interested in and would like to learn more about

You should say:

- Which area it is
 - When and where you came to know this area
 - How you get information about this area
 - And explain why you are interested in this area
- I find nearly all the different streams of science like biology, physics and chemistry very difficult.
 - But one area that really interests me is astronomy.
 - As with many sky enthusiasts, my interest originated in my childhood.
 - I don't remember the exact moment, but I do remember being very
 - interested in space in third grade, when I was about seven.
 - I remember that there was a presentation in my school on stars.
 - I came back home and told my mother that I thought this was great stuff.
 - Soon I could recite the names of the planets faster than anyone in the class, which for some reason was very important to me.
 - I used to love to sleep outside at night so that I could look at the stars.
 - My fascination with space kept growing with age.
 - I think my interest stems from my curiosity to learn more about the universe and the solar system.
 - Are there aliens? Or Are we alone?
 - Is there any other planet where we can survive or is Earth the only one?
 - Space has endless mysteries and there is so much we can learn from the study of space.
 - I am not a big movie buff, but I never miss a movie on space.
 - I think I have watched Interstellar ten times now.
 - I also love to watch you tube videos on space by famous astronomers.
 - I am very interested in buying my own special telescope once I start earning.

Option 2

- Science is very important in a student's life.
- It's through the science subjects that we begin to think logically and find answers to our questions.
- I found all the aspects of science interesting, like physics, biology and chemistry, as these sciences answer everyday questions about why things happen and how we evolved.
- Today I will be talking about a science, which I find the most interesting.
- It is computer science.
- I remember that I started becoming interested in it when we started with the computer science lessons in the 6th standard.
- We had a wonderful teacher who taught us this subject in a very interesting way.
- Her name was Ms. Meenakshi.
- We used to have both theory and practical lessons for this subject.
- We used to look forward to the lab sessions as we got to work on the computers at that time and try out several things we had learned in class.

- The lab sessions were always enjoyable, but our teacher taught it in a very interesting way and we all enjoyed the theory lessons a lot too.
- There are many interesting things that I have learned from this science.
- The first thing is how we can use computers not just as a source of entertainment, but its use is much more vast than that.
- It can be used to organize and plan things at home. It can be used for many other day-to-day activities like, banking, research work, shopping, connecting with friends and relatives and so on.
- Not only that, it helps the artists create new art and helps designers create clothes, cars, buildings, etc.
- Another reason that I have an interest in this science is because I know that in every field today we need to use computers.
- It will help me with my higher studies and also in my career later.
- In this contemporary world, the computer science has become an important science and it is essential that everyone is computer savvy to be able to do well in their studies or work or even if it is used as a source of entertainment.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do some children not like learning science at school?

There are many reasons why some children don't like learning science at school. The first reason is that learning science requires a strong background in other subjects like math and reading comprehension. So, for example if students face problems in math, they wouldn't be able to master science as well. Secondly, science also requires students to remember a lot of theories and formulas.

2. Is it important to study science at school?

Yes, science is really important to learn at school. Science tells students how the world around them works and functions. Moreover, science promotes rational and logical thinking, which is really important in making us a calm and objective person.

3. Which science subject is the most important for children to learn?

I think it depends upon the children. Personally, I hated physics because it involved a lot of 3D- imagination and I was really bad at it. Some of my friends were bad at memorising formulas and so they didn't like Chemistry.

4. Should people continue to study science after graduating from school?

If they have an interest in science, they should certainly study about it. It can tell them about the new inventions happening in the world. This can open up new business ideas and opportunities for them. However, if they don't have an interest in science, I don't think they should force themselves to read about it.

5. How do you get to know about scientific news?

I think there are some newspapers which publish the latest scientific news. For example, The Hindu newspaper. Another way could be to subscribe to scientific journals.

6. Should scientists explain the research process to the public?

No, I don't think explaining the research process would be beneficial. In fact, I feel it would make scientific inventions even more boring. I think the research process should be shared with other scientists, but there is no use of sharing it with ordinary human beings.

7. What's the best invention in the past hundred years?

I think there are many inventions which have transformed our lives, but I think invention of internet has had the maximum impact. Today, we have endless information available at our fingertips and we can communicate with anyone sitting anywhere.

8. What's the influence of science on human life?

I think there are two main influences of science. First, science brings logic and reasoning in human life. It reduces the impact of superstition and makes us more open-minded and accepting of others. Second, science and inventions have made our life much more comfortable as compared to the past.

9. What can individuals do for scientific research?

I think most science inventions happen accidentally. Individuals see a need and they come up with an idea to address that need. That is how, new inventions take place. Individuals can also donate money to scientific organisation to fund scientific research.

10. What influence can international cooperation in science bring about?

There main challenges to scientific research in today's time is the lack of funding and lack of access to information. International cooperation can address both of them. If countries share funds and their knowledge, scientific research would definitely receive a boost.

33. Describe a drawing/painting that you like

You should say:

- When you first saw this painting
 - What the painting is about
 - Who drew/painted it
 - And explain why you like this drawing/painting
- Paintings enhance the décor of a house.
 - My mother has decorated our house very nicely.
 - There is one painting in almost every room.
 - Here I would like to talk about a painting of galloping horses, which is adorning the wall of our drawing room.
 - She bought it from an Art exhibition in Ludhiana.
 - The artists name is Tavmeet Kaur.
 - She is from Ludhiana, and is a budding artist.
 - The Welcome Palace in Ludhiana hosts such exhibitions of budding artists.
 - These artists get fame and recognition
 - People can buy such good paintings at affordable prices
 - I like this painting because it fills me with positive energy.
 - My mother believes that galloping horses represent strength, success, peace and progress.
 - This painting has 7 white horses, with rising sun in the background.
 - So, the background is a mix of blue and orange/
 - The sofas in our drawing room are white, and the curtains blue, this painting looks stunning with white horses and a blue and orange sky.
 - The grace and power of the galloping horses comes out very vividly even though they are coloured white.
 - And this colour of the horses stands out even more in the foreground of the vibrant colours of the azure and saffron sky.
 - Whenever we have guests at our home, I've always heard words of praise for this painting.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the differences between painting and drawing?

Painting is typically a more elaborate art form compared to drawing. While drawing relies on lines and is often simpler, painting uses a variety of colors and techniques, allowing for greater complexity and depth in the artwork.

2. Why do some people keep a painting for a long time?

People tend to keep paintings for extended periods because they hold sentimental or aesthetic value. These artworks can remind them of important moments, places, or people in their lives, and they enhance the visual appeal of their living spaces, creating a lasting connection.

3. How does building style affect people's lives?

The architectural style of buildings can significantly impact people's lives. For instance, buildings designed for energy efficiency and comfort can reduce utility costs and enhance occupants' well-being. In contrast, poorly designed structures may lead to discomfort and higher expenses.

4. Should children learn to draw and paint? Why?

It is important for children to learn how to draw and paint. These skills foster creativity and self-expression. Additionally, they encourage young minds to think critically and see the world from various perspectives, which is valuable for personal growth and academic development.

5. How do young people share arts with others?

Young people can share their love for the arts with others in several ways. They can organize exhibitions to showcase their work, create art-focused social media profiles to reach a wider audience, or even volunteer to teach art to children or adults in their communities.

6. Do you think the objects we use in our daily lives should be beautifully designed?

Beautifully designed everyday objects enhance our lives. Not only do they serve their intended functions efficiently, but they also add aesthetic value to our surroundings. Well-designed objects contribute to a more pleasant and enjoyable daily experience, making us appreciate the thought and care put into their creation.

34. Describe a piece of good advice that you gave to someone

You should say:

- Who you gave the advice to
 - What the advice was
 - Why you gave the advice
 - And explain how he/she followed your advice
- Well I am a kind of person who doesn't like to advice people a lot because I believe that in today's world everyone wants to do things in their own way and people hardly pay heed to advice given to them.
 - In fact, I only give advice to people if they ask me for it, otherwise I refrain from giving it for free.
 - However, today I would like to talk about a time when I advised one of my friends about what career option is best for him.
 - I remember, it was almost 2 years back, my friend Alok had just completed his secondary education and he was really confused about what subjects he should choose so that he can have a bright future ahead.
 - Part of his dilemma was deciding between commerce and arts subjects because he was really good at arts and literature but then he also wanted to run his own business in the future.
 - He was having a very hard time in deciding what was best for him, so he approached me for my recommendation as he knew that I had done a lot of research on the same.
 - But before giving any advice I asked him to create a list of pros and cons for both the options and think hard about what he was more passionate about.
 - He said the he liked arts a lot but at the same time he wanted to earn a lot of money so that he could travel the world.
 - I then explained to him that all the famous people in the world have one thing in common that they truly followed their passion.
 - I also told him that if he could become the best in his field then the money would follow automatically and he would be able to fulfil his travel dreams.
 - Finally, after careful deliberation he followed my advice and now he has recently completed his higher secondary education and he always thanks me for helping him to make the right choice.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think parents should give their children advice?

Yes, parents should definitely give advice to their children. Parents have more life experience and can guide their children to make good decisions and avoid mistakes.

2. Should teachers give students advice?

Yes, teachers can provide valuable advice to students, especially on academic matters. Teachers help students learn and grow, not just academically but also as individuals.

3. Do you think it is necessary for us to listen to friends' advice?

Listening to friends' advice can be beneficial. Friends know us well and can offer insights or suggestions when we face challenges or decisions.

4. How do people give young people and old people advice?

People give advice to young and old individuals in different ways. Young people may receive advice informally through conversations, while older individuals might receive advice from professionals like doctors or lawyers.

5. What are the areas in which people are more or less willing to accept advice?

People are generally more willing to accept advice in areas where they lack expertise or experience. For example, they may be more open to financial advice from a financial advisor. However, in areas where they feel confident, they might be less receptive to advice.

6. Have you ever received any advice from professional people, like a doctor, a lawyer or a teacher? Yes, I have received advice from professionals like doctors and teachers. Doctors give medical advice to maintain good health, and teachers provide guidance on education and personal development. Such advice has been valuable in my life.

35. Describe a rule that is important in your school or at work

You should say:

- What the rule is about
 - What happens when people break the rule
 - Why you think it is an important rule
 - And explain how you feel about the rule
- Rules and laws are made to create a peaceful and harmonious society.
 - If we all obey the rules and laws then we would all be benefited.
 - There are rules everywhere.
 - Schools are the first place where children learn about the rules and codes of conduct.
 - Every school has rules, like wearing the prescribed uniform, coming in time, doing homework regularly and so on.
 - My school also had rules.
 - We had two uniforms.
 - It was navy blue skirt and white shirt on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.
 - However, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, we had a totally white uniform.
 - All students and I agreed with this rule.
 - Uniform creates an atmosphere of discipline.
 - Everybody feels connected because of the uniform.
 - If students broke this rule, and didn't come in uniform, they were punished.
 - Our principal used to make such students stand outside on one leg for half an hour.
 - Sometimes there was a fine of Rs 100/- also.
 - Even if a tie, belt or badge was missing we had to pay the fine.
 - So, this was the rule in school, we all had to follow.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Should schools have rules?

Yes, schools should definitely have rules because rules help us in learning the difference between right and wrong. If there are no rules then everyone will do anything that they feel is right and this might create a lot of disturbance. As an example if students will not follow the rule of coming to school on time then it will become really difficult to manage the schedule of the classes

2. Should schools decide how long the working hours should be?

I think this a topic which is often debated. I believe it should be the joint responsibility of the schools and children welfare and development department of the government to decide the number of school hours because we should not burden the students with education and at the same time a minimum number of hours is also vital for their learning.

3. What kinds of rules do Indian families have?

It is an interesting question, normally the rules vary from family to family but if we have to generalize then most of the parents are strict about the fact that children should complete their homework every day. They also want their kids should not go outside late in night because they are concerned for their safety.

4. Do you think strict rules are needed in schools?

I don't think schools should be a place where strict rules should be followed. Rules should be meant to teach children about discipline and other virtues. Having stricter rules might be detrimental to this cause and it could make children more rebellious instead.

5. Should students be involved in rule making?

Yes students should definitely be involved in rule making because it will make them feel more responsible and hence there will be less chances of them breaking the rules.

6. What rules should children follow at home in your country?

Children in my country are expected to follow several rules at home, such as respecting their elders, doing their homework, helping with household chores, and adhering to daily routines like bedtime.

7. On what occasions can children be forgiven if they don't follow some rules? Children may be forgiven for not following some rules on special occasions like birthdays or family celebrations when parents tend to be more lenient. Also, if there's a valid reason, like being unwell, they might be excused.

8. What rules should people follow when using public transport?

When using public transport, people should follow rules such as queuing up, not littering, giving up seats to those in need, and refraining from loud conversations or music that can disturb others.

9. What kinds of rules do people need to follow in public places?

In public places, people should follow rules like not smoking in no-smoking zones, not littering, and keeping noise levels down to maintain a peaceful environment for everyone.

10. What are the reasons that cause people to break rules?

People may break rules due to various reasons, including ignorance, carelessness, or a belief that they won't get caught. In some cases, people might break rules out of necessity or in emergencies.

11. When people break rules, how would they be punished in your country?

In my country, the punishment for breaking rules varies depending on the severity of the violation. It can range from warnings and fines to community service or legal actions, depending on the nature of the offense and its impact on others.

36. Describe a good advertisement that you think is useful

You should say:

- Where you can see it
 - What it shows
 - Why you think it is useful
 - And explain how you feel about it
- These days are the days of advertisements.
 - We come across some interesting and some repetitive adverts every day.
 - I see several advertisements daily but the one advertisement that has impressed me the most is about customer awareness titled 'jago Grahak jago ', which means 'wake, O' consumer wake'
 - It is issued by the government of India, and has a strong social message
 - This is a creative advertisement and I find it very interesting.
 - I have been watching this advertisement for many years on TV channels as well as on radio.
 - Last time I noticed it when while I was watching a reality show.
 - I still remember it because it is bit unique and the way it is presented was quite catchy.
 - In this advert we see a child, who goes to chemist shop to buy some medicines.
 - The clever shopkeeper gives him an expired medicine.
 - The little boy outsmarts the shopkeeper when he gives him coins which are no longer in circulation.
 - It is a slap on the face of the shopkeeper.
 - This advertisement has a message to all the consumers that they should be aware of their rights.
 - I found this advert an eye opener.
 - Also, it conveys the message in a smart way.
 - It sheds light on consumer rights.

Option 2

- I don't like ads as they are usually nothing more than strategies by companies to promote their products.
- However, it is impossible to avoid ads nowadays.
- They seem to be all around us.
- I love watching cricket matches, and the commercial breaks during such matches are very frequent.
- Here, I would like to talk about an ad by Nestle company.
- Its catch line is 'Thank you, Mom. '
- This is a small video in which the company pays tribute to motherly love.
- The first time I saw this video, I was moved and started crying. It was really touching.
- It features a couple of situations that show how players' mothers help them through times of trauma and stress while growing up.
- At first, we see children learning to walk.
- They keep falling, but their moms don't give up and patiently help their kids stand up and encourage them to try again, obviously bribing them with a Nestle chocolate
- Then we see the same kids learning how to handle a bat and ball and play cricket under the scorching heat of the sun.

- Again, we see how difficult it is for them, but they manage to succeed because their moms are there for them, motivating them not to give up, and again the motivation is Nestle chocolate.
- Then we see these grown-up kids become cricket champions, and the first people they rush to in order to share their happiest moment are their moms, with chocolates.
- Of course, the ultimate goal of this ad was to promote the company and its products. But at the same time this video spreads a very positive message to people all over the world.
- Every time I watch this ad, it melts my heart and reminds me of important things such as love and support of my parents, that I usually take for granted.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What do you think of online advertising?

Online advertising can be both useful and annoying. It helps us discover new products and services, but sometimes the ads can be too many and intrusive. It's important for advertisers to find a balance so that it doesn't disrupt our online experience too much.

2. Are there any great online advertisements?

Yes, there are many great online advertisements! Some of them use catchy jingles and colorful visuals to grab our attention, while others tell heartwarming stories that make us feel happy. These ads are clever and make us want to buy the products they are promoting.

3. What do people usually buy?

People usually buy clothes and electronic products online as there are great deals available on them. I personally bought an Iphone last year during the great Indian festival sale on Amazon. It was approximately Rs. 5000 cheaper as compared to the one available at the Apple store.

4. Why does buying new things make people happy?

Buying new things makes people happy because it gives them a feeling of excitement and joy. When we get something new, it can make us feel special and proud. It's like a little gift to ourselves, and it can bring happiness and satisfaction to our lives.

5. Do people watch useless advertisements in this day and age?

People often watch advertisements, even if they might seem useless, because sometimes they show us things we didn't know existed. Some ads are funny or entertaining, so people watch them for fun. Sometimes, even if we think an ad is useless, it might still catch our attention, and we end up remembering the product or brand.

6. Do you think there is too much advertising in our daily lives?

Yes, there is a lot of advertising in our daily lives. Sometimes, it can be annoying because we see ads on TV, on our phones, and even on the streets. It can be overwhelming, and some people may wish for less advertising so they can have more peace.

7. Why do some people hate advertisements?

People do not like advertisements while they are watching a program because ads break the continuity. Another annoying factor is that most of the ads are very repetitive and there is nothing new. But the fact remains that if there are no advertising agencies to sponsor the programs we will not be able to watch good programs.

8. Do people usually buy stuff after watching advertisements?

Yes, definitely many people buy the products after they watch an ad. Many of the advertisements are very innovative as well as informative these days. An advert can lure a wide range of people, from small children to the senior citizens.

9. Is music useful in advertising?

Yes, music adds life to the ad. Music can add meaning to anything and so music is useful in ads. For example, some jingles keep ringing in your ears even after the ad is over. So, the purpose of ad is fulfilled.

10. What are advantages of TV advertisements? How about internet advertisements?

TV ads have both audio and video component. So, these give visual reminders of the products and that is what sells the products. Internet ads can be skipped and it is optional and upto the user whether to view them or not.

11. Where usually do we see adverts?

We see ads all around us – on TV, on radio, on roadsides, in newspapers, in magazines, on the internet, on phones and as flyers.

12. Are there any advertisements at school?

Sometimes, supermarkets and fast food outlets give money to schools and open their outlets in schools. This is a way of advertising their products.

13. Are there some inappropriate adverts, like that of a condom?

There are some inappropriate ads, like the ad of some perfumes, which imply that if a boy wears that perfume, girls will flock around him, and the ads of some drinks like coke and peps. The ad of condoms is not inappropriate in my opinion. It is an important step in sex education.

14. Why does the government allow such ads?

Government allows such ads, because these ads spend a lot, which boosts the economy. Not only does the government earn, the people working in these ads also earn a lot.

15. Do you think it is bad for children?

Yes, sometimes children are lured to buy such things, but I feel that parents can play a very positive role by keeping an eye on their children and guiding them what is right or wrong.

16. Do parents complain about it?

Yes, parents complain about it at times, but the advantages these ads are giving to the country, are much more than the negative effects of these ads.

37. Describe a bad service you received in a restaurant/shop

You should say:

- When and where it happened
 - What happened
 - How it was solved
 - And explain how you felt about the experience
- There are many occasions when I have received extremely good service at places like hotels, restaurants, government offices etc
 - But sometimes things go wrong and the experience is not good.
 - Today I would like to talk about one such incident when I received horrible service at a restaurant
 - It happened during the last summer.
 - I had just finished my college and all my friends and I decided to go for a party.
 - One of my cousins from Canada, who is also my best friend had also come during that time.
 - So, we decided to take her along and go to a newly opened restaurant in our city.
 - We had heard a lot of good reviews about this restaurant from everyone.
 - It is a Chinese restaurant located in the centre of our town.
 - When we reached the restaurant we were told to wait for 1 hour as the restaurant was completely full and there was a waiting period to get inside.
 - So, we had to stand in a queue for more than 1 hour to gain entry inside the restaurant.
 - The moment we entered the restaurant we noticed the tables were dirty, so we asked the waiter to clean them.
 - It took them 15 minutes to do the cleaning and then ask us for ordering.
 - We ordered quickly as we were very hungry.
 - But despite our repeated requests to hurry up, they took 1 hour to prepare our food.
 - We also complained to the manager but his response was also not good.
 - He said we will have to wait as there is huge rush.
 - Finally, our food came and it did not taste good as it was not cooked properly.
 - We again complained to the manager but he was not ready to listen to us.
 - So, we paid the bill and left to eat at another restaurant.
 - This was the bad service that we received at a restaurant and we will not recommend this restaurant to anyone.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do most people respond to bad services?

When people receive bad services, most of them might feel unhappy or frustrated. They may talk to the person providing the service to express their concerns or ask for a solution. Some people might also share their bad experiences with friends and family or write reviews online to warn others about the bad service

2. Do you think services are better now than in the past?

Services today are generally considered better than in the past because of advancements in technology and higher standards. With modern technology, services can be faster and more convenient. However, some people might still think that in the past, services were more personal and caring compared to today's more automated and impersonal approach.

3. What kind of services are bad services?

I think not all services are bad services, only when a particular service fails to fulfill its offering than we can call it a bad service. For example if a restaurant does not serve good quality food or delays the service, it can be called as a bad service.

4. Why do some people choose to remain silent when they receive bad services?

Some people choose to remain silent because they think it is a waste of time to complaint against bad service. They think it might lead to unnecessary argument which they want to avoid.

5. Who should be responsible for bad services?

I think it depends on the situation but mostly the person who is providing the service should be held responsible because it is their duty to make sure that customers are not disappointed.

6. As a boss, what would you do to prevent bad services?

As a boss, I would make sure that everything is well organised and the staff is trained well to handle all the requests. Also, I will train them to be polite with the customers.

38. Describe a party that you enjoyed

You should say:

- When and where the party was held
 - Who attended the party
 - What kind of party it was
 - What you did in the party
 - And explain why you enjoyed this party
- I have attended many parties in my life.
 - But here I would like to talk about a birthday party, which I enjoyed a lot
 - It was the birthday of my younger brother.
 - It was his eighteenth birthday
 - I threw a surprise party for him.
 - My parents were also with me in this plan.
 - We invited a few of his close friends and some relatives.
 - After my brother left for college that morning, I decorated our home with buntings and balloons.
 - My mother baked and iced the cake.
 - Actually she has a gifted hand at cooking and baking.
 - I ordered some fritters, spring rolls, sandwiches and pastries for the guests.
 - I even organised some games such as musical chairs, treasure hunt and passing the parcel.
 - When my brother came home that day, we all were waiting for him.
 - We welcomed him by playing the birthday tune.
 - Everyone clapped and wished him happy birthday.
 - He was really surprised and very happy. I could tell it from his face.
 - Then he cut the cake and we all enjoyed the cake and snacks
 - Then we played the games.
 - Everyone enjoyed a lot.
 - I gifted a cell phone to my brother.
 - He always wanted it but my parents wouldn't let him buy one.
 - I always felt his desperation for the phone, so I had planned to gift him one on his birthday.
 - He received many other gifts also but my gift was the most special for him.
 - We all danced a lot that day.
 - I felt great happiness that day.
 - I realised that true happiness lies in giving happiness to others.
 - My brother is very dear to me
 - May God give him a long and happy life!

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do people like parties?

People like parties because they are fun and make them happy. At parties, they can meet friends, play games, and enjoy yummy food, which brings joy and excitement to their lives.

2. Why do some people not like going to parties?

Some people don't like going to parties because they may feel shy or uncomfortable around many people. They might prefer quiet and peaceful times alone or with a few close friends instead.

3. Do you think those who tend to stay at home are less healthy than those who often attend parties?

Whether someone stays at home or goes to parties doesn't always determine their health. Being healthy is about eating good food and exercising, which can happen at home or at parties. It depends on personal choices.

4. Do you think music and dancing are a must at a party?

While music and dancing make parties more enjoyable, they are not always a must. Some parties focus on other activities like games or chatting. Whether you need music and dancing depends on the type of party and what the guests like.

5. What would you do if you were disturbed by a neighbour's party?

If disturbed by a neighbor's party, I would politely talk to them and ask if they could lower the noise. If that doesn't work, I might seek help from my parents or landlord to find a solution. It's important to address the issue calmly and respectfully.

6. What are the differences between holding a party at home and in a public place?

Holding a party at home feels cozy and personal, but it might have limited space. Public places offer more room for bigger gatherings but can be costlier and are more formal. Both have their advantages, and the choice depends on the size and style of the party you want to have.

7. Do children like to party?

Yes, they do. Party means fun and enjoyment to them. It means new clothes, lots to eat and a chance to dance and make merry.

8. Do adults like to party?

Yes, adults like to party. To adults, it means a time to get together with friends and family. It means having a break from the monotonous routine life. It is a time to recharge one's batteries.

9. Do you like loud music in party?

No, personally I don't. It gives me a headache. But most of my friends do. They think that any party is incomplete without loud music.

39. Describe an occasion when you waited a long time for a nice thing

You should say:

- When it happened
- What the nice thing was
- How long you waited
- Why you waited for a long time
- And explain how you felt about the experience

- There are many situations in life when we have to wait for things.
- Sometimes it is in our hands and sometimes we wait for things because it is not in our hands.
- Here, I would like to talk about a situation when I decided to wait for buying a cellphone of my choice.
- I could have bought a cheaper model, but I wanted an iPhone.
- So, I waited till I had saved enough money for it.
- On my 18th birthday, my father gave me Rs. 20,000 to buy a phone.
- I saw many models in the market, but I did not like any of them.
- My cousin had an iPhone and I had seen its features and working. So, I wanted something like that.
- I decided to wait and save money before making my purchase.
- I get Rs.2000 per month as pocket money.
- I stopped spending on candies, chocolates and ice creams, so that I could save all my pocket money.
- I got some money from my brother and cousins on Rakhi.
- In six months, I had saved Rs. 40,000.
- I went to a local Apple store and bought a second-hand iPhone 12, in a fairly good condition.
- I am very happy with my iPhone.
- It is a rectangular phone in golden color.
- It has 64GB memory and a 14-megapixel camera.
- Waiting for this phone required a lot of patience, but I am happy that I decided to wait for this purchase.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. On what occasions do people have to wait for a long time?

Honestly speaking in my country people literally have to wait for almost everything, be it for public transport, banks, religious places, government offices, there are queues everywhere because we are the world's most populous nation.

2. What do people do while waiting?

Well the most common thing that people do nowadays is to pull out their smartphone from their pockets and do mindless scrolling on social media or call their friends and family. Literally everyone in a queue or waiting places has their eyes glued to their smartphone screens.

3. Are most people patient while waiting?

Well most of the people generally have patience when they have to wait for a short period of time but if things take a longer turn and people are not informed about how much more they will have to wait, it generally makes them impatient. For example, I had to stand in a queue for almost 3 hours to get my driving license, when there were just 5 people ahead of me. The person at the counter said the computers were not working and he gave us no information about how much we will have to wait. This made the whole experience very irritating and many people lost their patience and started shouting at the staff.

4. Do you like to wait for a long time? Why?

Personally, I do not like to wait for a long time because I feel it is not the best way to spend your time. When people have to wait for a long time it makes them tired and because of that they are not able to do anything productive later on as well. So, in a way it wastes a lot of time.

5. Why do most children have difficulties waiting for a long time?

I think most of the young children generally like to be active all the time and be engaged in some sort of activity so that they can burn their active energy. For them it's difficult to just be still or passive and do nothing. So, when they are forced to wait for something they tend to become impatient.

6. Do people queue consciously while waiting for the subway train?

Yes, most of the people usually queue consciously while waiting for the subway train. They stand in an organized line on the platform to make sure everyone gets on the train smoothly. This helps prevent chaos and ensures everyone can board in an orderly manner. But sometimes there are people who are in hurry and who do not care about others, they tend to skip the queues.

7. Do you think patience is important?

Yes, patience is very important. Everything takes time. Nothing can be achieved instantly. Patience helps to wait for things. If we are not patient, we tend to finish things hurriedly, which spoils things.

8. Why is it difficult for children to be patient?

There are many reasons behind this. Children are not that mature. They don't understand many things. So they find it hard to have patience.

9. How to teach children patience?

They can be taught in many ways. Parents can become good role models for them and tell them nicely that everything takes time. They can also be taught through stories such as the hare and the tortoise. The hare runs fast and is not patient, whereas the tortoise patiently and slowly completes the race without resting and wins ultimately. Children can be taught that even if someone is better than them at something, they can still beat that person by their perseverance and patience.

10. Would you easily feel angry when you wait for a long time?

I am myself very punctual and don't like to keep anyone waiting for me. So, I would definitely feel angry if I have to wait for long. But then, I would also understand, if the other person is late for some genuine reason.

11. Have you ever been late for meeting someone?

Normally, I am very punctual and don't like to keep anyone waiting for me. But, I remember, once I had to meet my friend in Jalandhar, and I got stuck in a traffic jam. I was late for no fault of mine and so I called my friend and told her about my predicament (difficulty or problem). She understood and was very patient.

40. Describe an activity that made you feel tired

You should say:

- When and where it took place
- Why you took part in it
- What the activity was
- And explain why it made you feel tired

- I am not very athletic, but I had always thought of myself being fit.
- However, this illusion got shattered pretty badly recently
- My friend is very religious and he invited me to visit Vaishno Devi with him.
- Vaishno Devi is renowned Hindu Temple located in Jammu and Kashmir.
- The temple is at a 12 km trek from Katra.
- Till Katra, people go by car and then people walk from there.
- A lot of people go there every year from very young children to even 80 and 90 year olds.
- So, I didn't think it was going to be difficult journey.
- In fact when we reached, I was pretty excited and was happy to be out walking after sitting in the car for a long time.
- That excitement soon turned into misery and regret for coming to this journey unprepared.
- The first two kilometers were easy but after that I started feeling it. My ankles and feet started paining.
- I asked my friend if we could take a break, but he said we had to be back before nightfall so we didn't have time for a break.
- He told me people only take a break at the halfway mark, where there is another temple.
- So, I slowly dragged my feet and kept on walking.
- By kilometre 5, I felt like I had no strength left in my legs anymore.
- I still pushed myself and reached the half way mark somehow.
- I told my friend that I would wait there and he can go complete the rest of the journey by himself.
- However, he didn't listen.
- We took a short break and then we started again.
- The break relieved some of the pain but after 500 meters I was miserable again.
- I complained a lot, but my friend just kept on motivating me.
- I still don't know how I completed the rest of the journey.
- I was dead tired by the end of it
- That day I decided to work on my physical fitness.
- Due to studies, my life had become sedentary and I had let go of my fitness.
- I knew if I felt tired so easily at such a young age, I wouldn't be able to do anything when I grew older.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Does studying and learning make people tired today?

Yes, studying and learning has become exhausting because most students don't study out of interest but out of compulsion. Most people study to secure good marks rather than understanding concepts and gaining knowledge. In other words, most students consider studying a chore today and hence, it makes them tired.

2. When do people usually feel tired?

People usually feel tired when they work more than their body or mind is used to. Every person has a different limit in this regard. For example, people who have a sedentary lifestyle might feel tired even after walking 1 km, while for an athlete a 10 km run might be a warm up.

3. What do you think about striving for learning and striving for sports?

In my case, I never had to strive for learning. I was good at studies since my childhood and I picked up things pretty quick. However, I had to strive for sports. It wasn't easy. I remember I used to practice playing for long hours after school and even then I failed. However, winning in sports was much enjoyable as things didn't come easy.

4. Do people have fewer holidays now than in the past?

On the contrary, we have more holidays now than in the past. It's just that we have so many household chores pending that we don't feel like they are holidays. The main reason for that is the change in family structure from joint to nuclear. Earlier in joint families, the chores used to get shared and as such there was division of labour. This meant that holidays were relaxing.

5. What are the differences between feeling tired after studying and after exercising?

I think one is mental tiredness and other is physical tiredness. Physical tiredness means our body might not have strength to do physical chores but our brain might be fully alert. By contrast, mental tiredness is all about our mind not being able to think properly due to being overworked or stress. It might result in bad decision making.

6. How can people solve the problem that old people easily get tired?

Firstly, old people should take on mental jobs rather than physically demanding jobs. Secondly, old people should try to remain physically fit and active by doing regular exercise and having a nutritious diet, so that they don't get tired easily. Finally, old people can take supplements like Calcium and Vitamin pills to address the deficiencies that arise due to age.

41. Describe a time when you had a problem with using the computer

You should say:

- When it happened
 - Where it happened
 - What the problem was
 - And explain how you solved the problem at last
- I think there have been a lot of times when I have faced computer related problems.
 - Sometimes they were related to the computer hardware, like issues with the hard drive, and sometimes it was software bugs.
 - But today I am going to talk about one specific issue due to which I almost missed my assignment submission.
 - It was during the last winter and it was just two months to go for my exam.
 - My computer teacher had given me an assignment to make a presentation on ethical hacking.
 - I was only given 3 days to submit the presentation and I started working on it as soon as I got it.
 - I made good progress on my assignment on the first day and I was thinking that I'll be able to get good marks.
 - However, the next day the luck was not on my side, because when I was doing some late-night research on the web my computer shut down unexpectedly.
 - First of all, I thought it was a power issue but then all other electrical items were working fine at my home.
 - I tried multiple times to switch on the pc but it was of no use.
 - I called one of my friends and he suggested me to try a different power outlet but that didn't help either.
 - This issue had me really worried because I was not sure if I had saved the assignment and moreover I had just one day left to complete it.
 - So, the first thing I did the next morning was to take my computer to the repair shop.
 - The technician opened the CPU box and ran some checks.
 - He told me that the power supply in the CPU had short circuited due to the dust that had accumulated in it over the years.
 - He replaced it with a new power supply and also cleaned the other parts in the cabinet.
 - Luckily this was the only issue and the computer was fixed. Also, I had a sigh of relief because my presentation got autosaved and the progress wasn't lost.
 - Finally, I was able to submit my assignment on time and although the repair costed me around Rs2000 , more importantly I learned a lesson that I should clean my computer regularly.

You should say:

- Who this person is
 - What he/she likes to cook
 - Who he/she cooks for
 - And explain why he/she enjoys cooking
- Well I think the answer to this question would be fairly simple for every person in this world.
 - Everyone would agree that their mother is the best cook and mothers absolutely love to cook for their family.
 - So, I am also going to talk about my mom, whom I also address as a master chef at our home.
 - My mother is 50 years old and she works as an economics teacher in a public school in Chandigarh.
 - Apart from teaching, cooking is her passion and she really loves to cook different cuisines for us.
 - Every day she spends almost 3-4 hours in cooking and prepares really delicious meals for us.
 - I love everything that she makes, but two of my favourite dishes are lentil curry and stuffed potato bread which are finger licking good.
 - I believe that the reason why her food is so tasty is because she puts in a lot of love and effort while cooking the meals.
 - She told me that she learnt the art of cooking from her grandmother who was an excellent cook herself.
 - One more thing I would like to share is that although she is a vegetarian but she knows some mouthwatering non-vegetarian recipes as well, especially butter chicken and grilled fish.
 - She is a picky eater and for her everything has to be perfect. She often likes to try new recipes.
 - Sometimes I and my father also join her in cooking but our tasks are just limited to chopping vegetables or kneading the dough and of course washing the utensils after the meal.
 - Finally, I would like to say that we should always respect and care for our mothers because they give us a lot of selfless love.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

 - There are interesting tourist places, buildings, beaches and many more such areas.
 - Here, I would like to talk about the Taj Mahal in Agra, which is a very interesting historical building.
 - It is one of the most flawless architectural creations of the world.
 - It is also one of the seven wonders of the world.
 - In fact it has been ranked as the first of the seven wonders.
 - It is a magnificent building built of white marble.
 - Mughal Emperor Shahjahan got it built in the loving memory of his beloved wife Mumtaz.
 - About 20,000 workers put in their best efforts for 17 long years to complete this masterpiece.
 - The hands of the master mason were cut off after completion of the building so that such a building could not be made again.
 - I first saw it 7 years ago when I went with my school tour.
 - I was awestruck to see the picturesque beauty in front of my eyes.
 - The tombs of Shahjahan and Mumtaz lie in the basement.
 - I like it because it gives an identity to India in the world.
 - I am proud to be a part of a country with such historic background.
 - Tourists from all over the world flock to see this ultimate memorial of love

44. Describe a long car journey you went on or a long car journey you remember well

- Where you went
 - What you did at that place
 - Who you went there with
 - Explain why you went on that journey by car And explain how you felt about the journey
- I recently embarked on a memorable long car journey with my family.
 - We decided to explore the scenic beauty of the hill station, Shimla, nestled in the foothills of the Himalayas.
 - The journey was approximately 350 kilometers from our hometown.
 - Upon reaching Shimla, we immersed ourselves in the serene surroundings and indulged in various activities.
 - We visited popular tourist spots like Mall Road, Ridge, and Jakhu Temple.
 - The breathtaking views of the snow-capped mountains and the lush green valleys left us in awe.
 - We also took leisurely walks, enjoying the cool mountain air and exploring the local markets.
 - The trip was made even more special because I went there with my parents, younger sister, and our beloved pet dog.
 - It was a perfect family getaway, filled with laughter, bonding, and shared experiences.
 - We made countless memories together, capturing beautiful moments against the backdrop of nature's splendour.
 - We chose to go on this journey by car for multiple reasons.
 - Firstly, traveling by car allowed us the flexibility to stop at scenic spots along the way and admire the picturesque landscapes.
 - Secondly, we wanted to enjoy the freedom of exploring Shimla at our own pace, without being constrained by public transport schedules.
 - Lastly, the car journey provided us with the opportunity to bond as a family and engage in long conversations while enjoying the mesmerizing views outside.
 - Overall, the long car journey to Shimla was a delightful experience.
 - It not only allowed us to unwind and rejuvenate but also strengthened our family bonds. The memories we created during this trip will forever hold a special place in our hearts.

OR

- I have not been on many long journeys by car, as we usually opt for bus, train, or air travel for such trips.
- However, I would like to share my experience of a long journey I took by car.
- It happened last year when my cousin visited from Canada and expressed a desire to explore Rajasthan.
- Since my maternal aunt and uncle live in Jaipur, we decided to visit the city.
- We borrowed my uncle's Toyota Innova, a seven-seater car, as it was a convenient option for our group of six, which included my father, mother, brother, cousin, uncle, and myself.

- We embarked on our journey at 6 AM and made several stops along the way, including a famous motel called Jhilmil Dhaba in Murthal where we had lunch, and a tea break in Delhi.
- We reached my aunt's house by 7 PM, where she had prepared a delicious dinner for us.
- The following days were filled with sightseeing, including visits to iconic places like Hawa Mahal, City Palace, Amer Fort, and Maharani Palace.
- We also had the opportunity to experience Rajasthani culture at Chokhi Dhani, where we witnessed live dances and music performances.
- We concluded our trip with some shopping and cherished the warm hospitality of my aunt and uncle.
- The memories of this road trip to Rajasthan will always remain delightful to me.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What will cars be like in the future?

What the future has in store no one can tell, but as far as I can see there will be cars running on alternative sources of energy. Already we have cars which do not use petrol or diesel and run on electricity. However in future we may see cars running on solar power, biodiesel or other alternative sources. We may even see flying cars.

2. What's the difference between men's and women's preference on cars?

Gender differences are disappearing nowadays, and there is hardly any difference in men's and women's preference on cars. It is an individual preference. Some people like bigger cars and some like smaller cars. Some people like sports cars and some like luxury cars. For within the city use, people prefer small cars and for long drives people prefer big cars. Both men and women like all types of cars.

3. What are the differences between bicycles and private cars?

There are a lot of differences between bicycles and private cars. Bicycles are cheaper, in fact much cheaper than private cars. Bicycles do not require any fuel to operate. Bicycles help people to remain healthy as riding a bicycle involves some form of exercise. Riding a bicycle also does not require any license. Cars, on the other hand are helpful when the whole family has to go out together. Cars are especially helpful when there are elderly or disabled people at home. Cars are also useful in adverse weather conditions. Cars are safer than bicycles especially where there are no separate lanes for bicycles.

4. Why do people like to have private cars?

People like to have private cars because they are very comfortable to go from one place to the other. They are very helpful when there are elderly or disabled people at home. They are very helpful when the whole family has to go out together. They are also helpful in adverse weather conditions. Finally having a private car is a status symbol.

5. What are the differences between bicycles and private cars?

Bicycles are eco-friendly vehicles. These are cheaper and also good for our health. But cars are better when we have to travel long distances. Cars are also better when weather conditions are harsh outside, such as rain or storm. Cars are safer than bicycles. Bicycles are safe only if there are separate lanes for bicycles.

6. Is it a good thing that everyone has his/her own cars?

It is definitely not good if everyone has his/her own car. Already there is too much congestion on the roads. If every person will have own car then there will be parking problems and traffic jams and too much pollution.

7. How to buy private cars in India?

It is easy to buy a car in India. You have to go to a showroom and pay the money and buy a car of your choice. Easy monthly instalments are also available. Some people also go for bank loans to buy a car.

8. What benefits does public transport bring to the world?

The main benefit is that helps to reduce pollution as it directly reduces usage of car and other private vehicles. Moreover, it reduces traffic and thus also saves people travelling time. Finally, it provides a cheap mode of transportation for the poor and middle class.

9. Is it too late for people to get their driver's license at the age of 18?

Yes, I think driving has become a necessity in today's time because of longer distances. Cities have spread and students live farther away from schools and places of entertainments like shopping malls, restaurants and multiplexes. Moreover, both parents are working nowadays and so parents are not free to drive their children to different places.

10. What qualities does a driver need to have?

Firstly, he should have quick reflexes so that he is able to quickly react and control the vehicles. Secondly, he should be calm and he should be able to drive without taking stress. Finally, he should have good concentration and he should not be distracted what the passengers are doing in the vehicle.

11. Do you think the government should make it a rule for people to use public transport?

No, I don't think government should make it compulsory. However, government should encourage people to switch to public transport by making it faster, more comfortable and cheaper.

12. Which jobs require people to be good at driving?

I think driving is necessary in nearly all the jobs today. However, if I had to name a few, the first one that comes to my mind is courier services. Secondly, public transportation drivers also need to be good at driving. Finally, people who work in emergency services like ambulance, fire brigade and police officers should also be good in services.

13. Do you see driverless cars as the future of cars?

No, I don't think so because it would lead to huge unemployment and so I think most governments would not allow driverless cars. Moreover, I don't trust technology to be reliable in this case.

45. Describe a book that you have read many times

You should say:

When you read it for the first time
How often you read the book
What the book is about
Explain what effect the book had on you
And explain why you like read it again

Or Describe an exciting book that you enjoy reading. You should say:

- When you read it
 - What kind of book it is
 - What is about
 - And explain why you think it is exciting
- I have read a lot of books, but the very first book that I read still holds a special place in my heart.
 - It is none other than the first book of the Harry Potter series, 'Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone.'
 - On my 10th birthday, my mother gifted it to me, although I was initially disappointed as I wanted a recently released video game.
 - However, once I reluctantly started reading, I was captivated and couldn't put the book down. I stayed up until 7 AM the next morning, finishing the last page.
 - The Harry Potter series needs no introduction - it is a story of magic and the classic battle between good and evil.
 - But for me, it is also a coming-of-age story, depicting the journey of a boy becoming a man.
 - The book's world-building, character development, and magic system are all perfect.
 - Moreover, the book doesn't shy away from depicting the hardships and struggles faced by the characters.
 - Unexpected twists and unpredictable events keep the readers engaged, making it one of the most exciting examples of the good vs evil theme in fantasy literature.
 - Harry Potter was the book that sparked my love for reading, and it will always hold a special place in my heart.
 - Even now, I find myself randomly picking up the book once a month to read a few chapters.
 - Somehow, every time I read it, I discover something new that I hadn't noticed before.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you prefer books or movies?
I think movies can never capture the detail and the emotions that books can. So, I always prefer reading books to watching movies. But, then again, it's not easy to find time to read books. So, sometimes I still watch movies.
2. Do you think it is important to read the book before watching the movie version of it?
No, not really. Some movie adaptations are really good. A lot of my friends haven't read the Game of Throne series, but they still enjoyed the TV adaptation. Ultimately, it's the person's preference and availability of time.
3. Do boys and girls like the same kinds of books?
I have seen some differences in the magazines boys and girls read. For example, I have seen a lot of girls reading fashion magazines and very rarely in the case of boys. However, in the case of books, I don't think there is any particular difference.
4. What kind of books do Indian people like to read?
I think reading preference doesn't depend upon nationality. It depends upon personal preference and the book itself. For example, Harry Potter is famous all over the world, because it is a fabulous book. I think it was meant for children, but I have seen a lot of adults calling themselves Potterheads.
5. What kinds of books do children like to read? Why?
Children have diverse reading preferences, but popular book genres include adventure, fantasy, mystery, and humor. These genres captivate children's imaginations, offer exciting and imaginative storylines, relatable characters, and engaging plots that spark curiosity, entertain, and provide an escape into new worlds. Additionally, books that incorporate humor or address relatable themes and experiences can also resonate with young readers.
6. What can kids learn from books?
Books provide a wealth of learning opportunities for children. They can learn about different cultures, historical events, and scientific concepts. Books also foster language and literacy skills, enhance imagination and creativity, promote empathy and understanding, and help develop critical thinking and problem-solving abilities.
7. Do people prefer to read e-books or printed books in your country?
Reading preferences vary in my country, but many people still prefer printed books for the tactile experience, the smell of the pages, and the traditional feel. However, e-books have gained popularity due to convenience, portability, and the ability to store a vast collection in a single device.
8. Do you think people need to develop the habit of reading? Why?
Yes, developing the habit of reading is important as it offers numerous benefits. Reading improves vocabulary, language skills, and comprehension abilities. It broadens knowledge, enhances critical thinking, stimulates imagination, reduces stress, and promotes lifelong learning.

9. Do you think reading books can make people happier?
Yes, reading books can contribute to happiness. It provides an escape from daily stresses, offers a source of entertainment and enjoyment, and allows readers to immerse themselves in different worlds and perspectives. Additionally, reading can stimulate the mind, spark creativity, and provide a sense of fulfillment and personal growth, leading to increased overall happiness.

46. Describe a speech you gave or Describe a talk you gave to a group of people

- When and to whom you gave the speech
- What was the speech about
- Why you gave the speech
- How did you feel about it

- I have not delivered many speeches in my life, but there is one memorable experience I had.
- There was an environmental fair organized by a local NGO in my hometown.
- Our school principal selected two students from our school to participate in a declamation contest.
- I was chosen from the 9th class, and we had only two days to prepare.
- Despite feeling nervous, our teacher helped us prepare on the topic of global warming, a pressing issue of today.
- During the speech, I discussed how global warming affects the entire planet and emphasized that humans are both the cause and the solution to this problem.
- I highlighted the pollution caused by deforestation, increased industrialization, and the use of cars and luxuries.
- Furthermore, I explained the effects of global warming, such as rising sea levels, changing climates, and the spread of diseases like malaria and dengue.
- To address this issue, I proposed simple measures like preserving trees, planting more trees, using recycled materials, and avoiding plastic bags.
- Although I used to be stage shy, I delivered the speech confidently during the fair, and it was well-received by everyone.
- Winning the first prize not only boosted my confidence but also made me realize my oratorical skills.
- That day holds a special place in my memory, and I will never forget the sense of accomplishment and joy I felt.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do people get nervous when they speak in public?
I think public speaking is the most common fear among people. There are many reasons why people feel nervous when speaking in public. It may be due to lack of confidence, lack of knowledge about the subject or the topic, hesitation due to the feeling that they are being judged or it maybe because of shyness or an introvert nature.
2. How can they improve their public speaking skills?
Public speaking can be improved by gaining more knowledge about the topic or the subject. This will build up confidence. It can be practiced with friends and family, who can help improve the speaking skills by giving feedback. We can also make use of technology by recording our speech and replaying it. And getting a lot of practice before the actual event helps improve the confidence to speak in front of public.
3. What different kinds of speeches or lectures have you attended in your life?
I have attended many kinds of speeches and lectures that in my life. During my school and college years, I have attended various lectures delivered by my teachers or guest speakers, about various topics and subjects. I have attended some motivational speeches about things like time management, positive thinking, etc. There are many religious speeches that I have heard at the Gurudwara/temple/church/mosque. I have also heard speeches from/by political leaders, usually right before elections. I have attended speeches and lectures about social issues also, like drug addiction, female feticide, dowry issue and many more.
4. What qualities (attributes) should these visiting speakers have?
There are many qualities/attributes required to be a good speaker, like confidence, in-depth knowledge about the topic, good memory, ability to keep the audience engaged, which can be achieved through an interactive session, where everyone in the audience is involved or maybe by adding a touch of humor. A good command on the language is also a must and the person should speak clearly and confidently.
5. Why do you many people find it hard to give a talk to young children?
I think it is hard to give a talk to young children because they usually have a very short attention span. They get distracted easily and it is important to keep them constantly involved and engaged during the speech. They are not mature enough to know the facts and there are different strategies used to explain the subject or the topic to them, for example, by telling a story that they can relate to and understand.
6. Why do you think many people are nervous before they give a speech? (Same answer as for question 1)
7. Why do people give speech to children?
The main reason for giving a lecture or a speech to children is to teach them moral or social values or to give knowledge about a particular topic or subject. It could also be used to motivate children to perform better or maybe to become more organized.
8. Who makes people do so?

It could be the parents, the school/college management, local NGOs, government authorities, like the traffic police, etc.

9. How media relates to the speech to children in school?

Media plays a very important role in everyone's life these days. The speeches given to children in schools can be published in newspapers or broadcast on TV, which further helps spread the message or awareness among other schools/educational institutions and the children.

10. What benefits does the internet bring to communication?

In my opinion, the internet brings numerous benefits to communication, including instant connectivity and global reach, allowing people to connect and communicate across vast distances. It facilitates real-time communication through various platforms, enables sharing of information, fosters collaboration, and provides a platform for diverse voices to be heard and ideas to be shared.

11. Which one is better, being a communicator or a listener?

I think that both being a communicator and a listener are valuable skills, and their importance depends on the context and situation. Effective communication involves both expressing ideas clearly and actively listening to others. Striking a balance between being an effective communicator and an attentive listener fosters understanding, promotes meaningful connections, and enhances overall communication effectiveness.

12. What qualities does a person need to have to be a good communicator?

According to me a good communicator should possess qualities such as clarity in expression, active listening skills, empathy, adaptability, and the ability to convey ideas effectively.

Strong verbal and nonverbal communication skills, along with the capacity to understand and respond to the needs of others, are essential for effective communication.

13. What kinds of people often give speeches?

I think, various types of people give speeches, including politicians, public figures, activists, educators, business leaders, and professionals in different fields. They may deliver speeches at events, conferences, graduation ceremonies, or during public engagements to inform, inspire, persuade, or entertain audiences.

14. How important is it to be a good listener when communicating?

Well, being a good listener is crucial in effective communication. It shows respect, fosters understanding, and allows for meaningful engagement. Active listening helps build rapport, reduces misunderstandings, and promotes effective problem-solving and collaboration.

47. Describe a new store/shop that has recently opened in your town/city.

- Where is it?
 - What is sold there?
 - Who goes there?
 - And explain how successful it will be in the future?
- In recent years, many retail stores have shut down in my town due to the increasing popularity of small stores.
 - However, some stores have also experienced a surge in business.
 - Today, I would like to talk about one such store that opened recently and quickly gained popularity.
 - It is a bakery called Amfore Bakers.
 - Amfore Bakers is conveniently located near the center of my town, Phagwara.
 - Despite the area being crowded, the store is situated close to the main market.
 - Additionally, there is ample parking available for customers.
 - At Amfore Bakers, they sell a wide variety of bakery products, catering to different tastes and preferences.
 - They offer traditional items like cakes, muffins, donuts, and pastries, as well as exotic treats like eclairs and croissants.
 - Personally, I have had the pleasure of trying many unique baked specialties from different countries at this store.
 - In addition to baked goods, Amfore Bakers also sells imported snacks, including chocolates, sauces, and drinks.
 - They have an extensive selection of bread, featuring different varieties such as brown bread, whole wheat bread, and garlic bread.
 - The store is known for offering exclusive items that are not available elsewhere in the city.
 - Recently, they have added freshly brewed coffee to their offerings, which has further contributed to the store's popularity.
 - However, it is important to note that the prices at Amfore Bakers are on the higher end.
 - As a result, the majority of their customers belong to the middle class and affluent families.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kinds of shops are popular in your city?
All kinds of shops are popular in my city. There are small shops and big stores. A new Mall is also opening very soon in the suburbs.
2. Why do young people enjoy going to some boutiques?
Young people are fashion conscious and so they like going to boutiques, because they can get stitched the latest trendy clothes there. I personally get my clothes stitched from a boutique, because they guide me what would suit me and stitch my clothes in the latest fashion.
3. Do you think location is the key factor that attracts customers?
Yes, location does matter. For example if a store opens on the main road, it comes in the public eye very soon, but if it is in the interior, it may take time to pick up business.
4. What is the difference between a small shop and a large shop/store?
The main difference between big stores and small stores is the price and variety. Bigger stores have the advantage of buying in bulk, allowing them to offer better prices to customers. They also tend to carry products from various brands, providing a wider variety of choices. On the other hand, small stores may have limited variety but can offer personalized service and a more intimate shopping experience.
5. How important are price and quality in influencing consumer behaviour?
Price and quality are two crucial factors that influence consumer behavior. Customers generally seek the best quality products at the most affordable prices. They often have to make trade-offs between price and quality, deciding which factor is more important to them based on their preferences, budget, and the perceived value of the product.
6. Why is cheap fashion so popular?
Cheap fashion is popular because fashion trends change rapidly. People are hesitant to invest in expensive fashion items that may quickly lose their popularity and appeal. By opting for affordable fashion, individuals can keep up with the latest trends without breaking the bank. Cheap fashion allows them to experiment with different styles and stay updated, as wearing outdated clothing can be seen as unfashionable.

48. Describe a place away from your home and you want to visit in the future

You should say:

- Where you would like to go
- When you would like to go
- How would you go there
- Who you want to go with
- And explain why you want to visit the place

- I have lived in Punjab all my life, and because Punjab doesn't have a coastline, I have never been to any beach.
- So, in the future, I want to visit the beautiful beaches of Goa.
- Goa is about 2000 kilometers from Punjab.
- The best time to visit Goa is during the winters as summers are very hot and sweltering, making it impossible to enjoy.
- Therefore, I would like to go there in December or January.
- Moreover, many people in Goa are Christians, and Christmas is celebrated with a lot of pomp and show there.
- If I go around December 25th, I would get to take part in the Christmas festivities as well.
- I want to visit it with my whole family, including my parents and my sister.
- I have heard a lot about Goa from my friends and family.
- It has some of the most beautiful beaches in India.
- Additionally, as it was under Portuguese occupation for a long time, it has a very unique culture.
- Another reason I want to visit Goa is to experience the beautiful churches and forts.
- The churches have a unique Indo-Portuguese architecture that is not found in any other part of India.
- It's not well-known, but Goa also has one of the largest numbers of hill forts in the country. Many people hike to the top of the forts on foot and then come down.
- My parents have promised me that they will book our tickets if I secure good bands in the IELTS.
- So hopefully, I will be able to visit it this winter.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Where do people love to go on holidays/vacations?

It really depends on people and the season. For example, during winters, people like to visit beaches and coastal towns to get a respite from the cold temperatures, while in summers, people visit hill stations to get relief from the sun. Young people are more likely to visit places with good nightlife and entertainment facilities, whereas older people prefer to visit religious places.

2. How does tourism lead to cultural exchange?

When tourists visit any place, they come to know about the local culture by mingling and communicating with locals, and local people also come to know about foreign culture by interacting with tourists.

3. Why do some people think it is enjoyable to stay at home on holidays?

Some people find it enjoyable to stay at home on holidays because it offers a sense of relaxation, comfort, and solitude. It allows them to engage in activities they enjoy, spend quality time with family or engage in self-care, and escape the busyness and stress associated with travel or external commitments.

4. How do students who have taken a gap year differ from other students?

Students who have taken a gap year differ from other students in that they have taken time off between completing high school and starting college or university. This break allows them to gain life experiences, explore personal interests, engage in meaningful activities like travel or volunteer work, and gain clarity about their academic and career goals.

5. Do teenagers usually travel with friends or alone?

Teenagers' travel preferences can vary, but it is common for them to travel with friends or in groups. Traveling with friends offers companionship, shared experiences, and a sense of adventure. However, some teenagers may also choose to travel alone to gain independence, challenge themselves, and have the freedom to create their own itinerary.

6. What do you think is the most desirable place for people to visit during the holiday?

The most desirable place for people to visit during the holiday depends on personal preferences, but popular destinations often include tropical beach resorts, cultural and historical landmarks, natural wonders like national parks, or bustling city destinations known for their entertainment and shopping options. Ultimately, the most desirable place is subjective and varies based on individual interests and desired holiday experiences.

49. Describe an adventure you would like to go on.

- What the adventure is
 - Where you would go
 - Who you would go with
 - What you would do
 - And explain why you would like to take the adventure
- I love traveling, and I especially want to go on adventures like bungee jumping, mountain climbing, and underwater diving.
 - However, I have never tried any of these activities.
 - So, I want to start with something a little easier, like trekking.
 - My sister and her husband go trekking every year during the summer vacation.
 - They also enjoy camping at night, immersing themselves in nature's embrace instead of staying at resorts.
 - Unfortunately, they live in the US, so I can't accompany them.
 - That's why I want to go trekking in India.
 - There is a beautiful trek near Shimla in Himachal Pradesh that I have heard about.
 - It is around 10 km long and not too steep, making it perfect for a beginner like me.
 - One of my cousins did it last year and had a great experience.
 - The trek starts at the bottom of a small hill and ends at the top, where there is a stunning lake.
 - People camp near the lake for the night before returning the next day.
 - I have convinced my best friend to accompany me on this adventure.
 - Our plan is to travel to Shimla by motorcycle and then embark on the trek.
 - We are both incredibly excited about this trip.
 - In fact, we have started walking about 10 km every day as part of our preparation, ensuring that we won't face any difficulties during the trek.
 - But what we are most thrilled about is camping beside a campfire near the lake.
 - Both of us are fans of horror movies, so we plan to watch them all night long, adding a thrilling element to our camping experience.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kind of personality should a person have to be able to take risks?

I think a person should have the ability to accept failures and move on. Risks means, there will be failures, so people shouldn't be afraid of failures. In fact, failing should be a motivation to try again. In short, adventures are for people, who can look at fear in the face and overcome it.

2. Do adventures expand your horizons?

Yes, I definitely think so. Adventures teach us to step out of our comfort zone, taking risks in life that ultimately make us happier, more confident, and more open to new experiences. Ultimately, adventures empower us by helping us realize our capabilities.

3. What kind of people love adventure? What specific age group?

I think it's mostly the young who like to go for adventures because adventures can be physically demanding. However, being adventurous is also about being mentally strong. I think through mental willpower, people can overcome any physical challenges.

4. Which one is more interesting, adventure stories in the books or adventure films?

I think visualising the challenge or adventure makes it much more exciting. So, I would pick adventure films. I wouldn't say books are bad, but I feel its nearly impossible to relay the difficulty of the adventure through words. Ofcourse, there are some exceptional authors like George R.R Martin and J.K Rowling who have done it, with their command over the language.

5. Who likes to read adventure books?

Adventure books appeal to individuals who enjoy thrilling and action-packed stories, often involving daring exploits, exploration, and high-stakes situations. Readers who seek excitement, suspense, and a sense of adventure are likely to be drawn to this genre.

6. Who doesn't like to take adventures?

Not everyone enjoys taking adventures as some people may prefer a more predictable and comfortable lifestyle. Individuals who value stability, routine, and a sense of security may be less inclined to seek out adventurous experiences. Personal preferences and risk tolerance can vary, shaping one's inclination towards or aversion to adventures.

50. Describe an invention that is useful in daily life

You should say:

What the invention is
 What it can do
 How popular it is Whether it is difficult or easy to use
 And explain why it is useful

OR

Describe an invention that has changed how people live. You should say:

- What it is
 - How has it changed people's lives
 - What benefits did it bring
 - And explain if it is more important for older or younger people.
- Life has progressed by leaps and bounds due to inventions in science.
 - Nearly every field in life has been impacted by some invention or the other.
 - However, today I would like to talk the invention, which has had an impact on our entire life.
 - It is the internet.
 - Nearly everything we do has changed because of the internet.
 - The biggest difference has been on the way we communicate.
 - We can talk to anyone, anytime and from anywhere.
 - Also, it is much easier to remain in contact with our friends and family members because of the internet.
 - Life has become faster as communication has become instantaneous.
 - Internet's impact is not only limited to just communication.
 - It has made a difference to the way we shop, the way we learn and the way we seek healthcare.
 - We can access every luxury, sitting in the comforts of our home.
 - On the other hand, there have also been a few negatives of the internet.
 - Internet has in some ways decreased respect for the elderly.
 - First, we don't value them as much because we are not dependent upon them for advice or suggestions as in the past.
 - We can search for anything online.
 - If we don't know anything, we don't need to ask anyone, we can just simply search it online.
 - This is making us independent, but at the same time making our grandparents and parents feel like they are losing their importance.
 - Secondly, because they are not that comfortable with use of computers and the internet, they haven't been benefited as much as the young one's have.
 - Slowly, everything is moving online and the old people are finding it challenging to adapt because of this.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What qualities do inventors have?
Inventors have a curious nature and a vision. They can think out of the box. They have patience and keep experimenting till they can make something new.
2. Do you think only scientists can invent new things?
Not necessarily. Anyone can invent something. For example, if a person needs something badly, he might invent that to meet his need. For example a chef may invent a new gadget to ease his cooking style. During the covid pandemic, many tailors came out with masks, that would fit well and yet not interfere with normal breathing. That is why it has been well said that necessity is the mother of invention.
3. What inventions do you think should be improved?
All inventions need improvement. For example, even if there is a quality mouse trap and it works just fine, you can bet that someone, somewhere is thinking about how it could work even better. That's the heart of an inventor. Inventors are never satisfied with the status quo. They constantly look for ways to make products safer, faster, smaller, more efficient, or better in some way.
4. Are there any other inventions that make the world better?
I believe all inventions have made the world better. The computer, the smart phone, the automobile are just a few. The Xray, CT scan, MRI scan are all inventions that have revolutionised the world.
5. Do all inventions bring benefits to our world?
In the right hands all inventions are beneficial, but in the wrong hands may cause havoc. The internet can be used for good communication, but can also be used to plan terrorist activities. Nuclear energy in the right hands can make the world a heaven, but in wrong hands may end the world.
6. Who should support and sponsor inventors, governments, or private companies?
The critical areas like defense and health should be under the government. All other areas should be handed over to private companies. For example, private companies may
7. How has technology made our life easier?
Different technologies have made our lives easier in different ways. However, in effect most technologies reduce our labour and save us valuable time, thus improving our quality of life considerably. They also in a way reduce our need on others because we can do everything on our own.
8. Which invention do you think is the most useful at home?
I think it's very hard to choose one. It really depends upon the person and their use. For example, I find dishwashers as very useful because in my house, I have the responsibility of washing utensils. For my mother the answer might be the vacuum cleaner as she is responsible for cleaning.
9. Is it more difficult for old people to accept new technologies?

I think change is difficult for everyone and the difficulty increases with age because the time we spend accustomed to something also increases as we grow older. I think rather than looking at it as a problem, we should be focusing on ways to making it easier for our elders to accept them.

10. What can be done to help old people learn to make use of new technologies?
Many steps can be taken to encourage the use of new technologies. Firstly, these big technology companies can organise seminars where older people can be taught about use of latest gadgets. I remember when my mother first bought a laptop, she was offered a free two hour session on its use for the whole week. At the end of the week, she knew many things, I didn't. Secondly, family members can also be helpful in helping their parents and grandparents when they are finding something difficult.
11. Will our life be better if we live without technology ?
Technology has improved our life in many ways but it has also brought many challenges. Life would certainly be simpler, but I wouldn't call it better. Moreover, I think we have become so accustomed to technology just the idea of living without it is unfathomable.

51. Describe a popular/famous person in your country

You should say:

- Who this person is
- What he or she is like
- Why you think this person is popular
- How this person influences the public

- I think, famous people play an integral/important role in our lives and every person has a favourite celebrity in their life whom they admire either secretly or openly.
- Today, I would like to talk about a sportsperson who is very popular and has been a constant source of inspiration to me and the millions of other people in our country.
- His name is Virat Kohli and he is a cricketer.
- He plays as a right-handed batsman
- He is just 34 years old and also one of the youngest players to captain Indian Cricket team.
- Before giving up captaincy, he led the Indian cricket team in all the three formats of the game i.e. One Day Internationals, Test Cricket and Twenty Twenty matches
- He is also ranked as one of the world's most famous athlete by the Forbes Magazine
- One of his greatest achievements was leading Indian Under 19 team to victory in World cup tournament
- He Debuted (note the pronunciation - debued) for India when he was only 19 years of age and since then he has never looked back and broken a lot of records.
- Currently he has the second highest number of International centuries in the game, just behind the legendary Sachin Tendulkar
- From a personality perspective, he is an aggressive player with a winning attitude and strong commitment towards the game and his fitness.
- One thing that a lot of people don't know about Kohli is that he lost his father while playing a test match for his state team but he still continued to bat and only after he had saved his team from losing, he went for the cremation of his father.
- Apart from sports, Virat Kohli also does a lot of charity through his foundation which works for better education and healthcare of underprivileged children.
- Recently, he was in the news for his marriage to famous Bollywood Actress Anushka Sharma.
- They got married in Italy and it was one of the biggest weddings of year 2017.
- I wish that he will win the 20-20 cricket world cup for India in 2023 and lead India to number one spot in all formats of the game.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think media is putting too much attention on famous people?
Yes, the media does focus more on celebs, instead of on other important issues. Actually media wants TRP, and as common people want to know more about their favourite celebs, so media puts too much attention on them. For example, Shah Rukh Khan's son was in the limelight for many days on TV for being involved in drugs, whereas Abhinav Bindra and Neeraj Chopra who won gold medals in the Olympics in rifle shooting and javelin throw were out from media's attention in a day or two.
2. Do you think famous people are necessarily good in their fields?
Most of them are. Actually that is what made them famous in the first place. But the media also thrusts fame upon some of them and they become stars even if they are not too good in their fields.
3. What are the differences between famous people today and those in the past?
Today's famous people are backed by media very strongly, whereas in the past the media did not have that much reach. Secondly today's famous people are mostly from sports and entertainment, whereas in the past they were from politics and academics also.
4. What kinds of famous people are there in your country?
There are many famous people in my country. Actors, actresses, sportsmen, and those who have some extraordinary talent are there in my country.
5. Why are some kids popular at school?
Some kids are very popular at school because of being good at studies, sports or any extra- curricular activities. Some are born extroverts and so make friends with many others and become popular.
6. Why do some people become famous but not successful?
Some people become famous but not successful because after becoming famous, they become complacent and stop working hard. So, they can't meet the people's expectations and so go into oblivion very soon. For example, Bhagyashree's first movie was a super hit, but then she faded away from the public eye very soon because her later work did not appeal to them.
7. Are actors or actresses very interested in the work? Why?
Yes, I believe actors and actresses are very interested in their work because if they were not interested, then they would not put their heart and soul into acting, and then they would not be successful in their life.
8. Is being a professional actor or actress a good career?
Yes, I believe being a professional actor or actress is a good career. If one is successful, one can earn much more than in any other profession. However, I also believe that it is a very demanding profession. It requires total dedication and perseverance. Only then can an actor or actress survive in today's era of cutthroat competition.

9. What can children learn from acting?

Children can learn a lot from acting. Firstly, it builds confidence. While acting, they interact with people of all ages and so it also builds social skills. It also improves their public speaking skills which are very important in adult life. Acting also teaches them discipline and patience. Children have to memorize lines, and so it also sharpens their memory.

10. Why do children like special costumes?

Children like special costumes because it makes them enter a world of fantasy, and they imagine situations around those costumes which increases their creativity and give them happiness.

11. What are the differences between actors or actresses who earn much and those who earn little?

Actors who earn much enjoy name, fame, and a world of luxury, whereas those who earn little suffer from frustration and depression and also may have suicidal tendencies.

12. What are the differences between acting in the theatre and that in the film?

Acting in the theatre and that in the film is totally different. In theatre performance, actors have just one chance to get it right. There are no retakes. Secondly, the distance between the audience and the actor is much more in theatre acting. So, actors have to exaggerate facial expressions and gestures so that every audience member can see what's going on. However, in films, the camera can get extremely close to the actor, which closes the gap between the audience and the actors. So actors on film must use subtle, controlled and natural expressions and body language. Finally, stage actors must deliver the same performance with new energy each time they perform.

13. What are the qualities of being popular?

A popular person is one who is a people's person. He should be friendly and approachable by people. He should be helpful and empathetic. He should be a good listener and try to lead by example.

14. Do you know any popular star who likes helping other people?

Many celebs are attached to some charity organisations or are running their own NGOs. Salman Khan has his charity 'Being Human', which is doing a lot for Charity.

15. Do you think children should imitate their idols?

It is not a question of whether they should. We have to realise that they will always imitate. So, the onus is on the celebs to be good role models and do what is good to be imitated.

16. What influence do popular stars have on teenagers?

Teenagers want to be like their favourite celebs. They take them as their idol. They are influenced in both good and bad ways. If their popular star is endorsing any product then teenagers blindly want to buy that product even if they don't need it. If their popular star is doing something good, such as helping the poor, teenagers also go out and do the same.

52. Describe the game you enjoyed playing when you were younger.

You should say

- What is that game.
- Who you played it with.
- Where did you play the game
- and explain why you enjoyed playing that game.

- I loved playing different types of games with sister and friends when I was younger.
- I used to play board games like chess, snakes and ladder and Ludo.
- I also had a set of action figures- GI Joes and I loved playing with them with my friends.
- However, my favourite game during that time was hide and seek.
- During my childhood, one of my best friend's father was a government servant.
- They had this huge government bungalow.
- It was an old British period house.
- Moreover, they also had a huge lawn with many trees.
- In short, there was no shortage of hiding places and that's what made it so fun.
- It was normally four of us, my friend Jasjot, whose house it was and our two common friends, Saral and Navneet.
- Sometimes, Jasjot's sister also joined us.
- The purpose of the game was simple, one person had to find all others in a limited time period.
- The person whose turn it was to find had to count for 60 secs with closed eyes before starting.
- However, the house was very big, so we had to keep some rules.
- Some parts of the house were forbidden, for example Jasjot parent's bedroom.
- Sometimes, we allowed changing hiding locations and sometimes we didn't.
- Basically, we just thought of rules according to the situation.
- If the hiders were getting caught easily, we made it easier for them and if the finder was finding it difficult we made it easier for him.
- We all took turns finding and hiding.
- I still vividly remember the four of us making fun of each other, finding the weirdest places to hide - like inside the washing machine.
- Hide and seek gets boring after a certain time, when the person figures out all the hiding locations.
- However, his house was so big that it seemed like there were millions of hiding spots.
- I think that's why I enjoyed it so much.
- Moreover, there was no technology in those days, only one of us had a computer, so hide and seek was our favourite game those days.

OR

- I loved to play Chinese Checkers as a child. It is a board game which can be played by two to six players.
- Each player selects one of the six colours on the board and gets ten pegs to move and manipulate to reach the opposite triangular house.
- Whoever does it first is the winner.
- I used to play it with my parents and my brother.

- We would usually play it at home in the evenings when everyone was free or on a holiday.
- I loved this game because one had to think of ways to make the best move to stay ahead of others.
- It was very enjoyable also because one had to move ten pegs not just one.
- And I loved it because we could all together have great fun trying to outdo each other.

4. Should games only be interesting or only to learn ?

- The primary goal of games is to provide mental and physical stimulation so they do need to be interesting.

5. Is winning important in games ?

- No winning and losing are a part of games. You win some and lose some. They teach one that life is a balance of both victory and defeat .

6. Is it more satisfying to win in a team than as an individual ?

- Winning is always exciting whether individually or in a team. If I win individually I feel a sense of great achievement and if I win in a team I feel our bonding becomes strong with each other.

7. Why are some people bad losers?

- People who are very competitive find it difficult to lose. They do not understand that winning is partly their effort and partly due to luck.

53. Describe someone you know who has recently moved to a new place

You should say:

- Who he/she is
 - What the new place is like
 - Why he/she moved to a new place
 - And explain whether his or her move has a positive impact on you
- People move to a new place for two main reason, for job and for education.
 - Recently, my cousin went to Victoria, Canada for her higher education.
 - It was her dream to go there.
 - She had wanted to go there since her childhood.
 - So, she was very happy when she got her visa and her dream was fulfilled.
 - Whenever, we talk on phone, she can't stop talking about how amazing Canada is.
 - The one thing, she really loved was the changing colours of leaves during fall.
 - India doesn't have fall season, so it was all really new for her.
 - The education system is also completely different.
 - There is a lot more focus on practical knowledge.
 - She moved there into an apartment and she has her own individual room.
 - In India she lived in a house but she didn't have her own house.
 - She had to share a room with her younger sister.
 - At first, she was very delighted to have a whole room to herself and she has told me many times, she misses sharing the bed with her sister.
 - Her moving there was a big inspiration for me.
 - Once I saw how amazing life was in Canada, I also decided to go there for my higher education.
 - However, I know it is not going to be easy.
 - She had to work very hard to get there.
 - Both of us come from Punjabi medium schools.
 - She worked really hard on her English to clear the IELTS exam.
 - Moreover, she knew she wouldn't be able to survive there if she couldn't speak English well.
 - I saw how she worked on her English everyday.
 - She used to watch English TV shows and read English newspaper daily.
 - Slowly, her English got better over time and now she speaks English so fluently.
 - If it hadn't been for her, I would never have dreamt of studying in Canada.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why young people move to a new accommodation?

There are many reasons why young people move to a new accommodation. Firstly, they move to new place for work or study. Secondly they move to new place for privacy and independence. There are many advantages of living with parents but after reaching a certain age, people prefer to live according to their wishes and that's why they move to a new place.

2. Is there any other reason besides that ?

Yes, people may also move to new place because their old accommodation might not have enough place for their whole family. I remember my father bought a new house, because there were only two rooms in our old home and we had to sleep on the floor when guests visited us.

3. What's the difference between living alone and living with roommates?

Living alone provides independence, privacy, and the freedom to make decisions without considering others. Living with roommates offers companionship, shared responsibilities, and the opportunity for social interaction and cost-sharing.

4. Is it beneficial for young people to live by themselves?

Living by themselves can be beneficial for young people as it promotes independence, self-reliance, and personal growth. It allows them to develop important life skills, learn to manage their own responsibilities, and gain a sense of autonomy. However, individual circumstances and preferences should be considered, as some young people may thrive better in shared living arrangements for social support and cost-sharing opportunities.

5. Besides cooking, are there any other skills that people need to learn if they live on their own? Living on their own entails acquiring various skills beyond cooking. Essential skills include budgeting and financial management, home maintenance and repair, time management, basic cleaning and organization, laundry, and grocery shopping. Additionally, problem-solving, self-care, and interpersonal skills are valuable for independent living.

6. What kinds of people tend to live by themselves?

Various types of people choose to live by themselves, including young adults seeking independence, individuals who prioritize privacy and solitude, professionals with demanding careers, introverts who thrive in solitary environments, and those who have gone through major life changes like divorce or loss of a partner. Living alone can be preferred by individuals who value autonomy and enjoy the freedom to create their own living space and routines.

7. How can parents and teachers help young people to live independently?

Parents and teachers can help young people live independently by fostering a sense of responsibility and self-reliance. They can encourage decision-making skills, teach practical life skills such as budgeting, cooking, and household chores, provide guidance in goal-setting and time management, and offer emotional support and encouragement. Creating a supportive environment that allows young people to learn from their mistakes and grow in confidence is crucial in nurturing their independence.

54. Describe an occasion when you got incorrect information

You should say:

- When you got it
 - How you got it
 - How you found it was incorrect
 - And how you felt about it
- Sometimes, we are provided with incorrect information, and although such instances are rare, they can cause a lot of trouble.
 - I experienced a similar situation when my cousin was looking to take admission in a college for Hotel Management.
 - Last year, after her class 12 results, we researched various colleges offering the course and settled on an institute in Dehradun.
 - However, the website provided a lot of misleading information about the college. Unfortunately, when we visited the college, none of the claims turned out to be true.
 - The college was portrayed as a grand institution on the website, but in reality, it was nothing more than a small two-room establishment tucked away in the hotel's backyard. We were shocked to see the stark difference between the website's portrayal and the actual college.
 - To manage the situation, we immediately decided to cancel our admission plans and started looking for alternative options.
 - Eventually, my cousin changed her mind and decided to pursue a course in Mass Communication.
 - We found a university near our city where she got admitted, and she is now thriving in her studies there.
 - It was a lesson for us to be cautious and verify information from reliable sources before making important decisions.
 - The experience taught us the importance of thorough research and not solely relying on online information when it comes to educational institutions.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kind of professions are related to giving information to others?
Most professions have to give out some information, but the main professions are the media and the advertising. People working in these sectors have to give out information all the time.
2. What is the difference between giving information by phone and email?
When information is given by mail, the person reads at his leisure, but on phone the recipient has to listen then and there. The info on phone is generally brief, but an email can be very elaborate. Email is generally more authentic because it is a proof of the info, but a phone call can be from some fake person.
3. How can people check whether a piece of information is correct or not?
People can ask someone or check from various sources on the internet. But yes, one has to be sharp enough to make out which sites are authentic and which are not.
4. Do people trust the information online?
Yes, people trust on the information online, but only if they know about the site beforehand. Otherwise they are skeptical and try to look for more sites which are authentic. People do not blindly follow any website.
5. What's the difference between email and phone in terms of providing information?
Email provides a written record and allows for detailed and formal communication, making it suitable for conveying complex information and documentation. Phone calls offer immediate and interactive communication, allowing for real-time clarification, quick exchanges, and the ability to convey tone and emotion. The choice between email and phone depends on the nature of the information and the desired mode of interaction.
6. Which do you think is the better way to provide information, by phone or by email?
I think, the choice between providing information by phone or email depends on the specific circumstances and preferences of the individuals involved. Email offers a written record and is suitable for detailed or complex information, while phone calls provide immediate interaction and the ability to convey tone. Both methods have their advantages, and the best approach may vary based on factors such as urgency, complexity, and personal communication style.

55. Describe a valuable item that you would like to give as a gift

- To whom you would like to give
- What do you want to gift
- Why do you want to give it
- How long would you need to save for it.

Or Describe an expensive gift that you would like to give someone when you save a lot of money

You should say:

What the gift is

Who you will give the gift to

How long it will take to save the money

And explain why you would like to give the gift to this person

- I really like giving gifts to my family members and friends.
- And I equally like receiving gifts as well.
- Today, I would like to talk about an expensive item I want to buy for my nephew.
- Last year, my nephew came to stay with me during the summer vacations.
- During that time we played a lot on Play Station.
- We also developed a great bond due to the time we spent together.
- Whenever we talk on the phones, he talks about the games we played on the Play Station and how eager he is to visit me during the next summer, so we can play again together.
- However, my sister told me they won't be able to visit us during the next summer as she is working during that time.
- She hasn't told him yet, but I know he will be heartbroken when he learns he won't be able to visit me.
- So, I want to gift my nephew a PlayStation 5.
- That way, we can play together online.
- Plus, I want to see his surprised face, when he opens the box.
- There is no better feeling than to see a smile on our loved one's faces.
- The PlayStation costs around Rs 50000 and I work part time nowadays.
- With my part time salary, it would take me around four five months at least to be able to afford it.
- That means, I won't be able to get it before August.
- So, I am planning to borrow some money from my parents to gift it to him

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What do you think young people save money for?

I think young people save money for mainly two things, technological gadgets like smartphones, laptops and computers and clothes and secondly, branded clothes and fashion accessories like clothes, belts, purses and so on. Besides that, in some countries, youth also save money for higher education.

2. What is the difference between men and women saving money?

I don't think there is any difference. It really depends upon the individual rather than the gender. If the person has a strong willpower, they are able to save money easily. Otherwise, it can be really hard.

3. Do you think it is better to spend money or save money?

We should always try to save a fixed proportion for rainy days, but at the same time, we should stop enjoying life. Life is short and we should also enjoy when we get the opportunity

4. Do you think children's knowledge of money comes from school or family?

I think it comes from both. There are certainly lessons and concepts in subjects like math which teach students about money, but parents also teach a lot of money management. I think the knowledge in school is more theoretical, whereas we learn more by observing our parents, so it has a bigger impact.

5. Do you think schools should increase their awareness of money?

Definitely, I think money management is an important life lesson and schools should definitely include subjects on it. A lot of youngsters are very careless with money, because they have no prior knowledge on it and sometimes they regret overspending later. So there should certainly be lessons about responsible spending and saving money in schools.

6. Is it easy for people to save money to buy something expensive?

Saving money to buy something expensive can be challenging for people as it requires discipline, budgeting, and long-term financial planning. It often involves sacrificing immediate gratification and prioritizing saving over spending to reach the desired goal

7. Should children have pocket money? Why?

Providing children with pocket money can be beneficial as it teaches them about financial responsibility, budgeting, and making independent choices. It allows them to learn the value of money, practice decision-making, and develop skills in saving, spending, and managing their own finances within reasonable limits.

8. Should children learn how to use money at school or from their parents?

Children can benefit from learning about money both at school and from their parents. Schools can provide structured financial education that covers topics such as budgeting, saving, and basic financial concepts. Parents play a crucial role in teaching practical money skills and instilling good financial habits through everyday experiences and discussions about money management

9. Why can't some people save money?

Several factors can make it difficult for some people to save money. These may include low income, high living expenses, debt obligations, lack of financial literacy, impulsive spending habits, or unexpected financial emergencies. Addressing these challenges often requires a combination of budgeting, financial planning, and potentially seeking assistance or financial education to develop better saving habits.

56. Describe a piece of clothing you wear most often OR a piece of clothing you enjoy wearing

You should say:

- What it is like
- When and where you got it?
- How often you wear it
- And explain why you enjoy wearing it

OR

Describe your favourite clothes.

- What is it like?
- Who gave it to you or where you bought it?
- How often do you wear it?
- Explain how you feel about it or why you enjoy wearing it?

- Fashion has become a passion for many people today, and I am no exception. I love trying out new outfits every day, especially for functions or special occasions.
- I have a vast collection of different dresses and suits in my wardrobe.
- Here, I would like to talk about a traditional suit that was gifted to me by my maternal aunt on my birthday.
- It is a bottle green suit with magenta and golden embroidery, accompanied by a multi-colored stole featuring a golden lace on all sides.
- The suit is beautifully adorned with golden beads, giving it an ethnic touch. Additionally, the stole is made of crinkled silk, adding to its elegance.
- Along with the suit, my aunt also gave me matching accessories, including a golden beaded purse.
- When I wear the suit, I always pair it with my traditional Punjabi shoes, as they perfectly complement the outfit.
- Whenever I wear this suit, I receive compliments from everyone around me, which boosts my confidence and makes me feel good.
- Interestingly, during my vacation, I stayed with my aunt in Chandigarh, where she runs cooking hobby classes. I assisted her in managing the classes, allowing her to accommodate more students.
- As a token of appreciation, she offered me money, but I declined because I didn't help her for monetary gain.
- Instead, as a heartfelt gesture, she decided to buy me this expensive suit as a birthday gift.
- I genuinely adore the suit and have worn it on numerous occasions, including my college farewell, where it added a touch of grace to the event.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What is the difference between the dressing style of young people and that of older people? The dressing styles of young people and older people differ significantly. Younger individuals often prefer more Western attire, such as long dresses, skirts, jeans, and T-shirts, sometimes with a blend of Indian and Western influences. On the other hand, older people often favor traditional clothing, which they find more comfortable and familiar.

2. Do people living in the northern part of your country wear different clothes compared to those living in the south?

Yes, there are notable differences in clothing between the northern and southern regions of India. In the north, suits are more popular, while women in the south commonly wear saris. Additionally, men in the south often wear a garment called a lungi, which is less commonly worn in the north.

People in my country often wear traditional clothes during cultural festivals, religious ceremonies, weddings, and other special occasions that celebrate their heritage. Traditional attire reflects our cultural identity and is worn as a way to honor our customs and traditions.

8. Does the climate affect what people wear?

Yes, the climate affects what people wear. In hot weather, people tend to wear light and breathable clothing to stay cool, while in cold weather, they wear layers and warmer garments to stay warm. The climate influences clothing choices based on comfort, protection, and adaptation to the environment.

57. Describe an occasion when you spent time with a young child

- When was it
 - Who the child was
 - Why did you spend time with the child
 - Explain what you did and how did you feel
- I love playing sports and games.
 - So, I love spending time with children.
 - Today, I want to talk about a time when I spent time with my nephew.
 - Last year, my sister and her children came to stay with us during the summer vacations.
 - My sister and my niece wanted to do some shopping, so they went to the mall and left me home with my nephew.
 - We had a blast.
 - The first thing we did was to order ourselves a pizza.
 - Then we played on the Play Station for a while.
 - We both love playing Fifa and though my nephew is a lot younger than me, he beat me in all the games.
 - I am getting better though and the next time he visits, I'll beat him for sure.
 - After playing Fifa, we went out and played badminton in the nearby park.
 - While playing he saw an ice cream truck and then he started throwing a tantrum for one.
 - My sister had especially forbidden me to get him ice cream as he had already eaten one in the morning.
 - When I told him no, he started crying and he would leave the park.
 - Ultimately I bought him the ice cream and made him promise not to tell my sister.
 - He broke the promise as soon as he saw my sister.
 - I really enjoyed spending time with my nephew but at the end of it all, I also felt exhausted.
 - He is full of energy and he can't sit idle for one second.
 - I guess that's why they say raising kids isn't as easy as it seems.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think there are too many rules for young children to follow, whether at school or at home?

It depends on how you look at it. If rules are taken as unnecessary nuisance then they may seem too many . But if taken as a means to discipline then they at not seem so. I don't think children have too many rules to follow.

2. Do you think children should follow all the rules?

Yes Children should try to follow as many rules as possible so as to grow into disciplined and responsible adults.

3. Do you think it's necessary for parents to take decisions for their children?

Yes when the children are too young and can't understand the implications (outcomes) of their decisions parents should take the decision on their behalf.

4. Do you think it's good for parents to help children choose friends?

Parents can guide them in selecting their friends to a certain extent, friends are made from the heart , ultimately the child will chose those friends who appeal to him.

5. Where do children usually play?

Very young children and toddlers like to play somewhere close to the grown ups. Older children like to be more independent so they like to play outdoors and don't mind being away from their parents.

6. While traveling with children, which of the parents takes more care of the children?

In the modern day both parents take turns to look after their children. In new surroundings maybe the father takes the lead to take care of his offspring.

7. How do parents teach children to respect people?

The best way for parents to teach children how to respect others is by setting an example to them. Children are like monkeys, they automatically follow what others do.

8. Do outdoor activities help children?

Yes, it helps in two ways. It makes children more agile and fit and secondly it helps them to develop social skill as they meet and spend time with other children when they do these activities.

9. What is the difference between the outdoor activities children play now and before?

The first difference is that children don't do outdoor activities nowadays because they spend most of their time on phones and computer. Secondly, children had a lot more freedom to do activities like they could swim in lakes, explore forests and caves, whereas nowadays, children mainly spend time on a mainstream sports like football, cricket and so on. Perhaps, this is because sports amenities were not so developed in the past and also there was less crime so parents felt safe letting their children play unsupervised.

10. Which side, the father or the mother, invests more experience in caring for the child? Why? How can we change this?

I think normally, mothers spend more time on caring for children. One reason is traditional inertia. In the past, women were mostly homemakers and men used to work, so women used to care for the children. Although most women are working nowadays, they are still considered more responsible for taking care of children. Secondly, its because of biology. In other words, as women give birth, they also develop a sense of affection and care towards children that men cannot. I don't think we can change this completely, but its slowly happening on it own.

58. Describe a sports program you like to watch

- What is it?
- Who do you watch it with?
- When do you watch it?
- Why do you like to watch it?

- I am big sports fan.
- I watch all kinds of sports like cricket, basketball, badminton, football and so on.
- But my favourite is cricket.
- So it should come as no surprise that my favourite sports program is also based on cricket.
- Its name is Breakfast with Champions.
- On this show, the anchor invites various cricketers and interviews them casually while sharing a meal with them.
- Funnily, although the show is called Breakfast with Champions, they normally have lunch or dinner together.
- As most cricketers have practice in the morning.
- I don't remember the name of the anchor, but he is the reason I love this show much.
- He makes the cricketers feel very comfortable and while talking they share some of their most exciting off and on field stories.
- Its fun to hear some of the dressing home stories and pranks they have played on each other.
- I started watching it randomly, when YouTube recommended me one of its episodes
- It was the episode with Ashish Nehra, a famous Indian ex-cricketer, who is retired now. However, he was still playing at the time of the interview.
- It was one of the most entertaining interviews I had seen.
- After that, I watched another episode with Virat Kohli, the most famous Indian cricketer at the moment.
- I was surprised when I saw that the show was on the 6th season.
- In fact, that episode with Ashish Nehra got viral and that's when most people came to know about this amazing TV show.
- I don't have a fixed time for watching it, I just randomly play an episode while having dinner and I normally watch it alone.

1. What sports are popular in India?

The most popular sport in India is certainly cricket. However, in recent years because of the coming of premier leagues, whereas other sports like kabaddi, hockey and football have also started becoming popular.

2. Why do children need sports?

First, sports help children remain physically fit. Their importance has increased all the more because of increasing consumption of fast food and sedentary lifestyles. Secondly, sports also help children to relax and reduce stress. It takes their mind away from the academics and gives them a much needed break. Lastly, sports help develop social skills as children learn to adjust with other children.

3. How can parents develop an interest in sports among children?

Speaking from personal experience, I became interested in sports because my father loved playing sports with us. Every evening, he used to play cricket and badminton with us. So, firstly parents should themselves play sports. Secondly, I think parents should strictly limit the time children spend on gadgets. I think most children don't play sports nowadays because of electronic games.

4. What are the benefits of exercise?

Exercise has numerous benefits, including improved physical health through weight management, increased strength and flexibility, and reduced risk of chronic diseases. It also enhances mental well-being by reducing stress, boosting mood, and improving cognitive function. Additionally, regular exercise promotes better sleep, increases energy levels, and enhances overall quality of life.

- Alertness and presence of mind is very important to take the aircraft through bad weather conditions and other emergencies.
- Flexibility of schedule requires one to be able to adjust to new work timings all the time.
- This may cause stress to some.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What jobs are popular among younger people in India?

The most popular jobs among youth nowadays are jobs in I.T and jobs in social media. Many youngsters have their own YouTube and Instagram channels and they look it as a career rather than as a hobby. Besides that, many are also taking up sports as a career because of successful sports leagues like IPL in cricket.

2. What are the differences between high-paid jobs and low-paid jobs in India?

In India, mental acumen is given much more importance than physical labour. So people with good academics get much higher salaries than people who do physical labour like plumbers, carpenters and so on.

Secondly, in India status mainly comes from wealth, so high paid jobs are given more respect than low paid jobs.

3. What is the proper time for young people to plan their future career seriously?

I think the right time for young people to plan their future is around the age of sixteen to eighteen. By this time, they have studied different subjects and have a good idea about what interests them. Moreover, by this age most children have become mature to take decisions after careful consideration rather than based on their whims and fancies.

4. Which jobs have the highest salaries?

I think artists like actors and singers earn the highest salaries nowadays. In the traditional sectors, I think jobs in I.T and management have the highest salaries on average. Finally, people can also earn a lot of money in commission based jobs like sales, but the average salaries in sales are not that extreme.

5. Which jobs pay low wages but require a high level of skills?

In my countries, there are jobs in sectors like woodwork, plumbing and auto repair, which are highly skill based. However, their pay scale is much less than they deserve. But, In recent years, there has been a change in this and even people in such fields have started earning well.

6. Do you think it is important for secondary schools to offer career advice to students?

I think there is no harm in schools in offering career advice to students as students don't have the maturity or experience in determining what they should pursue. However, I also believe that students should ultimately take the decision themselves

60. Describe your idea of a perfect home or dream house where you want to live

Sample answer (For those who live in villages):

- Currently, I live in a village.
- My house is very big and has many rooms, as well as open space in the front and back.
- However, for every small requirement, we have to rush to the village.
- My dream home would be in the suburbs of my hometown.
- There, I would get the best of both worlds.
- I would be near the facilities of the city while enjoying the calm and peaceful atmosphere of the village.
- I would not like to live in a big house because big houses are difficult to maintain.
- My ideal house would have three bedrooms, a lobby, a kitchen, a small lawn in the front, and a kitchen garden in the backyard.
- I am very fond of gardening.
- I would grow coriander, mint, aubergine, okra, tomatoes, green chilies, and some other seasonal vegetables.
- I would use only organic fertilizers, such as homemade compost from kitchen waste, and avoid using any insecticides or pesticides.
- All the rooms of my house would be well-lit and airy, with the bathrooms and kitchen equipped with the latest fittings.
- Additionally, I would have solar panels set up on the terrace to harness solar energy.
- I would love to welcome and entertain friends and relatives in my house, which I would keep spic and span.
- I hope to live in such a house one day.

Sample answer (For those who live in cities):

- Currently, I live in a city.
- My house is not very big, but it has three bedrooms and some open space in the front and back.
- However, it is located in a very noisy and congested area.
- My dream house would be in the suburbs of my hometown.

- Additionally, I would have solar panels set up on the terrace to harness solar energy.
- I would love to welcome and entertain friends and relatives in my house, which I would keep spic and span.
- I hope to live in such a house one day.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the most common architectural styles in Indian cities?

I think in bigger cities, apartments and flats are the most common type of buildings, while in smaller cities single storey or double storey houses are the most common. The modern Indian architecture is not about a certain style but rather about best utilization of space.

2. What's the difference between an apartment and a house?

An apartment is smaller and so easier to maintain. Secondly it is cheaper as compared to house. However one cannot add or change much in an apartment, whereas in a house one can add a room or make any changes as per ones requirement. Also, there is more privacy in a house.

3. What's the difference between living in the countryside and living in the city?

By living in a countryside a person can be in the lap of nature, whereas cities are concrete jungles nowadays. On the other hand cities provide more and better facilities of health, education and entertainment.

4. What are the advantages of the facilities of the apartment and the facilities of the house? In apartments there are common facilities like gym, playground and swimming pool which all people can enjoy. Also the plumber, electrician and other such maintenance facilities are always at hand. There is more security in the apartments as generally there are guards at the entrance and exit of the apartment blocks. However, one has to maintain harmony with other people in the apartments as there are chances of conflicts. In houses, there is more freedom for keeping pets and having a lawn in front and a kitchen garden at the back.

5. What difficulties do people have living in the city?

People face air and noise pollution and traffic congestion in cities. The cost of living is also high in cities. Then, crime is also more in cities as compared to villages.

6. Do most Indian people live in an apartment or house?

I think it depends on the region they are living in. In most of the big cities, like the metropolitan cities, people live in apartments, as there is a scarcity of land in such places and to accommodate the ever-increasing population, there are more and more apartment buildings being built. However, in the small cities, towns and the countryside, we can find people mostly living in houses, rather than apartments.

7. Do young people in your country like to live with their parents or by themselves?

In my country, young people like to live with their parents, unless they have to move to another city or country, for higher education or for better career prospects. It's a part of the Indian culture for children to live with their parents.

8. Do Indian people like to rent a place to live?

No, Indian people do not like to rent a place to live. I think it's the dream of almost every Indian to own his/her own house.

9. Would you live in a foreign country in the future?

Yes, definitely. I would like to live in a foreign country in the future. I plan to pursue my education abroad. I think there are better education facilities and better job opportunities in developed countries.

10. How is modern home design in your country different to that of the past?

The modern home design is very different to that of the past, in my country. The material being used now in the construction of houses is much advanced, like weather proof paints, insulated walls, soundproof windows, etc. The design of the modern houses is according to the space available. There is better utilization of space in the modern home designs. The homes in the past used to be more spacious and not equipped to handle the latest electronic gadgets and equipment, like washing machine, microwave, dishwashers & so on.

11. In your country what type of home do most people live in?

India is a vast and diverse country. People live in different types of houses, depending on the region and the climate in that region. For example, in the eastern parts of India, houses made from bamboo are very common. In regions where there is snowfall, sloped houses are common. In plain areas, people design their houses, as per the area and space available.

12. Do people prefer to live in modern homes or the older style homes (for example from 50 years ago)?

People prefer to live in modern homes rather than older style homes because modern homes are better equipped to handle the latest electronic gadgets and technology. Also, the material used to build modern homes is better, for instance, weather proof paints, earthquake proof design, etc. The modern homes are planned better to utilize the space properly.

13. How are modern homes different to older homes?

Modern homes are quite different from the older homes, in terms of the design, material used and the structure of the building. Older homes were more spacious, with proper ventilation. Modern homes are designed to properly utilize the space, due to the shortage of land these days. These days, people employ interior designers and architects to plan and decorate their homes. Older homes may not be equipped to handle the latest electronic gadgets and appliances.

61. Describe a movie you watched recently that you felt disappointed about

- When it was
 - Why you didn't like it
 - Why you decided to watch it
 - And explain why you felt disappointed about it
- Nowadays, there is so much content to watch online because of streaming websites like Netflix, Amazon Prime, Apple and so on.
 - As there is so much choice, I am very selective about what I watch.
 - In fact, I only watch something after reading the reviews.
 - Recently I watched a English movie, Avatar 2.
 - It comes in the science-fiction genre.
 - Its the sequel to the movie Avatar, which was released around 10 years back
 - I watched Avatar with my parents at a multiplex in Jalandhar.
 - I remember we all loved it so much.
 - So, I had high expectations from the movie.
 - This time my parents were busy, so I went and watched it with a friend.
 - He was also really excited about the movie.
 - We watched the movie on the day of its release.
 - However, the movie was a big disappointment.
 - The main reason was that there was nothing different from the first part.
 - Its storyline was also not as good.
 - In the first movie, there was a constant thrill and excitement.
 - My eyes were glued to the screen throughout the movie.
 - However, this movie was a very slow.
 - Nothing happened in the first half and the although there was action in the second half, it barely lasted 15 minutes.
 - I think the main reason for my disappointment was my high expectations.
 - I watched the first movie four five times, because I loved it so much.
 - So naturally I was very hyped for the second movie.
 - If I didn't compare it with the first movie, it was not a bad movie.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

What types of movies are popular in India?

India is big country and many genres are popular in our country. However, if I had a pick a few genres, I would say action, comedy and romance movies are the most popular. In recent years, science fiction movies and animated movies have also become popular because of improvement in technology.

Why are Japanese animation movies so popular?

I think its because of their storyline. I personally watch Japanese animation even as a adult and I find that their storyline is quite unique. Their stories appeal not only to adults but also children.

Does the older generation like animation movies?

Most elderly consider that animation is for children and thus they don't give it a try. There are some really good anime movies and tv shows out there, which even the elderly would like if they try and watch them.

Do famous actors have an impact on movies?

Yes, certainly. Famous actors have a big fan following and some of their fans watch their movies even if they don't get good reviews. I remember movies which became blockbusters despite average storyline because of the presence of famous actors.

Should famous actors be given extra money?

I think famous actors have a big role in increasing viewership and ultimately the profits a movie garners. So, I don't consider their higher salaries unjustified. However, I also feel that the difference in salaries for the same role shouldn't be hug.

62. Describe someone you know who often helps others

You should say:

What he/she is like

How he/she helps others

Why his/her help is beneficial

And explain why he/she helps others

OR

Describe a person who helps others in his or her spare time.

- Who is this person?
- How often does this person help others?
- How does this person help others?
- Why does this person help others?
- How do you feel about this person?

- We live in a world that is full of people with different natures and attitudes.
- Some individuals find joy in achieving success, while others find bliss in helping others.
- Today, I would like to talk about one such person whose life motto is to help others and fight for human rights.
- His name is Prabloch Singh.
- He is in his early thirties and is tall and handsome.
- He has graduated in Computers and works with an IT company.
- But after his work hours, he takes on the role of a superhero, where his mission is to help as many people as possible.
- He is also the founder of a human rights organization called Middle Finger Protests.
- His journey for human rights and causes started when he was very young.
- He helped bring justice for the family of an air hostess who was murdered in a bar by an influential person.
- Even though he received many threats to his life, he continued his protests to fight for justice.
- His role was also portrayed in a movie called "No One Killed Jessica."
- Similarly, he has led various other protests to bring justice to other victims.
- He also engages in a lot of charity and social work by organizing free food stalls and distributing clothes to the needy.
- He has been awarded at the national and international level for his contribution to humanitarian causes.
- He has also represented India as an ambassador for Human Rights at the United Nations Headquarters in New York.
- The best thing about him is that he is not afraid to fight for the right cause, even if he has to make many sacrifices.
- He is an inspiration for today's generation.
- When I talk about him, I feel motivated that I should also give back to society.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do people nowadays help others more than in the past?

There have always been helpful people in every era, and they have used the means available to them to help others in need. However, I believe that people now have more means and resources to help others due to advancements in technology, which wasn't possible in the past.

2. Who should teach children to help others, parents or teachers?

Both parents and teachers share the responsibility of ensuring that children learn to help others. Parents should serve as role models, and teachers can incorporate lessons and activities in schools to instill this value in children.

3. In what kind of professions do people help others more?

I believe that people in all professions have the opportunity to help others, either directly or indirectly through their products and services. However, those working in social/community service fields, such as NGOs promoting child education, women empowerment, and other social issues, often have more direct involvement in helping others.

4. Why are some people willing to help others?

People who are empathetic, sensitive, and compassionate are more willing to help others. These values are often instilled in them by their parents, teachers, and other influential figures during their upbringing.

5. How can children help their parents at home?

Children can help their parents with small chores at home like taking out the trash, washing utensils after meals and cleaning. They can also help their parents by being independent and doing their tasks themselves for example getting ready, doing their homework and eating food on time.

6. Should children be taught to help others?

Surely, I think it should be inculcated in children from a very young age. I think if children don't learn how to help others, they won't be able to make friends also.

7. What makes children help each other at school?

The main reason is that children know each other's feelings as they belong to the same age group. They believe they can help each other better than adults.

8. Should students do community service? Why?

Yes, students should do community service as it builds very important qualities in them such as discipline and taking responsibility. It also builds a sense of ownership among them for the society. In short, they feel more connected with the society.

9. Do students in your country do volunteer work?

Unfortunately no. In India, parents focus a lot of academics and thus students find it very hard to give time to activities beyond studies and computer games. Parents do not allow their children to do volunteer work.

10. Why do some people do volunteer work all over the world?

Firstly, it is to gain experience. In today's competitive world, it is very difficult to get jobs without experience and so many people work to build up their resume. Secondly, people do volunteer to get a sense of contribution towards the society.

63. Describe an occasion when you lost your way.

You should say

- Where you were
 - What happened
 - How you felt
 - And explain how you found your way
- I am very good with directions and I don't normally lose my way.
 - However, I have lost my way sometimes when I visit a new place.
 - Recently, my friend got engaged and I went to their house to congratulate them.
 - They moved to the suburbs recently as my friend's father retired.
 - I had never been to their new house before.
 - But I thought I will just feed their new house address in the navigation app and just follow it.
 - That's the first mistake I made.
 - I had used the app quite a few times and I had rarely faced an issue.
 - However, it was a newly built suburb and the app hadn't been updated.
 - The app took me on deserted mud road.
 - I had a feeling that I might be going in the wrong direction but I blindly trusted the app.
 - That was my second mistake.
 - I kept on going on that road and eventually reached a dead end.
 - Even at that time, I wasn't worried because I thought I would just call my friend and he would guide me.
 - I shouldn't be too far from his house.
 - However, when I checked there was no mobile phone connectivity on that road.
 - I couldn't even call anyone.
 - I decided to backtrack till I got connectivity but I think I took a wrong turn somewhere and I got even more lost.
 - That's when I felt afraid for the first time.
 - It was also turning dark.
 - Finally, I saw a small roadside tea shop.
 - I asked the shop owner if they knew the address.
 - He didn't know the address but he knew my friend's father.
 - He took me to their address and that's how I finally got out of this predicament.
 - I still use the navigation maps these days but I am not overly reliant on them like before.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do people feel when they get lost?

I think nowadays people don't feel that stressed when they lose their way. Because they have mobile phones and navigation apps like google maps and apple maps to help them. Moreover, they can also call someone.

2. Are some people better at orienting themselves?

Yes definitely, some people are just good with directions. I think they are able to draw a mental map or 3 D images in their heads and just follow it without any difficulty.

3. Are young people more reliant on their phones than older people to find their way?

Yes, I think we are more dependent upon their phones. For example, some of my friends can't read paper maps. But I think we can be good at it if needed to, its just that technology has made the requirement of reading maps redundant.

4. Are young people gradually losing their ability to orient themselves?

I wouldn't say that. Orienting ourselves is an innate ability, we all have that. It might be getting rusty because we don't need to use it that much because of navigation apps but that doesn't mean we have lost the ability to do so.

5. With mobile phones and these electronic products with navigation, is it difficult for people to get lost?

There is no doubt that its hard to get lost because of maps, but people still do get lost. In fact, sometimes the apps are wrong and I get lost because they tell the wrong direction. In someways, our over dependence and trust on these apps is making it more likely for us to lose our way.

6. What kind of problems do old people have when they get lost?

I think old people are not so comfortable with technology and so they might not be able to use the latest navigation maps that well. In India though, it is not a big problem because most people are very helpful and guide others with direction when asked for help.

7. Some people like to walk around without navigation, is there any problem?

No, I don't think it is a big problem, but it may waste our time. We may also enter areas which are not safe, but for a large part I don't think its a problem.

8. How can people find their way when they are lost?

They can halt and ask someone, or they can take the help of GPS (Global positioning system). Such apps are there in all the mobile phones and even installed in cars. They can also call someone and ask the way.

9. Do you think it is important to do some preparation before you travel to new places?

Yes, it is definitely important. Without prior preparation, the whole vacation may turn out to be a fiasco. If one has booked hotels in advance, it can save time as well as money. By knowing about the weather of the place one can pack clothes accordingly.

10. Do you think it is important to be able to read a map?

Yes, I think so. In places where there is no internet connectivity, the GPS will not work. Sometimes the battery of the phone may run out. Knowing how to read a map can prove to be an asset in such circumstances.

11. Is a paper map still necessary?

Yes, definitely. A paper map can show much more details than a digital map can. Secondly, there are places in remote areas where GPS doesn't work.

13. Why do some people get lost more easily than others?

Some people are poor with directions, and so can get lost more easily.

14. How do people react when they get lost?

The reaction of people cannot be generalised. Some keep their cool and think of a way to get out of the scenario. Others may panic. Some may even start crying.

64. Describe a happy memory from your childhood or Describe a happy experience from your childhood that you remember

- What happened
 - When and where it happened
 - Who you were with
 - And explain why it was a happy experience'
- I had a very happy childhood.
 - My parents are very loving and they did everything to make me and my sister happy during our childhood.
 - They also scolded and punished us, when we did something wrong, but that happened very rarely.
 - So I have no dearth of happy memories and in fact, it was a very difficult choice to pick one.
 - So today, I am going to talk about a time, when I went to Sikkim with my parents and sister.
 - I live in Punjab and there is no snowfall here.
 - And I was very eager to play with snow, so my parents took us to Sikkim, during winters.
 - Normally people go there in summers to get a relief from high temperatures, but we both just wanted to play in the snow.
 - My maternal uncle is an army officer and he was posted there during that time.
 - He booked us a room at the army guest house.
 - My uncle's children were also of the same age.
 - So we had a very fun time playing whole day.
 - My parents wanted to do shopping, so they left us all the children at the guesthouse.
 - We made snowmen, had snow fights and ate some of the best food of our life.
 - We are out there playing from morning to evening.
 - There were two chefs at the guest house and they cooked everything and anything we asked.
 - I don't remember how that whole week passed, but I do remember that I didn't want to leave ever.
 - We tried to make plans to go there after a year or two but my uncle was transferred to another place by then.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What do you think is the first moment of happiness that people remember?

Its a very hard question. I don't think I remember much before I turned five or six, so I would say that would be the first moment. My parents of course tell me stories of my childhood before that from time to time but I don't have any recollection of those.

2. Why do you think some people remember more than others? Or some people have a better memory than others?

I think some people just have a better memory in this regard. It may also be childhood, if the childhood was exciting and different, people are more likely to remember things from their childhood.

3. What kinds of things do people need to remember nowadays?

In the modern age, people need to remember various things, including appointments and deadlines, passwords and login information, important dates and events, directions and addresses, and personal responsibilities and commitments. With the increasing reliance on technology, remembering to safeguard digital information and practice online safety measures is also crucial

4. What do you think we shouldn't forget?

It is important not to forget the value of human connection and relationships. Prioritizing meaningful interactions, empathy, kindness, and understanding helps foster a sense of community and well-being. Additionally, remembering to take care of one's mental and physical health is vital for overall well-being and happiness.

5. Why do some people remember more of their childhood than others?

The memory of childhood experiences can vary among individuals due to factors such as personal significance, emotional intensity, frequency of recall, and individual differences in memory processes. Strong emotional or novel events are often better retained, and individuals with higher levels of introspection or attention to detail may have more vivid recollections of their childhood.

6. What can people do to improve their memory?

To improve memory, people can engage in activities such as regular exercise, maintaining a healthy diet, getting sufficient sleep, practicing mindfulness and stress management techniques, and engaging in mental exercises like puzzles or memory games. Creating mnemonic devices, organizing information, and practicing retrieval and repetition can also enhance memory retention and recall.

7. What is your earliest memory that you can still remember now?

I think it would be my fourth birthday celebration. My parents ordered a spiderman cake on my birthday, and also I was wearing spiderman costume on that day. My birthday was celebrated at our home, and I also have pictures from my 4th birthday which I often love to see.

65. Describe an important decision you made

- What was the decision
- When you made it
- How you made the decision
- Why was it important

OR An important decision you made with help of someone
 What was the decision
 When you made it
 Who helped you
 How he/she helped you

- I think decision making is an integral part of our lives, and we are constantly making decisions, either big or small.
- If we do not make decisions, life will become boring, and we will not be able to move forward.
- Today, I would like to talk about an important decision I made with the help of my sister.
- I have recently completed my schooling/graduation, and it was time for me to decide what I wanted to do in my life.
- I was confused about which course I should opt for my further studies as I did not want to choose traditional courses like engineering or medicine.
- I wanted an option that would provide me with a bright future and be interesting at the same time.
- I searched a lot on the internet for alternative courses and colleges, but there was too much information, and I became even more confused.
- So, I decided to consult my elder sister who is living in Canada.
- She works in the media and entertainment industry.
- When I asked her for advice, she suggested that I pursue a course in Animation as she knew about my interests in this field.
- She also recommended some good colleges in Canada for this course and explained the job opportunities I would have after completing it.
- Animation is quite popular these days, and in the future, there will be a huge demand for people who are certified in this field.
- My family also liked the idea when I told them that I had finally decided to pursue a course in Animation.
- So, this was one of the most crucial decisions of my life, which I made with my sister's help.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you always ask for help when making decisions?

Yes, I mostly seek my parents' or siblings' advice when making decisions. I feel that they understand me and are able to give me the best guidance and suggestions.

2. Do you think teenagers are able to take decisions on their own?

Today, the teenagers are very well-informed and have a great exposure because of the access to technology. So, most of the teenagers are able to take good decisions when it comes to small, everyday decisions. However, for the bigger decisions like choosing a career path, they still need the experience and the guidance of their elders.

3. Why some can make quick decisions and some cannot?

Some people who can make quick decisions are very clear about what they want and do not waste any time making decisions. They have a clear, straightforward approach to things. However, there are some people who are not very quick at making decisions, as they may be confused and have a lot of external factors which affect their decision making skills. It could be because of a lot of and varied advice from family, friends, and relatives. Some people may feel pressured due to personal circumstances and other societal constraints. So they take a lot of time to decide on what to do or choose.

4. What should national leaders consider when they make decisions?

National leaders consider the public interests when they make decisions. They also consider the future of the nation when making certain decisions.

5. Do you think children sometimes have to make important decisions?

Yes, children can sometimes have to make important decisions, especially as they grow older and face various situations. These decisions could range from choosing extracurricular activities, making educational or career choices, or even decisions regarding their personal values and relationships. It is important for children to develop decision-making skills with guidance and support from parents and mentors.

6. What important decisions do teenagers need to make after graduation?

After graduation, teenagers often face significant decisions such as choosing a career path, deciding whether to pursue higher education or enter the workforce, exploring opportunities for further skill development, considering financial responsibilities and managing expenses, and making choices regarding their living arrangements and independence. These decisions can shape their future trajectory and require careful consideration, weighing personal aspirations, interests, and practical considerations. Guidance from parents, mentors, and career counsellors can be invaluable during this transitional phase.

7. Who can children turn to for help when making a decision?

Children can turn to various sources for help when making a decision, including parents, teachers, mentors, and trusted adults in their lives. These individuals can provide guidance, support, and advice based on their knowledge and experience, helping children consider different perspectives and make informed choices.

8. Do you think advertisements can influence our decisions when shopping?

Yes, advertisements can influence our decisions when shopping. They use persuasive techniques to grab our attention, create desire for products or services, and shape our preferences.

Advertisements can impact our decision-making by highlighting benefits, appealing to emotions, and influencing our perception of value, ultimately guiding our purchasing choices.

9. Do you think the influence of advertising is good?

The influence of advertising can have both positive and negative aspects. On one hand, it provides information about products and services, helps create awareness, and supports the economy. On the other hand, it can promote materialism, create unrealistic expectations, and manipulate consumer behavior. It is important to be critical and make informed decisions when exposed to advertising messages.

66. Describe a water sport you would like to try in the future

- You should say:
- What it is
- Where you would like to try it
- Whether it is easy or difficult
- And explain why you would like to try it

- The water sport I would like to try in the future is river rafting.
- It is an adventurous water sport.
- There are many other water sports like deep-sea diving, jet skiing, parasailing, etc., but I want to try this first.
- I learned about river rafting from one of my best friends.
- He did river rafting last year during the summers, and he told me it is really exciting.
- In my country, people go to Rishikesh for white water rafting.
- It's a beautiful town located in the state of Uttarakhand.
- People do rafting on the Ganges River, which flows between the Himalayan mountains.
- One can do rafting for 12 kilometers or 16 kilometers.
- Rafting is not a difficult sport; it can be done by people of all age groups.
- But you need to have an expert guide with you because at some places, it gets dangerous.
- That is why they provide safety equipment like helmets and life jackets to everyone.
- Rafting is done early in the morning.
- Each raft can carry approximately 6-8 people, and a guide sits at the end.
- The raft is inflated using an air pump, and people paddle to drive it forward.
- During the course, there are several rapids in the river that bring a lot of thrill.
- When the raft goes through the rapids, it gets very fast and can sometimes go up in the air as well.
- I want to try this sport because I have never tried adventure sports in my life, and this water sport sounds really exciting to me.
- I will probably do rafting during the next summers.

- And explain how you felt about being there?

Or a place with lot of people (PRESENT TENSE)

Describe a place with a lot of people

- Where is it
- Who do you go with
- What do people do there
- Why are there so many people
- India is a densely populated country, so we have lot of places which are often crowded.
- Some of these places are religious shrines, historical sites and nowadays one can even find a lot of people at bus terminals, public gardens etcetera.
- Today, I would like to talk about a shopping mall in Chandigarh, which is always brimming with people.
- It's called Elante Mall and it is located in the industrial area of Chandigarh.
- The mall has total 5 floors which also include 2 levels for parking.
- It was built approximately 7 years back and one can find stores of all global brands here.
- The mall is mostly crowded over the weekends when people have their weekly offs.
- It is a place where no one gets bored as people can do a lot of activities like playing games, watching movies, eating at their favourite restaurant etcetera.
- The first time I went to this mall was with my cousins who live in Chandigarh.
- It was during the winters and it had been only a month since the opening of the mall.
- We had heard a lot about the mall from others and some even said it is one of the best malls in Asia.
- So, we wanted to explore it ourselves and we were truly amazed.
- It was a weekend and the mall was completely filled with people.
- Everyone looked happy and excited just liked us.
- Also, there were festive sales going and there were huge discounts at most of the stores, so we bought ourselves some new clothes at great prices.
- We spent almost 5 hours at the mall and didn't even realise how the time went by.
- Now, I am a regular visitor at the mall and I do most of my shopping at Elante mall only.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Where do young people like to go?

Young people mainly like to go to places of entertainment like shopping malls, multiplexes and amusement parks. Besides this, they also like to go to restaurants, cafes and bars.

2. Are people happy living in crowded apartments?

I really think most people are rather unhappy living in crowded apartments but it has become a necessity due to increasing urbanization and exorbitant real-estate prices. In most metropolitan cities in India, it is nearly impossible for a middle class family to buy a house.

3. Which scenic spots will have queues of people?

There are many scenic spots with queues of people like beaches, lakes, mountains, national parks and wildlife sanctuaries. It is ironic that many people visit these places to be alone with nature and instead end up crowding one another.

4. What are the advantages of living on a higher floor?

The two main advantages of living on a higher floor is lower noise levels and better ventilation. The level of noise on higher floors due to traffic or other road commotion is significantly less and air is also much less polluted. Another big advantage of living on a higher floor is the access to a balcony. People can enjoy the scenic beauty of the surroundings in the comfort of their home.

5. What are the advantages of living on a lower floor?

The think the biggest advantage is that the lower floors are less expensive and it easier for people to get out of buildings during emergencies like fires or earthquakes.

6. What do you think of the phenomenon of people queuing in restaurants for more than an hour?

I don't think there is anything wrong with it. People only do that if the food is really tasty or unique. In fact, in a way this teaches people patience. Personally, I have only waited in queue for a restaurant for more than an hour only once. Unfortunately, the food didn't live up to my expectations.

7. Is there a completely quiet place?

I think that there are not many quiet places in the cities but if one goes to the countryside especially the mountain regions one can find lot of places with no noise. In my opinion the only quiet place in the cities would be a library, where everyone sits quietly and goes about their work or studies.

8. Do you like to go to the places where there are many people?

Well it depends a lot on my mood, when I feel like socialising, I like to visit crowded places like restaurants and malls. At these places when I see lot of people who are smiling and enjoying their time, I get a lot of positive vibes.

9. Do you like the places with large space?

Yes, I like to visit places where there is a lot of space, one can comfortably roam around at such places whereas places which are tight make me feel claustrophobic.

At large places, one's personal space is not intruded.

10. What are the places which attract many people in your country?

The two places which attract the most people in our country are religious shrines and shopping malls. People in my country just love being at these places and you will always find these places crowded.

11. What do you think is the most important thing of a public event?

I think, nowadays, the most important thing of a public event is the security of the people because in huge crowd things can easily go wrong and lead to mishaps. Another arrangement that organisers should take care of would be public conveniences like drinking water, urinals etcetera. Organisers should also have plans for emergency situations like fire.

12. What are the types of problems that can be better solved by group work?

I think all problems can be solved better by groupwork. When different minds work together on solving a problem, it leads to generation of multiple ideas, which help in solving the problem much faster and in a creative manner.

13. What kind of places do people want to go to when they want to be alone?

When people like to be alone they normally go to their homes and spend time in the comfort of their bedrooms. Sometimes people like to go on a long drive or even travel to a different city. Being alone gives them an opportunity to reflect upon their problems and think about their future or desires.

14. Why is it sometimes important for people to be alone?

In today's world people often get stressed by too many events happening around them. So, in order to relax their minds people prefer solitude. It is important for them because being alone gives them the time to think about the things that really matter to them and they can focus better in their lives.

68. Describe a traditional festival (or tradition) that is important in your country.

You should say:

- when the festival occurs
 - what you do during it
 - what you like or dislike about it
 - and explain why this festival is important.
- One of the most important festivals in India is Diwali, also known as the Festival of Lights.
 - It is also my favourite festival
 - It is celebrated in the autumn season and usually falls between October and November.
 - During Diwali, the entire country is immersed in a joyous and vibrant atmosphere.
 - The festival spans across five days, with each day having its own significance and rituals.
 - The preparations begin well in advance, as people clean and decorate their homes, buy new clothes, and exchange gifts with their loved ones.
 - On the main day of Diwali, people illuminate their homes with countless oil lamps, candles, and decorative lights.
 - Fireworks light up the night sky, adding to the festive spirit.
 - Families come together to perform traditional prayers and rituals, seeking blessings from deities.
 - Delicious sweets and savory dishes are prepared, and feasts are shared among relatives and neighbors.
 - People also visit temples and seek the blessings of the gods.
 - What I particularly enjoy about Diwali is the sense of unity and togetherness it brings.
 - It is a time when people set aside their differences and come together to celebrate.
 - The vibrant decorations, mesmerizing lights, and the sparkle of fireworks create a magical ambiance.
 - It is also a time to express gratitude and appreciation for the blessings in our lives.
 - However, there are a few aspects of Diwali that I dislike.
 - The extensive use of firecrackers during the celebrations leads to noise and air pollution, which can be harmful to the environment and individuals with respiratory conditions.
 - The excessive consumerism associated with buying new clothes and gifts can also lead to materialistic tendencies.
 - Diwali is an incredibly important festival in India for several reasons.
 - Firstly, it has deep religious significance for Hindus as it commemorates the return of Lord Rama, along with his wife Sita and brother Lakshmana, from exile after defeating the demon king Ravana.
 - It symbolizes the victory of light over darkness and good over evil.
 - Moreover, Diwali is not just limited to Hindus but is celebrated by people of different faiths and communities across the country.
 - It serves as a unifying force, promoting harmony and inclusivity.
 - Finally, I believe that Diwali is a significant festival in India, celebrated with immense joy and enthusiasm.
 - It brings people together, spreads positivity, and signifies the triumph of light over darkness. Its religious, cultural, and social significance make it an integral part of Indian heritage and identity.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Are traditional holidays disappearing?

Traditional holidays are not disappearing completely, but they are undergoing transformations in response to societal changes. Modernization, globalization, and shifting cultural dynamics have influenced the way people celebrate these holidays. While some traditions may be modified or adapted, many traditional holidays still hold importance and continue to be celebrated, albeit with variations. Efforts are being made to preserve cultural heritage and promote the observance of traditional holidays through educational programs, cultural initiatives, and community events.

Overall, traditional holidays may evolve, but they remain an integral part of cultural identity and provide opportunities for connection and celebration.

2. Do children like to learn about traditional festivals?

Yes, many children have a natural curiosity and interest in learning about traditional festivals. Exploring the customs, rituals, and stories behind these celebrations can be fascinating and engaging for them. Learning about traditional festivals helps children understand and appreciate their cultural heritage, fosters a sense of belonging, and allows them to participate in age-old traditions that have been passed down through generations.

3. Is music important to traditional festivals?

Yes, music plays a significant role in traditional festivals. It adds a vibrant and festive atmosphere to the celebrations, setting the mood and enhancing the overall experience. Traditional music often accompanies specific rituals and performances during these festivals, carrying cultural significance and creating a sense of unity and joy among participants. It serves as a powerful medium to connect people with their heritage and preserve the cultural traditions associated with the festivals.

4. What is the importance of traditional festivals?

I think traditional festivals fulfil three functions. They connect us to our roots, our culture and our origins, giving us a sense of identity. Secondly, they bring families and friends together and lastly, they help us forget about our worries and stress.

5. What's the difference between festivals now and in the past?

I think the main difference between festivals now and in the past is the purpose of celebration. Earlier people celebrated festivals for a purpose, but now people have forgotten the meaning behind the festivals. Festivals are only celebrated for joy and merriment.

6. Do you think western festivals like Christmas are replacing traditional festivals in your country?

Yes, one of the influences of western movies and Hollywood has been the coming of western festivals like Christmas and Halloween. From the past two-three years, even I decorate a tree and ask for gifts from my parents on Christmas. Similarly, in these past few years, I have seen children going for trick or treating on Halloween in my neighborhood.

7. Do you think it is wrong for children not to celebrate traditional festivals?

I wish children today are as passionate about celebrating traditional festivals as they are about celebrating western festivals. But I don't think it is wrong. I think festivals are about fun and merriment and it does not matter, which festivals they are celebrating as long as they are enjoying themselves.

8. Is it important for children to learn about traditional festivals at school?

Yes, I think it is certainly important for children to learn about festivals at school. Earlier children learnt about festivals from their grandparents as they lived in joint families, but nowadays there is no one to teach them about them. So, schools should definitely teach children about them.

9. Do children like to learn about traditional festivals?

Surely, there are many exciting stories and legends behind most traditional festivals. Children love hearing stories and so they love learning about traditional festivals. Moreover, children have a curiosity about everything. I remember when I was a child, I used to keep asking questions and my parents used to get tired answering my questions.

10. Why do people hold events to celebrate?

People hold events to celebrate for different reasons. First, it is to commemorate our successes and victories in our lives. Secondly, it helps to strengthen our connections with our loved ones, our friends and neighbours by bringing us all together. People also celebrate to remember our past traditions. And finally, sometimes celebrations are just about having fun and relieving our stress.

11. Are traditional festivals disappearing?

I don't think they are disappearing but they are not celebrated with the same zeal and enthusiasm that they were in the past. Moreover, for most people celebrations are about fun and merriment rather than remembering our traditions and culture.

12. Is music important in traditional festivals?

I don't think there is a single festival without music especially in Indian culture. I think any festival without music is incomplete. Music frees our mind and it also helps us bond with our loved ones.

13. Do you think good food and drinks are important for celebrations?

Just like music, I believe festivals and celebrations are incomplete without good food and drinks. Listening to music and eating good food is the best way to make our mind happy and forget our worries. It takes us away from reality in a sense and thus makes us happy.

69. Describe something that you did with someone/ a group of people

You should say

- What it was?
 - Who you did it with?
 - How long it took you to do this?
 - And explain why you did it together?
- One of the most memorable activities that I did with my school friends was a weekend camping trip.
 - We had been planning for this trip for weeks, and we were all excited to finally be able to spend some quality time together in the great outdoors.
 - The trip started early on a Friday morning, when we all met at a designated location to pack our gear and set off on our journey.
 - We had planned to camp at a nearby hill station called Kasauli, and we had all brought our own tents, sleeping bags, and other essentials.
 - As we drove to the hill station, we chatted and laughed, eager to start our adventure.
 - Once we arrived at the hill station, we set up our campsite and started to explore the area.
 - We hiked through the forest, taking in the beautiful scenery and enjoying the fresh air.
 - We stopped to have a picnic lunch by a stream, and we even went swimming in a nearby lake.
 - The evenings were spent around the campfire, telling stories and roasting vegetables and meat.
 - We laughed and joked, and it was a great way to bond with each other.
 - We even played games and sang songs, the memories of that night are still fresh in my mind.
 - On the second day, we decided to go on a longer hike.
 - We set off early in the morning, and the hike was challenging, but also very rewarding.
 - We were able to see some amazing views from the top of the mountain, and we even came across a waterfall.
 - It was a great way to spend the day, and we were all proud of ourselves for making it to the top.
 - On the last day, we packed up our gear and said goodbye to the beautiful campsite.
 - We all hugged each other, and promised to do it again soon.
 - Overall, the camping trip was an unforgettable experience.
 - The reason why we did it together was because it was a great way for my friends and I to spend time together, and to bond in a way that we never had before.
 - We were able to disconnect from the world for a little while and reconnect with each other and with nature.
 - It was a weekend filled with laughter, adventure, and memories that will last a lifetime.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do you get along with your neighbors?

I have a very good relationship with my neighbors as I have known them for more than 10 years now. It almost feels like that they are part of our family now, as we spend a lot of time at each other's place. We support each other during both good and bad times. Sometimes I think that our neighbors play a more important role in our lives as compared to our relatives.

2. How do neighbors help each other?

Neighbors can help each other in a variety of ways, such as by lending tools or household items, watching each other's homes when one is away, assisting with household repairs or projects, offering to take care of pets or children, and sharing gardening or cooking tips. They may also look out for one another's safety and well-being, and provide emotional support during difficult times. Additionally, neighbors may work together to improve the community through volunteerism or organizing neighborhood events.

3. Do you think neighbors help each other more often in the countryside than in the city?

It's possible that neighbors may help each other more often in rural or suburban areas compared to urban areas. The reason being that in rural or suburban areas, neighbors may have a greater sense of community, and may be more likely to know each other personally, and therefore be more likely to offer help when needed. Additionally, in rural and suburban areas, people may have more opportunities to interact with each other, such as while working on shared projects or participating in community events.

4. How do children learn to cooperate with each other?

Children learn to cooperate with each other through a combination of socialization, modeling, and direct teaching. For example, they can learn cooperation by playing with other children, as they learn to share toys, take turns, and work together to achieve a common goal.

5. Do you think parents should teach children how to cooperate with others? How?

Yes, I believe that parents play a vital role in teaching children how to cooperate with others. Cooperation is an important life skill that is needed in a wide variety of contexts, such as in the family, at school, in the workplace, and in the community. Children learn by example, so when parents demonstrate cooperation and collaboration in their own relationships and daily activities, children will learn how to do the same. Parents can also provide opportunities for children to practice cooperation by setting up games and activities that require teamwork. Additionally, parents can teach children the importance of listening to others' ideas and opinions, compromising, and taking turns.

6. Do you think it's important for children to learn about cooperation?

Yes, it is very important for children to learn about cooperation. Cooperation is a key social skill that is essential for success in many aspects of life. Children who learn to cooperate with others are more likely to develop positive relationship and achieve academic success.

70. Describe a daily routine that you enjoy

You should say

- What it is
- Where and when you do it
- Who do you do it with
- Explain why you enjoy it

- I have many routines that I do every day, such as taking a bath, preparing breakfast for myself and sometimes my parents, going for a walk, studying, going to the gurdwara, and so on.
- Here I would like to talk about a daily routine that I really enjoy and look forward to.
- It is doing a 3-mile walk at home with Leslie Sansone.
- Leslie has her own walk at home app in which she has these daily walks for people of all age groups.
- My aunt told me about it.
- I used to go for a morning walk, but could not go when it was too hot or too cold or raining outside.
- So my routine was broken.
- I have been doing this walk daily for the last 1 year.
- I have the app on my phone, but I prefer to open the webpage on my laptop as the screen is bigger.
- Sometimes my mother joins me in the walk.
- We do it in our living room as it is very spacious.
- I enjoy it because it gives me a feeling that I have something for my body.
- I used to be a bit overweight, but now I have lost around 5 kg and my body shape also looks and feels much better.
- Earlier I used to feel lazy and tired, but now I feel much energetic and healthier.
- I also suffered insomnia, and would toss and turn in bed for a long time before I actually fell asleep.
- Now, I am asleep within minutes of touching my head on the pillow.
- Because of a good night's sleep, I have more concentration in my studies too.
- This walk can be done any time of the day, but I like to start my day with it.
- Sometimes, if my morning is busy, I do it in the afternoon or evening.
- There are many other walking routines on the net, but I like walking with Leslie the most
- She adds upper body and abs exercises with the walk and that helps tone up the whole body.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Should children have learning routines?

Yes, of course they should have learning routines. These add discipline to life. When children follow routines, they learn to manage time. I believe all routines teach something, so can be a learning experience. For example, a simple routine of a family meal can teach children many things when they share their days happenings with their parents. They learn many social skills and develop a bond with their family. A routine of going to bed in time can develop children's mental health.

2. What are the advantages of children having a routine at school?

There are many advantages of having routines at school. It gives students a predictable day at school. So, they feel more confident and secure. It also saves time. They don't have to ask questions about what to do next. Teachers have already streamlined things for them. It becomes easier for students to become focused and attentive.

3. Does having a routine make kids feel more secure at school?

Definitely yes. For younger children, a routine engages them in learning and helps them feel safe in their environment, while it helps older children know what to expect and feel more comfortable. This is why classroom routines are important.

Routines in the classroom make class time more enjoyable and productive. They offer students a sense of stability. By having classroom rules and procedures that teachers set, their students will know their expectations.

4. How do people's routines differ on weekdays and weekends?

Weekdays and weekends are totally different, so their routines are also different. Weekday routines are good, but on weekends people can afford some flexibility. Of course a person should also plan weekends, otherwise they will disappear without giving you any time for fun and relaxation. A weekend should relax a person after a busy week and also set him up for a successful week ahead. Weekend should incorporate family time, cinema time, outing time, socialising time and all what cannot be done on weekdays.

5. What daily routines people have at home?

People have daily routines like a family meal, a morning prayer, doing household chores together and so on. Every family has their own routines set up, which make things easier for all members. For example, in my family my father buys vegetables, fruits and grocery, while my mother does the cooking and laundry. My father checks if all doors, windows and main gate is locked before going to bed. I take my dogs out for a walk twice a day. These routines are more or less fixed.

6. What are the differences in people's daily routines now and 15 years ago?

Life was slower and simpler in the past. People spent less time on social networking sites than in the past, so they had more time to socialise. Routines included being with other people. Today's routines are more about spending time with oneself and technology.

71. Describe a place you visited where the air was polluted.

You should say

- Where the place is
 - When you visited.
 - Why the air was not good.
 - And explain how you felt about the place
- Pollution is everywhere nowadays.
 - It's difficult to find a place where the air is not polluted.
 - Here, I would like to talk about the city which I visited, and I found that the air was very polluted.
 - Last year. I happened to go to New Delhi with my parents
 - We had to go to visit some relatives.
 - There was a function in their house.
 - We went by train
 - Then we hired a three wheeler.
 - As we were sitting in the water, I started feeling a burning sensation in my eyes, and my eyes started watering.
 - I looked at my parents, and I felt that they were also feeling the same.
 - We live in Punjab and a small town in Punjab, and I realised that the air is much less polluted here than in Delhi.
 - I noticed that the local people there were not having much problem.
 - Perhaps their eyes were used to that pollution.
 - Released to relatives house, and then washed my face with cold water.
 - I felt some relief after that
 - My uncle told me that Delhi is probably one of the most polluted cities in India.
 - The main reason for this is that the development of Delhi has largely been unplanned, and the industrial units in Delhi are spread over residential and commercial areas and not designated areas.
 - Another reason why Delhi is more air polluted, as compared to other cities is that it has a landlocked geography.
 - The Himalayas obstruct, the escape routes of air.
 - Stubble burning also contributes to the air pollution in the region
 - During the winter months the stubble burning in Punjab, Haryana and Rajasthan cause a thick blanket of Smog cover over Delhi.
 - Air pollution affects human health severely
 - There is a higher prevalence of chronic bronchitis where there is more air pollution
 - I was happy that I was just visiting Delhi and that I was not living there permanently.
 - I really feel pity on my relatives who permanently reside in Delhi.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is there more pollution now than in the past?
Yes, there is more air pollution now than in the past. New industries are opening every day. Strict rules and regulations have not been laid down for effluent treatment. Industries are not planned well to be opened in designated areas. So all this development is leading to more air pollution now than in the past.
2. In what ways can the air pollution be reduced effectively?
Many steps can be taken to reduce the level of air pollution. The government can lay down strict rules and regulations for effluent treatment. New industries should only be allowed to open in designated areas. It is not the responsibility of only the government, but the people also to follow the rules and regulations nicely.
3. Do you think the city is cleaner or dirtier than the countryside? Why?
I think the cities are dirtier than the countryside. The main reason is that all the development, the new industries are opening in the cities. The industrialists do not follow the rules and regulations laid by the government nicely. Proper treatment of effluents is not done. Another reason is that the population of cities is more than the countryside. So, more vehicles are there in the cities which are also adding to the pollution. Not only air pollution, noise pollution is also more in the cities than the countryside. So for all these reasons, I feel that cities are more polluted than the countryside.
4. What can factories and power plants do to reduce pollutants?
Factories and power plants can do a lot to reduce pollution. The first thing they can do is follow the norms laid down by the government. For example, if the factory has a chimney, the height of the chimney can be increased according to government regulations. New industries should start with the alternative sources of energy, whereas the older ones can switch to alternative sources of energy. These steps can go a long way in decreasing pollution.
5. Do you think many companies have been forced to reduce pollutants?
Yes, many companies have been forced to reduce pollutants. However, unfortunately these industries find loopholes to escape the penalties and so the steps taken by the government are not proving very effective. When companies pay fines, they start thinking that now they have the license to cause pollution.
6. Do you think the wind has any effect on pollution? How?
Yes, I think the wind helps to disperse the pollutants. That is why despite the high auto mobile population, Chennai has less pollution than in Delhi. This is because the sea breeze provides an effective entry and exit for dispersing pollutants. Delhi is landlocked, so the whole pollution accumulates there only.

72. Describe an actor or actress whom you admire.

You should say,

- Who he/she is.
- What he/she looks like.
- What kind of movies he/she appears in
- And explain why you admire this actor/actress.

- I am very fond of watching movies and TV series.
- And I admire all those actors and actresses who live their roles.
- Here, I will talk about one actor Pankaj Tripathi who has really impressed me with his acting.
- In all the roles he has played, it looks like he is the actual character and is just living his role.
- I saw a movie Kaagaz, in which he is a wedding bandmaster and really looks like one.
- Another movie in which he has a lead role is Sherdil.
- Then I happened to watch a crime TV series, Criminal Justice, on Hotstar
- He has done the role of a lawyer in this series and has given a stellar performance.
- Another TV series 'Mirzapur' on Amazon Prime, where he plays a Mafia don, is worth watching.
- He is tall, fair, and must be in his mid-forties.
- He did minor roles in many movies, but he came into the limelight after the movie Gangs of Wasseypur, in which he played a negative role.
- I didn't know much about him apart from his role in these movies and TV series, but recently I read his interview in the Times of India newspaper.
- He has a very humble background.
- He struggled a lot to get noticed as an actor.
- He said that he came to Mumbai in 2004, but no one noticed him before the Gangs of Wasseypur happened in 2012.
- Now whenever I watch any old movie in which he has even a tiny role, I feel like watching the movie to the end because of his role.
- He has done all sorts of roles and has added life to all the characters he has played.
- Many of his movies have been big hits, and he has made a place for himself in Bollywood.
- He has also acted in some Tamil films.
- Pankaj Tripathi is just fabulous and deserves all the success.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Are actors or actresses very interested in the work? Why?
Yes, I believe actors and actresses are very interested in their work because if they were not interested, then they would not put their heart and soul into acting, and then they would not be successful in their life.
2. Is being a professional actor or actress a good career?
Yes, I believe being a professional actor or actress is a good career. If one is successful, one can earn much more than in any other profession. However, I also believe that it is a very demanding profession. It requires total dedication and perseverance. Only then can an actor or actress survive in today's era of cutthroat competition.
3. What can children learn from acting?
Children can learn a lot from acting. Firstly, it builds confidence. While acting, they interact with people of all ages and so it also builds social skills. It also improves their public speaking skills which are very important in adult life. Acting also teaches them discipline and patience. Children have to memorize lines, and so it also sharpens their memory.
4. Why do children like special costumes?
Children like special costumes because it makes them enter a world of fantasy, and they imagine situations around those costumes which increases their creativity and give them happiness.
5. What are the differences between actors or actresses who earn much and those who earn little?
Actors who earn much enjoy name, fame, and a world of luxury, whereas those who earn little suffer from frustration and depression and also may have suicidal tendencies
6. What are the differences between acting in the theatre and that in the film?
Acting in the theatre and that in the film is totally different. In theatre performance, actors have just one chance to get it right. There are no retakes. Secondly, the distance between the audience and the actor is much more in theatre acting. So, actors have to exaggerate facial expressions and gestures so that every audience member can see what's going on.
However, in films, the camera can get extremely close to the actor, which closes the gap between the audience and the actors. So actors on film must use subtle, controlled and natural expressions and body language. Finally, stage actors must deliver the same performance with new energy each time they perform.

73. Describe a person you would like to study or work with

- Who is that person?
 - Why would you like to study with him/her?
 - What will you study?
- I normally study alone as I find it hard to study with someone else.
 - However, there are times when I don't feel like studying and it helps if someone can motivate me.
 - Moreover, there are subjects like history, which I find really boring to study alone.
 - In these cases, I do prefer studying with someone else.
 - I had a classmate, Yash in 10th standard and many of my friends told me that he was a very good study partner.
 - So if I do get a chance, I would like to study with him.
 - He has many unique qualities.
 - First, he has a very good grasping power, so he was always able to understand things really quickly.
 - He is also very patient. I have heard from friends that he can sit and explain things for hours.
 - One of my major problems in studying has been my inability to memorise facts and figures and he is very good with mnemonics, which I feel like can be really helpful for me.
 - I remember in school days, he made a mnemonic for the first twenty elements of the periodic table and it became so popular in the school.
 - Everyone used it and that's why perhaps my entire class found chemistry very easy.
 - That's one more reason I would like to study with him. He is willing to share his knowledge.
 - I have heard him saying many things in class that the best way to increase one's knowledge is to share knowledge.
 - At the moment he is doing masters in economics in Canada.
 - He is at the same college I am interested in attending.
 - Hopefully, I would get a chance to meet him there and study something together.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kind of people do you like to study or work with?
I like to study or work with people who are intelligent, cooperative and helpful. Moreover, I don't like procrastination, so I avoid working with people who don't follow deadlines.
2. Do you think managers can be friends with their subordinates?
Yes, they can. But the subordinates must realise that such a friendship can be affected if they become complacent at their work well because of their friendship.
3. Which one is more important for you at work, development in work related skills or the recognitions from your supervisor?
Both are equally important for me. Development in work skills is very essential to progress and get promotions at work. Recognition from supervisors gives me the impetus to work even harder.
4. Should children be allowed to choose whom they want to sit with or should it be decided by the teacher? Should children be allowed to choose their classmates?
In the primary classes, it should be decided by the teachers, because the teacher will know better which students could be more helpful for each other if made to sit together. In senior classes, children can figure out for themselves about whom to sit with.
5. Should children be involved in management activities of the school?
I believe that they should be. They feel important and they learn confidence. They can voice out their problems and help the school authorities find answers for them.
6. How should one behave in office to get along well with others?
One should behave nicely. One should be polite to others and cooperate with them. One should not do leg-pulling of other colleagues.
7. Is it important for children in school to get along well with others?
Yes, it is very important for children to get along well with others. If children learn how to get along with their peers at school, they will learn how to get along with others in life when they are older.
8. What kind of people are popular at work?
I think people who stay calm and deal with issues without getting themselves or stressing others are popular. For example, people who are able to employ humour during high pressure situations to lighten the mood. At the same time, people need to be competent, because otherwise feel that they have work extra to fulfil their responsibilities.

74. Describe a time when you were late

- When it was
 - why you were late
 - how you felt about being late
- I am a very punctual person and try to reach everywhere on time.
 - I got this habit from my father, who is very disciplined and strict about being on time.
 - He always told me that if you are punctual, it tells people that you are dependable.
 - If I have an appointment, I take extra caution and try to reach at least 10 minutes before my appointment time.
 - But sometimes, even giving myself this extra time has not helped, and I have been late.
 - I remember being late to my best friend's wedding.
 - My best friend 'Ajay' got married last year.
 - He is the first one to get married among my friends, and we were all very excited.
 - Indian wedding ceremonies are very lavish, and usually there are 2-3 functions before the ceremony.
 - A day before the wedding, there had been a sangeet ceremony where we danced and partied till late night.
 - I was tired in the morning but woke up and got ready on time to be with my friend on his special day.
 - The wedding ceremony was in the Gurudwara on the outskirts of our city, about 15kms from my home.
 - I had been there before with Ajay, and he had given me directions that time.
 - I am bad with remembering directions and road names. I always rely on my cell phone's map app.
 - On the wedding day I put the address in my phone and started from my home well on time.
 - After 40 minutes, my mobile gps said that I had arrived at your destination but when I looked around there was no Gurudwara and just some old buildings there.
 - I realized that since the Gurudwara was new and away from the city, the map app had not recognized the address and taken me to a different address.
 - I got out and asked around. Fortunately, someone knew the exact location and told me the directions.
 - I had taken the wrong route and driven the opposite way.
 - I was so annoyed with myself for not paying attention.
 - I called another friend who was at the wedding and asked him to share his location in case I got lost again.
 - By the time I reached, the ceremony had already started, and about was half done.
 - I felt terrible about being late to my friend's wedding. Till this day he teases me that I, who is always punctual, was late to his wedding.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Are you ever late for anything?/ Are you a punctual person?

No, I am a very punctual person. I value time and am never late for anything, unless it is due to some unavoidable and unforeseen circumstances.

2. What excuses do you use when you are late?

I am usually not late for any meetings or appointments. However, if at all I am getting late due to an unavoidable circumstance, then I inform the person I am meeting, beforehand. I don't make excuses.

3. Why are people often late for appointments or meeting?

I think its a problem with time management. For example, people often underestimate the time they need for something and they realise they need much more time when they start doing it. Moreover, many people don't consider being a little late to be wrong.

4. Do you think people are born with time management skills or they can be taught?

I think time management is something we acquire over time. Its something we learn from our parents. If parents are punctual and strict on time, children also become punctual. Moreover, it also has a cultural aspect. For example, Japanese people are generally very punctual.

5. How would you teach your children time management?

Time management can be taught to children by helping them make a timetable and ensuring that they follow it. Also, children can learn easily from stories or movies, which teach them a lesson about the importance of time and managing it well. The parents are role models for children and they should set a good example for their children.

6. Do old people and young people manage time in a similar way?

No, old and young people do not manage their time the same way. Old people have more life experience and they understand the importance of time management better than the young generation. The young people may be too impulsive or impatient and may not understand the importance of planning ahead. Another difference is the way the younger generation manages time. They make more use of technology and the old people may use the traditional methods, like a timetable or writing down a list of tasks.

75. Describe an advertisement that you don't like

- When did you see it?
 - What is it about?
 - Where you saw it/how you came to know about it?
 - Why you didn't like it
- Well, I generally don't like to watch a lot of advertisements because I think they are a waste of time.
 - Although some ads are funny and informative but then there are some ads which can really annoy or irritate people.
 - And today, I would like to talk about one such advertisement which I really dislike whenever it's on air.
 - It is the ad of a toilet cleaner and it's run time is about 45 seconds
 - What happens in this advertisement is that a TV show host visits four to five different households and asks the house owners about the cleanliness level of their toilets.
 - Most of the people say that their toilets are clean but then he insists on seeing them.
 - Next, the camera zooms on to the actual toilet seats, which are very dirty and have yellow/ dark brown stains on them.
 - The host then recommends the blue coloured toilet cleaner and applies it to the dirty toilet seats
 - After this the toilets are shown as sparkling clean just like a brand new toilet.
 - Now there are two main reasons why I hate this advertisement.
 - First is obviously the dirty toilets seats being shown on television.
 - I think it would give nausea to anyone watching it.
 - The second, and the worst part about this ad is its timing.
 - Normally, I watch the television while having my food i.e. during Lunch or Dinner and this is the time when they show this ad repeatedly.
 - It makes me feel so disgusted, and I am not able to eat my food after watching this ad.
 - Nowadays this ad is being shown on youtube as well and I always do skip ad whenever it comes online.
 - I wish there should be a method that should allow the viewers to choose the type of ads they would like to see.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Why do some people hate advertisements?

People do not like advertisements while they are watching a program because ads break the continuity. Another annoying factor is that most of the ads are very repetitive and there is nothing new. But the fact remains that if there are no advertising agencies to sponsor the programs we will not be able to watch good programs .

2. Do people usually buy stuff after watching advertisements?

Yes definitely many people buy the products after they watch an ad. Many of the advertisements are very innovative as well as informative these these days. An advert can lure a wide range of people, from small children to the senior citizens.

3. Is music useful in advertising?

Yes, music adds life to the ad. Music can add meaning to anything and so music is useful in ads. For example, some jingles keep ringing in your ears even after the ad is over. So, the purpose of ad is fulfilled.

4. What are advantages of TV advertisements? How about internet advertisements?

TV ads have both audio and video component. So these give visual reminders of the products and that is what sells the products. Internet adds can be skipped and it is optional and upto the user whether to view them or not.

5. Where usually do we see adverts?

We see ads all around us – on TV, on radio, on roadsides, in newspapers, in magazines, on the internet, on phones and as flyers.

6. Are there any advertisements at school?

Sometimes, supermarkets and fast food outlets give money to schools and open their outlets in schools. This is a way of advertising their products.

7. Are there some inappropriate adverts, like that of a condom?

There are some inappropriate ads, like the ad of some perfumes, which imply that if a boy wears that perfume, girls will flock around him, and the ads of some drinks like coke and peps. The ad of condoms is not inappropriate in my opinion. It is an important step in sex education.

8. Why does the government allow such ads?

Government allows such ads, because these ads spend a lot, which boosts the economy. Not only does the government earn, the people working in these ads also earn a lot.

9. Do you think it is bad for children?

Yes, sometimes children are lured to buy such things, but I feel that parents can play a very positive role by keeping an eye on their children and guiding them what is right or wrong.

10. Do parents complain about it?

Yes, parents complain about it at times, but the advantages these ads are giving to the country, are much more than the negative effects of these ads.

11. What are the most advertised products in your country?

Most advertised products in my country are skin, makeup, and hair care products, and food products like carbonated drinks, chocolates, flour, rice, etc. I also see a lot of ads for cars and mobile phones.

12. Which one is often more effective, newspaper advertising or online advertising?

Online advertisements are more effective as they allow businesses to find and reach people interested in their products. With newspaper ads, you won't know who has seen them, but online ads are trackable; thus, companies can focus on customers who have clicked their ads. Also, in this digital world, people mostly go online to read news, and the circulation of newspapers has fallen. So ads in newspapers are not even seen by many.

13. What are the benefits of Advertisements?

Advertisements provide information on new products. They help create jobs by increasing demand for products and services. Some food ads help people make healthy choices and live a better life. Ads bring about many positive social changes like curbs on female feticide, equal rights for women, and reduction of child labor.

14. What do you think of celebrity endorsements in advertising?

I think it's not good as many celebrities ignore the public interest while endorsing the latest fashions and products. For example, many celebrities promote sugary drinks or fast foods, even though they themselves do not consume them.

Also, celebrities are often portrayed drinking or smoking in advertisements, TV shows, and movies. This normalizes and glamorizes behavior like smoking, binge drinking, and illicit drug use, making youth feel that it is appropriate to do the same.

15. Does advertising encourage us to buy things we don't need?

Yes, advertising encourages people to buy things they don't need. The repetitive ads make them believe that a product is better than another product or something that they already own. Consumers buy these tempting products without insight into what they need or can even afford to buy. I bought a coffee expresso machine after seeing an Instagram ad for it, and I have used it two times this month.

16. What role does social media play in advertising?

Social media ads are very effective as businesses can reach many people from different parts of the world within seconds of posting an ad. It also helps them engage with their customers in real time, get their feedback, and build loyalty. Companies also use social media influencers to expand the reach of their brand on social media.

76. Describe a person who inspired you to do something interesting.

You should say:

- Who is this person
 - What they inspired you to do
 - How they inspired you
 - How you feel
- A person who inspired me to do something interesting is my cousin's wife, Priya.
 - My cousin got married a few years ago, and he and Priya moved to Ludhiana, about 40 minutes from my hometown.
 - Priya is a computer engineer by profession and works at a software company.
 - Once while I was visiting them, she mentioned that she had started to learn Indian classical dance.
 - I knew she was a good dancer as I had seen her dance at her wedding and other family functions before.
 - But Indian classical dance is complex and takes a lot of training.
 - She said she was driving home one day from work and saw the advertisement for a new classical dance academy close to her office.
 - She knew it was her chance to learn something new.
 - It was also convenient as it was on her route, so she won't waste time commuting.
 - She said she had been going to Bharatnatyam classes for almost six months.
 - She was one of the top students in her batch, and the academy even hired her to start teaching children on weekends.
 - She was so passionate about it and talked about opening her own dancing studio one day.
 - I was truly inspired to see that she managed to keep up with it, along with a full-time job.
 - I shared with her my interest in music and how I have always wanted to learn to play guitar.
 - Growing up, I was busy with studies and never got the time.
 - And now that I am older, I feel it was too late to learn.
 - She told me age is just a number and learning anything new needs consistent practice. If she can learn a new skill at her age, so can I.
 - I was so inspired after meeting her. I got myself a guitar and bought a couple of guitar books.
 - I looked up YouTube videos to learn the basics.
 - There were so many resources online for learning guitar and even teachers who taught through zoom.
 - After a few months of learning the basics, I found a guitar teacher near my home who could teach me in person.
 - He helped me work with more complex music, and I was able to refine my skills.
 - I was amazed by my progress and eventually started playing for family and friends.
 - Now, it's a hobby that I really enjoy. It not only relaxes me but is a good escape from the stress of everyday life.
 - I will be thankful to Priya for inspiring me to pursue my passion.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Who motivates children the most?

I think at an early age, parents and teachers motivate children the most. They are role models, and children naturally look up to them. Once they are older, children start idolizing movie and sport stars, and they can motivate children too.

2. How can teachers motivate children?

Teachers can motivate children by encouraging them, recognizing their efforts, setting achievable goals, and allowing them to explore their curiosity and think outside the box.

3. How is it different from teaching kids?

Students who are not motivated will not learn effectively and teaching alone won't improve academic performance. Motivated students are more excited to participate in class, and unmotivated students can disrupt the whole class.

4. What should teenagers have?

Teenagers want to be accepted and valued by their friends, which can sometimes lead them to risky behavior. If parents are supportive and take the time to communicate with their children, they can influence teens to remain motivated and achieve their goals. Parents need to keep a watch on them and respect their independence.

77. Describe a website which helped you to do something / website you visit often/ use regularly

- Which site is it?
 - How did you know about it
 - How it helped
 - Why do you visit it often
- I surf the internet very often, in fact daily.
 - There are many websites which help us to do many things.
 - Here I would like to talk about a website through which you can find videos to do almost anything
 - It is youtube.com
 - Whenever I have to do something, which I have not done before, I search a video on this site, and believe me ma'am, there are many to choose from
 - My friend sent me a video of 3D origami once, and I was amazed to see the clear instructions.
 - It has helped me in many ways.
 - I have done many school assignments with the help of youtube videos.
 - If I like any channel on youtube, I subscribe to it and then get that channel's updates in my e- mail.
 - Recently, I baked a cake by watching a you tube video.
 - It turned out perfect.
 - It was an eggless chocolate cake.
 - I bought all the ingredients, such as self raising flour, cocoa powder, baking powder, condensed milk, vanilla extract.
 - Once my mother was not at home.
 - I made rice by watching a video.
 - That too turned out perfect.
 - Videos are better than oral or written instructions.
 - So this is the website, which has helped me many times to do something.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are the most popular and least popular apps in your country?

I think its nearly the same the world over. The most popular apps are the social media apps like Facebook and Instagram. Moreover, google as a search engine and YouTube for watching videos are also very popular. Regarding the least popular, well I would have known about them, if they were a bit more popular.

2. What the difference between the internet and the TV?

I think the main difference is that we have choice in selecting what we watch or read about on the internet. We also have choice in regards in TV but it is among a few different options, it is not as open ended as the internet. Moreover, the internet is more interactive as it gives us the option to express ourself. For example, we can post reviews and rate movies after watching them.

3. Why do some people like to read news on the internet instead of getting it from TV?

The main benefit is that people can directly search for the news they are interested in. For example, if someone is interested in sports news , he can directly move to the sports section. Moreover, people can also read the news in detail along with watching the video on the Internet.

4. Are libraries still beneficial? Why or why not?

Libraries are much more than places with a collection of books. They are places which provide a quiet environment for people to sit and concentrate on their work. Thus ,if we look at them from the perspective of increasing noise in the world, their importance has increased. Moreover, the internet has a lot more information but the information is scattered and its really hard to not get distracted while working on the internet.

5. What kinds of people still like to go to the library to study?

Firstly, I think people who find it hard to concentrate at home or those who need a peaceful and quiet environment still go the library. Moreover, people who find looking at the computer screen straining like to go to the library.

6. What is difference between the old and young in regards to internet use?

I would call the young to be experts and old as amateurs in this regard. I think young were born with the internet and thus are much more comfortable in using it. They know all the ins and out of the internet, they know the reliable websites and they can recognise the scams as well. Moreover, internet is a part of life for the youth - they use it for anything or everything, while the old it is till limited to some specific areas like banking or online shopping.

7. Can internet help children in their study?

Yes, definitely. The Internet is an ocean of knowledge. Children can take the help of many educational sites on the net.

8. Will downloading music or movies for free cause a problem?

Yes, it can cause problems. It can affect the sale of this music and the movies also. But it cannot be stopped. People will always find ways of doing so. This has also made many amateur singers and actors famous overnight.

9. Some people say that different age groups have different tastes on the internet content. What do you think?

Yes, interests change according to age. Children like to watch cartoons on internet whereas the younger generation uses it mainly for social networking and shopping. The elderly are using it for finding and sharing information.

10. What influence can (or does) the internet have on children?

Internet has positive as well as negative impact on children. If the internet access is not supervised or appropriate parental controls are not implemented, children can access restricted websites which can have a negative influence on them.

11. What kind of people don't use the internet and what are the disadvantages that those people suffer because they don't use the internet?

Some people who are against technology and have orthodox thinking do not use the internet. But mostly poor people do not have access to internet. These people are not aware about things happening around them and how technology has brought convenience to our life. So they are dependent on others all the time for information.

78. Describe a piece of good news you heard from others

- What it was
- When you received this news
- How you received this news
- Why you feel it was a good news

- In our day-to-day life, we hear a lot of news from others.
- Some are good and some are not so good
- Here I would like to talk about a news, which I heard from my neighbours.
- The news was that an international level sports stadium is going to open in my home town.
- About six months ago, as I was walking in a park near my home, I saw some neighbours standing in a group and discussing something.
- I joined them and came to know that they were talking about this stadium.
- As it is the sports facilities in my hometown are not so good and the young people do not have a place to develop their sporting talent.
- Many young people who are serious to do sports as a career have joined academies in Jalandhar and Phillaur.
- If there will be such facilities locally, then many more youngsters would be encouraged to do sports regularly.
- I feel it is a good news because we are leading sedentary lives.
- There is hardly any physical activity.
- Obesity has become a common problem among the people, especially young children.
- The youth is going towards drugs and other such vices.
- An NGO, run by some NRIs of my home town have donated two acres of land for this project.
- Our local MLA has got the approval for this and is being very proactive for fetching funds for this project.
- This stadium would have an underground car parking to accommodate 500 cars.
- The construction work has already started.
- The stadium would have a seating capacity of 5000.
- It would have covered seating areas also.
- There would be changing rooms for the sportsmen, and washrooms for the public.
- There would be drinking water facility at regular intervals.
- There would also be surveillance cameras all over, so that no untoward incidence happens.
- If people know they are being watched, then they refrain from doing anti-social things such as petty crime.
- There would be lights run by solar energy.
- The stadium would be so well lit even at nights that sports could be played there 24/7.

Another idea

- In our day-to-day life, we hear a lot of news from others.
- Some are good and some are not so good
- Here I would like to talk about a news, which I heard from my neighbours.
- The news was that a multi-specialty hospital is opening in my home town
- I heard this news about six months ago.

- About six months ago, as I was walking in a park near my home, I saw some neighbours standing in a group and discussing something.
- I joined them and came to know that they were talking about this hospital.
- As it is the medical facilities in my hometown are not so good and the people who suffer from any medical facilities have to be shifted to Jalandhar or Ludhiana.
- Many people who are serious, sometimes suffer from irreversible damage to their health because of this delay.
- For example, if a person suffers heart attack or stroke, then there are injections which prevent irreversible damage to the heart or brain.
- If there will be such facilities locally, then many people would get timely treatment and get well very soon and lead normal lives.
- I feel it is a good news because we all may need such treatment at any time during our lives.
- We are leading sedentary lives nowadays.
- There is hardly any physical activity.
- Obesity has become a common problem among the people, especially young children.
- Obesity is the root cause of many ailments.
- An NGO, run by some NRIs of my home town have donated two acres of land for this project.
- Our local MLA has got the approval for this and is being very proactive for fetching funds for this project. Makkar IELTS
- This stadium would have an underground car parking to accommodate 500 cars.
- The construction work has already started.
- The hospital would be 200 bedded.
- It would have separate wings for all specialties.
- There would also be surveillance cameras all over, so that everything would be under scrutiny.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How do people share good news?

People share good news in many ways. They just tell each other face to face. They also use social media like Facebook, Twitter and Whatsapp. They also call the other person and tell about any good news. They write e-mails also for this purpose.

2. Why do people share news on social media and is it good to share news on social media?

Social media is a quick and time-saving platform for sharing news. People just have to post one message and it reaches a very wide audience instantaneously. I generally don't see any harm in sharing something on social media. However, it should be don't privately with one's family and friends instead of publicly.

3. How does modern technology affect the delivery of information?

It affects in many ways. It has made the delivery of information instant. You just update your status on Facebook or Whatsapp and all your friends and group members are reached at once.

4. Should the media only publish good news?

Definitely not. I think its important to publish both. Nowadays a lot of media just focuses on crime and disasters as they get them better TRP. Fair media should depict both the positive and negative stories - so that viewers can get a better image about what's happening in the world.

5. When do people share good news?

People share good news when they want their near and dear ones to know what good has happened to them. For example, if anyone becomes a parent, he wants to share this news with everyone. If anyone buys a new home or a new car then he wants his friends and relatives to know about that. If anybody clears an exam or gets a new job, he wants others to know about it.

6. What kinds of good news have you received before?

I have received many kinds of good news. I received the good news that my cousin was blessed with a baby girl. I also received the good news that my cousin had topped in his 8th grade exam.

7. What kind of good news do people like to hear?

People like to hear good news about any achievements of their friends and relatives, any celebrity visiting their town or city, any festival celebration and any new movie released of their favourite actor or actress. People also like to hear any new developmental projects that have been sanctioned for their community or city

8. Do most people like to share good news?

Yes, its human nature. We are social beings and sharing good news with others give us happiness. However, a lot of time people do not share the negative things in their life and this leads to problems like depression and loneliness.

9. Do people like to hear good news from their friends?

In most cases yes. However, sometimes it can lead to jealousy. For example, if two friends are preparing for the same exam and one clears it while the other doesn't. The friend who failed might not be so welcoming to hear the good news of the other friend. Its human nature.

79. Describe a place where there was a lot of noise/ Describe a noisy place you have been to

- When this happened?
 - Where it was?
 - Why there was a lot of noise
 - Explain what you did when you heard the noise
- Noise pollution has become an inevitable part of our life.
 - Whether we like it or not, we have to tolerate it. We can't escape it.
 - Here, I'm going to talk about a situation when there was too much noise.
 - A religious function, which we call jagrata or jagran, was held last Sunday in my neighborhood.
 - In such functions people sing hymns and chants in praise of Gods and Goddesses the whole night long.
 - The function started at 8 PM and went up to 5 AM.
 - There is a law against using loudspeakers after 10 PM but people don't abide by the law in the name of religion.
 - They do not realize that some people might be suffering from excessive noise.
 - I was not able to sleep the whole night.
 - I closed all windows of my house to reduce that sound, but it did not make any difference.
 - Then I put earplugs in my ears but that too did not work.
 - There might have been many other people who suffered like I did that night.
 - I am not against any religious event, but I'm definitely against using loud speakers after 10 PM.
 - Such laws should be implemented more strictly, and I believe that the use of pressure horns also must be restricted.
 - Noise pollution has a negative effect on our mental health as well as physical health.
 - It can lead to hearing impairment, Fatigue, Heart problems, Insomnia, Anxiety, Depression and so on.
 - It can also reduce the work efficiency.
 - One of my uncles has come from Canada and he tells me that in Canada people are not using horns unnecessarily and still the traffic runs very smoothly.
 - I hope we all realize the menace of noise pollution and do our bit to reduce it from our lives

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Is noise pollution serious in India?

Yes, it is. We have noise all around us, most of which can be avoided. There is unnecessary honking of pressure horns from vehicles. Industries are making noise. People use loudspeakers for personal functions, and neighbours are forced to bear the noise.

2. Do you like to live in a noisy place?

No, definitely not. But, unfortunately it is difficult to find places in cities, which are noise free.

3. Do you like to go to noisy places?

Once in a while, I like to attend parties and functions where DJ is playing loud music and I can dance and enjoy with my friends and relatives.

4. Where can you hear a loud noise?

We can hear loud noise all around us. There is unnecessary honking of pressure horns from vehicles. Industries are making noise. People use loudspeakers for personal functions, and neighbours are forced to bear the noise.

5. Do you think that there is more noise in people's lives today than in the past?

Yes, I think so. The number of vehicles is growing day by day. All these are making noise. Industries are also growing in numbers. These are also making too much noise. As these sources of noise are increasing, so definitely we are suffering from more and more noise these days.

6. Do you think that cities will become noisier in the future?

Yes, I suppose so. Whether we like it or not, the noise producing things are increasing and so it is quite probable that cities will become noisier in the future.

7. What is the noise in life?

The noise in our life means the distractions that do not let us focus on the goals in our life. For example, nowadays, people do not concentrate on their studies or work, and are often busy scrolling unimportant feeds/updates on their mobile phones. The loads of data that they consume everyday becomes the noise in their life.

8. How is the noise level in your city?

My city is an industrial city and on top of that it is on the national highway. So, the noise levels are very high.

9. Where does noise in urban areas come from?

The noise in urban areas comes from pressure horns of vehicles, industries and loud speakers.

10. Do you think it is important to be alone sometimes?

It is very important to be alone sometimes. Everyone needs to introspect at times. One needs to know about ones likes and dislikes and everyone needs time for one's personal work which can be best done in solitude.

11. What is the importance of belonging to a certain group?

There is a lot of importance of belonging to a social group. Man is a social animal and cannot live alone for long. One needs to share one's happiness and sorrows with others. That is why we join social groups and feel part of these groups. Social groups are a sort of support system. They give us support when we are low in life. It is mentally unhealthy to be alone for long.

12. What are problem you could have if you go out together in big group?

There could be a lot of problems in a big group. It is difficult to organise a big group. Mismanagement can lead to conflicts. It could end up in a lot of wastage of time. It has been well said that "two is a company and three is a crowd".

13. Why people like going to noisy places, like a restaurant or pub , even they know these places are noisy?

Some people like to enjoy loud music that is why they like to hangout at such pubs or discs. Moreover, since their aim is to socialise so they are not bothered by the noise at these places.

14. Shall we encourage children to make noises?

We should tell children to make noise only when they feel that they are in a dangerous situation. This way they can alert others or save themselves from a tragedy.

15. Do you think it is good for children to make noise?

No I don't think it is good to allow children to make noise unless and until they face a threat from someone. Unnecessary noise creates a lot of disturbance and distracts everyone around.

16. What kind of noises are there in our life?

There are many different types of noises that we can experience in our daily lives, including: Environmental noises, such as traffic, construction, and nature sounds (e.g. birds singing, wind blowing).

Mechanical noises, such as those produced by appliances, machinery, and vehicles. Human-generated noises, such as talking, laughing, and music.

Biological noises, such as those produced by animals, insects, and other living organisms. Acoustic noise, such as noise from sound systems, and other audio sources.

17. Which area is exposed to noise more, the city or the countryside?

Cities tend to have higher levels of noise pollution than rural or suburban areas. This is because cities have a higher population density, more traffic on the roads, and more industrial and commercial activity, all of which can contribute to noise pollution.

18. How would people usually respond to noises in your country?

I think that the way people respond to noise in India can vary depending on factors such as age, culture, and socioeconomic status. But in general, people in my country may be more accustomed to living with a higher level of noise pollution than people in some other countries. This is because noise is a common part of daily life in India, where cities are often very crowded and busy, and there is a lot of traffic and other activity on the streets.

19. How can people consider other's feelings when chatting in public?

I believe there are many ways people can consider others' feelings when chatting in public. Firstly, people should speak at a moderate volume. They should speak in a normal tone of voice and avoiding talking loudly. This can help prevent conversation from disrupting the people around them. Secondly, people should be aware of their surroundings. They should be mindful of where they are and who might be around them. For example, if they are in a library or a quiet area, it's best to keep the voice down. Finally, they should be sensitive to the topic of conversation and avoid discussing sensitive or controversial topics that might offend or upset others.

80. Describe something you taught to your friend/relative. You should say:

- What you taught him/her?
 - When it was?
 - How long it was for?
 - And explain how you felt about it.
- My sister lives in the US.
 - Last summer, she and her children visited us in India during the summer vacations.
 - Both her children, my niece and nephew are quite inquisitive and they are always keen on learning something new.
 - One day, they saw me playing chess online and they immediately developed an interest in chess.
 - They requested me to teach them.
 - They visit India very rarely, so I thought it would be a nice way to spend some quality time with them.
 - They were visiting for 2 months, so we had plenty of time.
 - I started with the basics and explained how each piece moved first.
 - With time, I covered some of the complex mechanics like castling and en passant.
 - I also bought them a membership at chess.com, so that they could practice alone when I was busy.
 - The website has some nice puzzles, which teach how to think in difficult positions.
 - They played against computer bots and other players as well
 - Chess is about practice and the more they played different players, the more they learnt.
 - They were very quick to pick up things and by the end of two months, they had also beaten me two three times.
 - In fact, I also learnt a few special moves from them.
 - It was a very fulfilling experience overall.
 - I think it was first time I taught someone something.
 - I felt very proud when they picked up things and them beating me was icing on the cake.
 - I lost as a player but I succeeded as a teacher.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What are things that young people can teach old people to do?

I think they can teach them anything they are good at. However, if I had to pick something specific I would say the use of technology like how to use mobile phone features, apps and computer softwares.

2. What skills can young people teach the old besides technology?

I think they can teach them the ability to change and adapt. Old people are generally hesitant and unwilling to take risks and make changes but they are necessary to survive in today's world. They can also teach them how to take risks.

3. Why older people have problems in learning new things?

I think its about memory. I think people's memory deteriorates with time and people start forgetting things. For example, sometimes when I am teaching my mother, she forgets the previous steps. However, when I repeat it once or twice, she picks it up.

4. Do you think showing is a better way than telling during education?

Of course. Its easier to remember things we see. I am not sure why but I think our visual memory is far better. Moreover, there can be misunderstandings when telling something as words can be interpret differently.

5. Do you think constant training is important for people to study something?

Yes, practice is the key to success. I remember I once watched a video which said that if a person spends about 1200 hours on something, he can become an expert at it. I couldn't agree more. I remember I taught my mother how to use Microsoft Word and now she knows about it more than me because she uses it much more.

6.) How can the young teach the old?

I think the best way would be show them to do something rather than telling them what to do. Young people need to be patient while teaching and remember that it takes the aged a little bit more time.

81. Describe your experience when you changed your school/college" or Describe an experience about moving to a new school or house/ Describe your first day at school

- Why did you change your school/college?
 - When was it?
 - Was that helpful?
 - What were the consequences after that?
- I have been to two schools in my life.
 - My primary school was different from my secondary school.
 - I have vague remembrances of my primary school as I was too small then.
 - Here I would like to talk about my secondary school in which I studied from 6th to 12th class.
 - I had to change my school because my father got transferred to a different city and we had to move with him
 - My school's name was SD Model Senior Secondary School.
 - I vividly remember I was very nervous on the first day.
 - This school was much bigger than my primary school.
 - I was afraid of getting lost there.
 - I was a little bit excited also.
 - I just walked inside with the other students and went where they were going.
 - I was a new face for them so many of them were staring at me.
 - I asked one student about where 6th class was.
 - Coincidentally she was also in 6th class.
 - She took me to her class.
 - That was the beginning of my new friendship.
 - Her name was Harleen and till today we are the best of friends.
 - She made me feel very comfortable.
 - All my nervousness vanished.
 - We attended the classes before the lunch break and during recess she showed me the whole school.
 - I was awed by the infrastructure of the school.
 - There were separate labs for physics, chemistry, and computer science.
 - There was also a huge library.
 - Badminton and volleyball courts were also there.
 - The canteen was the most impressive.
 - All the teachers were also very nice.
 - I studied for 7 years in that school.
 - Those were the most memorable years of my life.

Part 3 - Follow-up Questions

1. Are children better at solving problems than adults?

I don't think that children are better problem solvers as compared to adults because problem-solving requires two things, one is the logical ability and second is experience. Although children might be good at applying new approach or perspective towards the problem, however, they sometimes don't have the experience to solve the problems that they face. Sometimes who can solve it better will also depend on the nature of the problem.

2. If people move frequently, is it better to stay in one house all the time?

I don't think it would be wise to stay at one place if someone moves or gets transferred frequently to different cities or towns. For example, my brother, who is in the Army, gets posted to a new city after every 2 years, he always moves to the new place with his family because if he chooses to opt for a permanent home, then he would have to live away from his wife and children.

3. What are the pros and cons of living in a high-rise building?

I think the advantages that high-rise building offers is the beautiful views and easy access to facilities like gyms, swimming pools shops. On the other hand, the disadvantages include the fire risks and the fact that people have to live in compact spaces because the apartments and rooms in high-rise buildings are comparatively smaller in size.

4. What are the pros and cons of living in an old and new neighborhood?

I think the major difference of living in old and new neighbourhoods is the access to facilities. For example, in old neighbourhoods it is difficult to find parking spaces because during their construction cars were not that popular, whereas the new neighborhoods are much better planned and focus on the challenges that people face today.

5. How do parents prepare their kids to go to school on the first day?

I think firstly they should ensure that their children have a proper morning routine so that they get up on time. Secondly, they should stock up on all the school supplies like stationary and notebooks. Finally, I think they should talk to their children and tell them what should they expect, what should they do if they face any problems. Its important that the child doesn't see the school as a burden.

6. How do children socialise with each other?

I think children socialise with each other when they spend time with each other at school studying or when they do other extra curricular activities like painting. At younger ages it can be non-verbal and as they become older, they start communicating verbally.

7. Is socialisation important for children?

I think the importance of socialisation cannot be overstated. Socialisation makes them confident and teaches them to deal with new social situations. Also ,socialisation is the key to communication skills as well. Above all, socialisation is the key to making friends.

8. What are the benefits of changing schools?

In my opinion, children learn adaptation. Change is a part of life and its very necessary that children learn how to deal with new situations from a young age. Changing schools can be difficult for children is they would need to make friends again so it necessary for parents to be present to help their children during this phase.

9. What are the reasons for job change?

There are many reasons for changing job. Firstly, it can be done to break the monotony of life or in other words to find something new to do. Another major reason is money. Some people also do it for the work environment as they find the work environment toxic.

82. Describe a place/ country in which you would like to live/ work for a short period of time

- Where you would like to live/work
 - What you want to do there
 - When would you like to go there
 - Why you want to live there
- I am planning to go abroad for my higher studies.
 - My dream country for my further studies is Canada.
 - I would like to work there for the time that I am there.
 - I have heard that students can work part time while studying over there.
 - My friend went to Humber College Canada for his Business Management course.
 - He told me a lot about the education system there.
 - He is working part time in a pizza outlet.
 - He gets 10 Canadian dollars an hour. m a k k a r I E L T S
 - He can work 20 hours per week but he can be flexible with the number of hours he can work per day.
 - So he works 5 hours on Saturday and 5 on Sunday and two hours per day on weekdays. In this way his study is not disturbed.
 - He is managing his overhead expenses very nicely.
 - I intend to join him soon.
 - He has promised to help me find a job there.
 - I would like to work in the library.
 - Part time jobs in the library get filled up very fast.
 - If I don't get a job in the library, I would like to work in a restaurant or a fast food outlet.
 - I think it would be a very good way to learn about the culture and to meet new people and make new friends.
 - Canada is a beautiful country.
 - My friend is in Toronto and he has told me that he has visited many places there.
 - He told me about the CN Tower and the Niagara Falls.
 - So, I would definitely like to live in Canada for a short time

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What kinds of jobs are easy to get in a foreign country?

My cousin who lives in Canada tells me that there are many jobs that are easy to get for students studying there. The most common ones are the jobs in restaurants or fast food outlets like McDonald's, Burger King, Subway, and those in the college campus itself, like jobs in the library, etc.

2. Should young adults work abroad?

Yes, young adults should work abroad because of several reasons like, taking care of their overhead expenses, taking the financial burden off their parents' shoulders, they become more independent and responsible and they gain experience about the work culture, which would help them in their future. It is also a good way to learn about the culture of that country and to meet new people and make friends.

3. If they don't work abroad, would it be helpful for them to travel in a foreign country?

Yes, travelling is definitely helpful. They would come to know about the culture, meet new people, see new places, and make new connections. However, if they don't work, they may not be able to afford travelling.

4. Do Indian parents encourage their children to work abroad?

Yes, Indian parents encourage their children to work abroad. They prepare their children well before they travel abroad, about the situations and hardships they may have to face and the importance of working while studying there, so that they can cover their expenses and also gain work experience.

5. If you had an opportunity to live abroad, which country would you like to settle down in? If I have an opportunity to live abroad, I would like to settle in a developed country, like Canada,

Australia, the USA, etc. I have heard from my friends and relatives living abroad that life there is very comfortable, with better facilities and infrastructure. They also tell me that the standard living is very high there, as compared to India. Also, there are a lot of job opportunities available there.

6. Would you like to live in a developed city with a high salary but with polluted air?

If I am in dire need of money for my family, I would go for it, but otherwise I would avoid it. I would use a face mask to filter the polluted air. I would also avoid taking my family there with me.

7. Would you like to live alone or share a room with others?

This would also depend on my financial condition. If sharing a room would save me money, I would share, otherwise, living alone would give me more privacy and independence.

8. What are the advantages and disadvantages of living alone?

Disadvantages are that it would be costly and I would have to do all my household chores myself, but the advantages are that I would have more privacy and I can live according to my wish.

9. Do people prefer planned travel?

Yes, there are too many options to choose from nowadays. That's why it has become really important for people to plan their travel. Planning also reduces costs as last minute reservations or booking are really expensive.

10. Why are places with historical attractions more active in developing tourism?

I think historical places hold a unique charm for people. People often want to visit places they have read in history books, up close. Moreover, historical places are unique in the sense that we can find places with natural beauty anywhere for example hill stations, beaches but historical sites are particular to that location.

11. Why do you think people usually travel?

People travel to get a break from the monotony of life. They travel to meet new people, to experience a new culture. People also travel to spend some quality time with their loved ones as it is very difficult to find time during daily life nowadays.

12. Why do you experience more noise when living in a tourist city?

I think the major reason is increased traffic due to tourists. Moreover, there are entertainment centres like shopping malls, club, movie theatres and amusement park, which add to the level of noise.

13. Do you think tourists can experience bad things in other countries?

Certainly, firstly, there are many scams that target tourists especially for example exorbitant transportation charges. As tourists don't know much about the area, they are more likely to become a victim to such scams. Moreover, tourists may also experience racism sometimes.

83. Talk about an interesting old person you met recently

- Who is this person?
 - How you met him? How you know him
 - What you do with this person (optional)
 - Why you found him interesting?
- I know many old persons, but here I would like to talk about my friend Sonia's grandfather.
 - I met him about 6 months ago and I found him very interesting.
 - His name is Mr Jaswant Singh.
 - He is in his mid seventies.
 - He is not tall, but looks very handsome.
 - Even at this age he is very lithe and agile.
 - Sonia tells me that he is very health conscious, and never misses his morning and evening walk.
 - He retired as a colonel from the Indian army.
 - Once i visited Sonia's place to work on a project and there I met him for the first time.
 - He was sitting in the lobby doing something on his laptop.
 - I found it very interesting that a person of his age was so comfortable with a laptop.
 - He was placing an order at Amazon.in for some headphones.
 - My parents find it difficult to handle a smartphone and he was using a laptop like a pro.
 - He greeted me very warmly and so I started chatting with him.
 - I was amazed at his vast knowledge.
 - He told me stories of his life in the army.
 - He told me stories of his life in the army.
 - He told me how he participated actively in the Kargil war.
 - So now whenever I go to Sonia's house, I make it a point to sit with him for some time and learn something new.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think old people and young people can share the same interest?

It may sometimes be difficult for old people and young people to share the same interests. Young people are generally more energetic, so they prefer outdoor sports, but old people can only play those games which are not physically trying. It would be wrong to say that they cannot share the same interest. They both can share the same interest in TV programs, movies, indoor games, etc.

2. What skills can the old teach the young?

Old people today have seen a lot of changes in their lifetime. My grandfather has told me many stories of how difficult his life was when there were no vehicles and horses were used for transportation. He has also seen a lot of technological advancements. For example, the evolution of music started with radio and was followed by gramophones, cassette players, cd's and dvd's, and finally iPods and Mobile Phones. The most important life skills such as adaptability, versatility and openness to change, can be taught by the old to the young.

3. What skills can the young teach the old?

Young people are faster at learning about modern technology and better at operating gadgets. They can definitely teach these skills to old people. Also, since young people are now entering various businesses, other young people understand them and can do a better job of negotiating prices of goods and services. This too is an important skill for old people who are always keen to get a good bargain.

4. Do you think the old people should live with their family?

Ideally they should. But, if not possible for some reasons, they should be in old age homes and not live alone. Living alone can be dangerous for them.

5. Do you think the old and the young can have the same interests?

It may sometimes be difficult for old people and young people to share the same interests. Young people are generally more energetic, so they prefer outdoor sports, but old people can only play those games which are not physically trying. It would be wrong to say that they cannot share the same interest. They both can share the same interest in TV programs, movies, indoor games, etc.

6. Do you think people are more selfish or self-centred than in the past?

I don't think so. People are more ambitious and busier than in the past. As a result, people don't have much free time to help their friends or family members. I don't think that's being selfish, its just prioritising work.

84. Describe a piece of technology that you find difficult to use.

- When did you get it?
 - What did you get it for?
 - How often do you use it?
 - How do you feel about it?
- We live in a time where technology has made it possible to do many things considered unimaginable in the past.
 - But it has also come at the cost of simplicity.
 - Today, I would like to talk a washing machine, which offers so many features but is also very complicated to use.
 - Recently, our previous washing machine broke down and we decided to buy a new one.
 - I compared the different models online and ultimately decided on a Gen Z model from a famous company.
 - It boasted 102 different washing modes for different types of clothes.
 - None of the other models came even close to it.
 - When I bought, I never thought if I really needed 102 modes.
 - There are 102 different modes, but it is impossible for the machine to have 102 buttons.
 - The modes have to be changed and selected on the basis of just 10 buttons.
 - Its really hard to remember the buttons I need to press.
 - In fact for the simple basic wash cycle, I have to press five buttons in a particular order.
 - For this, I always need to keep the user manual closely.
 - Many times, if I click on a wrong button I have to start all over again.
 - It gives a headache to use it.
 - Earlier, our maid used to easily use the washing machine
 - However, this one is too complicated for her to use as she doesn't know English and the user manual is only in English.
 - I really regret buying this machine.
 - But I have also learnt a valuable lesson.
 - More is not always good.
 - I don't think I will ever end of using more than five modes in my life.
 - When buying things, I shouldn't care about what the technology offers but rather what I need.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What technology products or technologies are used by people now?

Our life is full of technology. In fact, we use a technology from waking up to sleeping. A few examples are all the kitchen gadgets, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, mobile phones, laptops, cars and so on.

2. Why do large companies often produce new products?

I think it is a game of constant one-upmanship. Companies are trying to cram in more and more features trying to out do each other without really thinking about what is essential. For example, there are mobile phones out there with more than 10 cameras.

3. Why are people so enthusiastic about buying newer iPhone models, even when nothing much changes?

I think the main reason is that the people want to show off that they own the latest model. Moreover, I think buying something new makes it exciting. We don't have the same bonds with products we earlier did and thus its very easy to throw away the older model for the newer one.

4. What changes has the development in technology brought in our life?

I think our life has changed tremendously. Some changes have had negative consequences, whereas others have made our life better. On the negative side, socials bonds have become weaker as we don't as much time with each other as earlier. In addition, our life has become sedentary as there is much less physical activity in our lives. On the positive side, we have much more options than the past. We have faster transportation, better healthcare and better food options. So, I would say its a mixed bag.

5. Has technology affected the way we study? How?

Yes, to a certain extent. For example, there are multiple modes of education like videos, audios, presentation and not just books. It has also changed the way we search for information. However, it hasn't completely replaced classroom learning which is still the main mode of education all over the world.

85. Describe a historical period you would like to know more about

- What period do you want to know about
 - Why do you want to know about it
 - How do you think you can know about it
- History has never been my favourite subject
 - But there are some periods of history, which have always fascinated me, and I would like to know more about them
 - One such period is the Indus Valley period
 - I recently saw the movie Mohenjo Daro, which tells about the way people, lived during those days.
 - First time I learnt about the period from my history book at school. My school also organized a trip to National Museum, New Delhi where there are many seals and pots from that period.
 - I also saw the plans of the Indus Valley Architecture.
 - Indus Valley people were very ahead of their times. They lived in cities with walls, in a time period which dates back to 2600-1900 BC.
 - Many buildings like baths, bead factories, granaries have been excavated at their ruins.
 - An interesting thing about the Indus valley people was they lived in burnt brick houses like today.
 - The streets met each other at right angles. There were drains, which could be cleaned.
 - Also there were no places of worship, people worshipped nature elements like air, water.
 - There are still many mysteries about this period that still need to be resolved.
 - Their script has not been deciphered as of yet.
 - There is a mystery regarding the decline of the civilization.
 - Some scholars say that there was a massive earthquake.
 - Others say that outsiders attacked them.
 - Still others say that they died because they had prolonged droughts and famine because of deforestation.
 - Sometimes I dream of going back to the past and uncovering all these hidden mysteries.
 - So this is the period of history I would like to know more about.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think it is important to know about history? Should everyone learn about history?

Yes, it is very important to know about history. History tells us about our past and gives us a sense of our identity. It makes us feel like we are a part of something bigger. For example, we can't appreciate the freedom we enjoy today, unless we know that we were slaves in the past. History also teaches us not to repeat the mistakes of the past.

2. How can children learn about history?

Children can learn about history from books written by eminent historians, from museums, and from art galleries. Also, nowadays many websites have information about history. Finally, children can watch historical movies and documentaries to learn about the past.

3.) What is the difference between learning about history from books and from videos?

I think books contain a lot of factual details like dates and names which can make learning history boring in a sense. Moreover, learning through videos can increase recall as our visual memory is far long lasting. However, students also come out a lot of misinformation when learning from videos as there are a lot of inaccuracies in films.

4.) Do you think it is difficult to protect and preserve historic buildings.

Yes, it's very difficult in a sense as the maintenance costs for historic buildings is very high. To add to it, not enough people are visiting such buildings and they are not earning enough. Finally, many tourists are ignorant and vandalise the heritage sites by drawing graffiti on them. This leads to added security challenges.

5.) Who should be responsible for protecting historic buildings?

I think everyone should be responsible, the government authorities, the local people and the tourists as well. Firstly, protection requires funds, which can only be organised by government. The local people also have the responsibility to report any damaging activity to the government and finally, tourists have the responsibility to not litter or harm the buildings in any way.

6.) Who should pay for the preservation of historical buildings?

I think it should be partly funded by the government and partly by the entry fees charged to the visitors. It really depends upon the popularity of the historical building. If it's very famous, the ticket prices may be enough to pay for the preservation. However, if it's not as famous, then the government has to pay a considerable amount.

7. How do you think famous historical figures can serve as models for young people today?

Famous historical figures can definitely serve as role models for the young people of today. For example, when the young people of my country learn about the sacrifices done by our great martyrs, they are filled with a sense of patriotism, and want to do something for the country.

8. Do people in your country like to visit museums?

Yes, people in my country like to visit museums. They learn a lot from them. The modern interactive museums are more interesting for the young people and children. For example, people of my state like to go to Pushpa Gujral Science City museum more than the other museums because they have a lot to do and see over there.

9. Who do you think likes to go to museums more – children or adults?

Both, children and adults like to go to museums, but children enjoy those museums, which are interactive.

10. Do you think museums should be free of cost to enter?

No, I do not think museums should be free of cost. These museums require a lot of maintenance. So a minimum fee should be there. Moreover, people do not value something, which is given to them absolutely free.

11. Do you think local people and tourists should pay the same amount to enter a museum?

Yes, local people and tourists should pay the same amount to enter museum. If tourists were charged more it would be unfair. Some people think that local people are already paying for the upkeep of the museums through taxes, so it would be okay if tourists were charged more. But I feel that tourists are helping in the economy in many other ways, so there is no need to charge them more for museums or other historical sites.

12. How do you think the museums of the future might be different from the museums of today? What the future holds in store, no one can tell, but as far as I can see, the museums of the future would be more interactive. New things would be added to them from time to time. Activities would be there to entertain the children and others. Audiovisual aids would be used more.

13. How do you think the museums of the future might portray the 21st century?

Museums of the future might portray the 21st Century as an era of rapid progress in the field of technology, transport, education and health.

86. Describe an unusual meal that you had.

- When did you eat it
 - Where did you eat it?
 - With whom you had the meal?
 - Why do you think it was unusual?
- When I was a child, I used to be a very selective eater.
 - My mother was always worried about my health.
 - I used to drink milk but then I started avoiding it too.
 - I remember, I used to intentionally spill milk or throw it in the washbasin when no one was looking.
 - Once I mother caught me throwing it.
 - My parents scolded me a lot.
 - My dad told my mother that I should not be given milk again.
 - My mom was caught between a rock and a hard place.
 - I don't know how she came up with a fried milk recipe but the next day I was given some cutlets instead of milk.
 - I had no idea what they were but I loved them.
 - From then on, every morning, I ate those fried things.
 - I felt like the luckiest kid.
 - I also took a few for my friends in school.
 - They all loved them too.
 - Someone in school asked me, what they were made of.
 - I asked my mom but she said it's a secret.
 - For a few days I forgot about it but then one day, I actually saw my mom making them from the kitchen window.
 - They were made from milk. It was fried milk.
 - My mother had found a way of feeding me milk and at the same time making sure I didn't throw it.
 - She added many other things to it like eggs, lemon peels, and cornstarch.
 - I don't think I would have eaten them, if I knew they were made from milk before tasting them.
 - My mother made a whole meal out of something I hated.
 - It was of course less healthy as it was fried but she used very little oil too.
 - Even now, I sometimes crave them.
 - My mother is always ready to make them.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. Do you think having dinner at home is a good idea?

Yes, of course. Home cooked meals are always healthier than meals at restaurants. At home we use the best oils and add spices to our taste. We also wash the vegetables properly before cooking.

2. Do young people like to spend time with their families or friends?

Young people like to spend time with friends more because they have no generation gap with friends. When they spend time with family, there are chances of misunderstandings. Parents have to be friendly, otherwise young people drift away from them.

3. What do you think are the benefits of having dinner together?

When families have dinner together, it increases family bonding. They share their day's happenings with each other. It has also been seen that when families have 3-5 meals a week together, then children do not fall into vices like drugs and alcohol.

4. Do you think people are less willing to cook meals by themselves these days, compared to the past?

Yes, people have become more career oriented and have started earning more. When spending capacity increases then people find easy way out and eat out.

5. What are the advantages and disadvantages of eating in restaurants?

One significant advantage of eating in restaurants is that you don't have to cook and clean. You get to spend time with family and friends. You can try new cuisines and dishes that you don't cook at home. The disadvantages are it can be expensive and unhealthy. Restaurant food is full of saturated fats and has a lot of calories.

6. What fast foods are there in your country?

In my country, you see hawkers selling fast food on every street. Typical fast foods are Pakora, Samosa, Pav Bhaji, Tikki, Chole Bhature. Recently international fast-food chains like McDonald's, Pizza Hut, Burger King, Subway, etc, have opened up in all major cities and towns. So, Pizza, burgers, and fries have become popular.

7. Do people eat fast food at home?

Yes, people do eat fast food at home. People are busy and don't have time to cook. It's very convenient to have fast food delivered or order takeout on the way back from work. Sometimes its even cheaper to eat fast food than cooking with fresh ingredients at home.

8. Why do some people choose to eat out instead of ordering takeout?

Eating out is fun, and people can meet friends and socialize. Also, people don't have to wait in line for takeout. They can sit down and relax in a restaurant. Also, food often gets cold by the time you reach home.

9. Do people in your country socialize in restaurants? Why?

In my country people do socialize in restaurants. It is very relaxing, and people can bond with friends and family over a nice meal.

10. Do people in your country value food culture?

Yes, food is an important part of our culture. India is very diverse and different states in India have their own traditional food, recipes, and cooking techniques. People like to cook fresh homemade food daily and eat it together with their families.

87. Describe an achievement/success you are proud of

- What you did
 - When did you do it
 - How did you feel about it
 - Why did that achievement make you proud
- Whenever anyone achieves anything, he or she is very proud of it.
 - What may be a simple thing for one person may be an achievement for another.
 - For me overcoming my glossophobia was a very difficult thing.
 - I used to be very stage shy and could never speak in front of an audience.
 - It so happened that once I participated in an environment fair held in my hometown.
 - We were a team of four students – Mohit, Rohan, Ravi and I.
 - We had to make a model on pollution.
 - It was very difficult to collect ideas for the model, but our teacher, Mrs Promilla helped us.
 - We collected all data from different sources like the internet, library, magazines and so on
 - We presented all three types of pollution – air, water and noise pollution - on thermocol
 - In this project we showed the causes, effects and ways to control pollution
 - We had to speak turn wise on our model.
 - I remember I was very afraid to speak.
 - But my other friends gave me the confidence. I felt very good that I was part of that team.
 - I spoke very well that time.
 - Getting over my glossophobia was an accomplishment for me.
 - I felt very good after that.
 - We won the first prize in this competition.
 - The judges specially mentioned that the first prize was mainly because of the verbal explanation of the model.
 - This fair was covered by the local cable TV and so many people of the neighbourhood congratulated me the next day.
 - Our photograph was also there in the local newspaper Jag Baani.
 - Our school principal also appreciated us
 - I cannot forget that day.
 - All four of us were on cloud nine on that day.
 - So, this was an achievement I was proud of.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. How to measure a person's success?

It is very difficult to measure success. Success is a very subjective term. Different people give different meaning to success. For some earning a lot of money means success. For others, leading a life in which they can help others, means success. For a student, passing the exams with flying colours, means success. So measuring success is not easy.

2. Do you think the way people gain success has changed?

Yes, definitely, the way people gain success has changed. Earlier, people did a lot of hard work and success was limited to a small area. Only politicians and film stars and sportsmen who were in the news or national TV were successful over a wider area. But, nowadays, because of the reality shows, any person with some talent can become successful overnight. People can get worldwide success through the Internet, through YouTube and other such networks. Today, people know of Indian successful businessmen, all over the world, because the world has shrunk.

3. How do you define success?

It is very difficult to define success. Success is a very subjective term. Different people give different meaning to success. For some earning a lot of money means success. For others, leading a life in which they can help others, means success. For a student, passing the exams with flying colours, means success. So defining success is not easy.

4. How to reward successful people?

We can reward successful people by acknowledging their work. Some awards can be given. Some monetary benefits can be given. Sometimes giving promotions is a good way to reward successful people.

5. What's the most difficult thing you have ever done?

I am very stage shy. I remember, in the annual science fair of my school, I had to speak on a model, which I had prepared. The model was on different types of pollution. I found it very difficult, but somehow I managed it. That was the most difficult thing I did.

6. What qualities does a person need to have, to be successful?

The person should be hard working. He should have good communication skills. He should have the courage to take calculated risks. He should have a helping and caring nature.

7. Do you feel terrible when you fail to do something?

I feel terrible, but only for a short period of time. Then, I try to learn from my failure and work even harder to succeed the next time.

8. Is failure a necessary thing in people's life?

Yes, it is. Without knowing failure, we can never enjoy success. Without knowing about the night, we can never enjoy the day. Without unhappiness, we can never enjoy happiness. The freedom we are enjoying today is also because we have been under the British rule for a long time.

9. Is it important for young people to have some achievement?

I think it is an interesting question, having achievement at a young age certainly helps in gaining confidence and teaches us the importance of hard work.

10. Which one is more important, personal goals or work goals?

I think both are equally important. Life is about balance, we can't ignore either because ultimately we will feel something missing if we ignore either. However, it is a fact that most people tend to ignore personal goals as they aren't monetarily rewarded like work goals.

11 Have your life goals changed since your childhood?

Certainly, firstly my interests have changed over time. I remember when I was really young, I saw a movie on space and I wanted to become a astronaut, but then it changed to becoming an doctor. Moreover, as I grew older idealism was replaced by practicality. Finally, I have achieved certain goals in my life and so new ones have replaced them.

12. Does everyone set goals for themselves?

I think yes. They might not explicitly say what they want but everyone has certain goals in their minds. Also, some people are more motivated than others to achieve them. So, we feel like some people don't have goals.

13. Do you think material rewards are important than other rewards at work?

Not necessarily. It really depends upon the person. Some people do care about money, but for others it is about recognition and appreciation.

14. What makes people feel proud of themselves?

For me, it is about achieving something I knew was really challenging. I feel proud when I think I did better than I expected. In addition, I feel proud when I do something that brings happiness to my family.

88. Talk about a thing you complained about something (but finally got a good result)

- What did you complain about
 - Who you complained to
 - When it happened
 - What was the result and why you were satisfied with the result?
- Well, I am a kind of person who usually does not like to complain a lot.
 - But when something is not done in the right way, I feel it's my duty to get it corrected, because complaining about it will make sure that it does not happen again.
 - Today, I would like to talk about a situation when I complained about a service and eventually got it corrected
 - It happened during last month when I had to get my account statement from the bank, which I needed for applying my visa
 - When I reached the bank in the morning, the officer told me that the bank's printer was broken.
 - He asked me to come back again the next day.
 - When I went to the bank the next day he again told me the same reason.
 - I requested them to get it fixed as it was an urgent requirement for me, but the bank officials did not seem to bother much about it.
 - So I decided to file a complaint with the higher authorities.
 - I came back home, opened the bank's website and sent an email to the bank management at their headquarters
 - I immediately got a call back from them and they said they will take strict action against this complaint.
 - I thanked them and went again to the bank.
 - To my surprise, as soon as I entered the bank, the manager came to me with my account statement.
 - They had got the printer fixed immediately after my complaint.
 - I came to know that a lot of other people were also suffering because of this issue.
 - The manager asked me to take my complaint back as senior management issued a notice to him for not listening to the customers, but I refused to do the same.
 - I told him it is his responsibility to look after the customers and listen to their problems.
 - He then apologised for it and promised me that in future he will take great care about it.
 - So this was a time when I complained about something and got a good result.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. When do people usually complain?

People usually complain when they have been inconvenienced or face a discomfort. The other main reason for people complaining is when they have been duped or cheated by someone. There are also many people who may complain without any valid reason, as they may have a complaining attitude.

2. Can complaining help solve problems?

Yes, there are many scenarios when complaining helps solve problems. For instance, when a product/appliance/gadget stops working or malfunctions, complaining to the customer support or service helps solve the problem. There are many situations when people get duped or cheated and if they complain to the authorities, they are very likely to get justice.

3. What other measures you should take to solve problems rather than complain

Sometimes complaining is not the best solution to problems that we face. For instance, the traffic problems in many cities are due to people themselves not following the traffic rules. However, complaining about it doesn't solve it, taking steps and initiatives at the individual level can help resolve such issues.

4. What kind of people complain?

People who are aware of their rights and entitlements complain when they do not receive what they deserve or have been promised. However, there maybe some people who complain without any valid/solid reason. Such people are usually unaware and do not want to take responsibility for their actions.

5. Do you usually get angry?

No, I do not usually get angry. However, there are situations which make me angry, like when I see someone doing or saying something wrong and inappropriate. Sometimes reading or watching the news about crimes, corruption, and terrorist attacks and innocent people losing their lives makes me angry.

6. Do you think customers' complaints will improve product or services?

Yes, definitely. Every company knows that the customer is the king nowadays. If they get a complaint, they listen to it and try to improve. If they improve only then they retain their customers.

7. Is it necessary for companies to set up customer service?

Yes, it is necessary for companies to set up customer service. They have to listen to their customers. Positive feedbacks, as well as negative feedbacks are important for every company.

8. Are there any disadvantages to set up customer service?

Yes, sometimes some rival company may misuse and put up negative things just to spoil the name of the company.

9. Would you buy things in the shops in which you have made complaints before?

If my complaint has been listened to satisfactorily then I would go there again. This means they care for their customers.

10. What product or services do people in your country like to complain about?

People complain about everything that doesn't live up to their expectations. Supposing, someone has paid a heavy amount for some product or service and they don't get back what they expected, they complain.

11. Do you think it is better to complain, by talking or in writing?

I think a written complaint is always better, because this helps to keep proof of steps taken by the person to resolve the issue. If the issue is not resolved, it can be used as evidence in the courts.

12. Who are more likely to complain, young people or old people?

I think young people complain much more often as they have very high expectations and they are also not very patient. Old people have seen how things have improved over time and thus even if things are not perfect, they accept because they are generally better than the past.

Free time activity when you were young

89. Describe when someone gave you something you really wanted /a gift your received

- Who gave it to you
 - What was the thing
 - When you received it
 - Why you needed it?
 - How you felt about it
- In my life, I have never asked anyone for anything but there have been occasions when people have given gifts to me and it made me feel really happy.
 - Today I would like to talk about once such occasion when someone gifted me a thing that I was planning to buy on my own
 - It was given to me by my brother who is working as an engineer in Canada
 - My brother loves me very much and is a kind hearted person
 - He gifted me the latest iphone X and I was completely astonished (greatly surprised) when I came to know that he got this phone for me.
 - Actually I had been saving for this phone for a lot of months but still i didn't have enough money to buy it
 - I also read a lot of reviews about this phone and watched a lot of videos on youtube as well about this phone
 - It's an awesome phone with lot of great features like face recognition, wireless charging and dual cameras.
 - My brother was visiting us during the last winters and he saw me doing a lot of research about this phone on the internet
 - He knew that I wanted this phone badly
 - So he went ahead and bought this phone for me without letting me know
 - He gave this phone to me as a surprise on Christmas
 - When I woke up on Christmas morning the phone was lying inside a sock next to my bed.
 - At first I didn't believe if it was real or a dream but then when everyone started congratulating me, I felt elated.
 - I thanked my brother a lot and I called him my Santa Claus.
 - So this was the moment when I felt extremely joyful on receiving something I really wanted.

Part 3 Follow Up Questions

1. What is the relationship between shopping and economy of your country?
Shopping improves the economy and as economy improves, people do more shopping. So, both things depend on each other.
2. What are the things young people like to buy?
Young people like to buy clothes, shoes, electronic gadgets and many other products.
3. How your friends influence your shopping choice?
Friends suggest me things to buy. My friends are very brand conscious. So, they keep a lookout on the various offers by various branded stores. For example, recently, there was an offer on Levis jeans. Two jeans were free on purchase of one. So, we bought one for Rs 3000/- and got two free. Each one had to pay only 1000/- for the Levis jeans.
4. Is consumption important to a country?
Yes, consumption is very important to a country for its economy to grow/progress. Consumption means customer demand and that leads to mass production, employment and makes any business profitable. However, over consumption can be negative as it leads to a consumerist and materialistic society. It also leads to environmental damage. So, people should draw a line on their consumption of consumer goods and it shouldn't lead to the above mentioned drawbacks or a throw away society.
5. What should parents do when their children ask for things their friends have?
Parents should make the children understand the difference between needs and desires. Parents should also be transparent about the affordability and family budget limitations so that children become more responsible and don't demand things from their parents only because of peer pressure.
6. Why do people buy things that are not necessary?
People sometimes buy things that are unnecessary because of their materialistic nature. It could also be due to peer or societal pressures. Sometimes people may stock things in the hope that it is something that they may need in the future.
7. Should employees have their own goals?
I think it's really important for employees to have their goals, if they want to grow in life. I think the work life is changing very rapidly because of technology and employees need to update themselves with the latest skills if they want to succeed at work.
8. How should bosses reward employees?
The increasing attrition levels have made it really essential for companies to reward employees. It can be done in different ways. Firstly, there can be monetary incentives based on performance. Moreover, there can be appreciation in the form of employee of the month badge or a mention in the company newsletter or blog. Finally, I think one of the best ways to reward employees is to offer time off work, as employees are finding it really challenging to maintain work life balance these days.
9. What kinds of gifts do young people like to receive as gifts?

think it really depends upon the person but if I have to generalise I would say technological gadgets and clothes. I think young people's lives revolve around technology so anything technology oriented is appreciated.

10. How should children spend their allowance?
I think children should be allowed to decide that themselves based on their interests. For example, if they like sports, they should be allowed to buy sporting goods. However, if they waste their allowance, parents should be strict and not give them extra money.
11. Why do people like shopping more than in the past?
One reason is growing materialism. Owning new products gives us happiness. As a result, as soon as things become old and lose their novelty, we tend to renew that charm by buying something new. Secondly, people have more disposable income than in the past and thus they can buy a lot more than in the past.
12. Do you think shopping is a good for a country's economy?
Although there are certain drawbacks of excessive shopping, I consider it beneficial overall. Shopping creates demand, which in effect creates jobs and growth of industries and thus benefits the economy. However, shopping may also increase debt in the society which is detrimental.

90. Describe a development in your country like shopping centre, park etcetera

- What is the development
 - When you heard about it
 - How did it influence you?
-
- I think developments in infrastructure are very essential for the progress of a nation.
 - Developments could be in sectors like healthcare, education, housing etcetera
 - Today, I would like to talk about a recent development in our country which is related to the transportation sector.
 - Last month our honourable Prime Minister Shri NarendraModiji inaugurated the first automatic/unmanned/driverless metro train in the national capital Delhi.
 - The launch of this train was covered by all the new channels and leading newspapers.
 - That is how I came to know about it.
 - This metro train connects several stations between New Delhi and Noida a city adjoining the national capital
 - The launch of this train has benefitted millions of people who otherwise travel by bus or other transport means like their own cars and motorbikes
 - It has reduced their travel time significantly and It has also become more convenient for them to travel from one place to another.
 - The coaches of the train are imported from Germany and are made of very high quality steel.
 - I believe the government should introduce more such trains in the major cities of our country because it provides a lot of benefits to the people and the environment.
 - Moreover, it decreases the number of traffic jams in the city and the pollution caused when people use heir own private vehicles
 - This train has no driver; it is remotely controlled by a computer thus avoiding any human errors that can cause accidents.
 - When I first told my friends about this train, all of them were surprised/amazed/astonished to hear that a train can run without a driver as well.
 - This train has 8 coaches and capacity to carry 1000 people at one time
 - The coaches are very modern and have free wifi and phone charging facility as well.
 - The train also has seats reserved specially for the elderly and women
 - But when I showed them the news they were very excited about it.
 - We have also made a plan to travel by this train, next month.

1.) What transportation do you use the most?

I normally travel by my own car. When I was younger and I couldn't drive, I used to travel by bus.

2.) Is public transportation popular in India?

Yes, India is a developing country and many people still can't afford their vehicle. Therefore, public transportation is quite popular.

3.) What can be improved in public transport services?

As far as India is concerned, the list is endless. It could be made faster and more comfortable. It could also be made eco-friendly and finally the frequency needs to be improved as many people need to wait a long time for the next bus or train.

4.) What leisure facilities can be used by people of all ages?

I think nearly all the leisure facilities can be used by all the people. However, shopping malls and cinema theatres are the two, where people are more likely to meet people from all age groups.

5.) Do you think young people in your country like to visit cinemas?

Yes, I think young people are very interested in watching movies at the cinema. However, the coming of OTT apps like Netflix, Amazon Prime, Hulu have reduced their popularity to a certain extent.

6.) How is the subway system developing in your country?

It's developing really fast especially in big cities. It started with Delhi a decade ago and now nearly every metropolitan city has a subway or underground railway system. Now government is planning to construct metro in Tier 2 cities as well.

I don't play video games. I think they are a waste of time and can get very addictive. I am an outdoor person and prefer spending my free time pursuing other hobbies like gardening, tennis, hiking, etc.

What kinds of video games do you play?

I don't play video games. I like watching sports, so if I play video games in the future, I think I would like video games that have a sports theme.

Is it good for young people to play video games?

It's good if done in moderation. It helps them bond with their friends and improves their hand-eye coordination and problem-solving skills. Too much time playing video games can affect their sleep, relationships, social behavior, and focus.

6. Sunglasses

Do you often wear sunglasses?

Yes, I wear sunglasses whenever I am outside in the sun. I always wear them when I am driving.

Do you spend a lot of money on sunglasses?

No, I don't like to spend a lot of money on sunglasses. I don't buy very cheap sunglasses because they can scratch easily and may not offer full protection. I like to buy good quality sunglasses that fit well.

Do you give sunglasses as a gift?

No, I don't give sunglasses as a gift. I think they need to fit right, and people should buy the style and frame they prefer.

Why do you wear sunglasses?

I wear sunglasses to reduce the glare from the sun especially while driving. I also wear them to protect my eyes from harmful UV rays.

7. Social media

When did you start using social media?

I started using social media in high school. I got my first phone around that time and that's when I downloaded and created accounts on a couple of social media apps.

Do you think you spend too much time on social media?

I don't spend too much time on social media. I don't post about my personal life on social media. I just follow a few accounts of people I admire and can learn a lot from. I have a small circle of friends and I prefer calling my friends or meeting them in person.

Do your friends use social media?

I have a small circle of friends and most of them are not very active on social media. We are all busy with our careers and family life. Two of my friends have a small business and they mainly use social media to promote it.

What do people often do on social media?

People like to stay connected with their family and friends on social media. They share pictures of their travels, celebrations, and other important events on social media. Some use it to advertise and promote their business. Some use it to find ideas and inspiration for a new hobby.

8. Cake

Do you like eating cakes?

I don't like traditional cakes because I hate frosting. I like eating coffee cakes, pound cakes, and cakes with fruits and nuts with no icing. I also try to make substitutions like replacing white flour with whole wheat, sugar with dates, etc. to make the cake more healthy.

Do you know how to bake a cake?

Yes, I know how to bake a cake. My mom used to bake cakes for all our birthdays and other special occasions. I learned the basics from her. I like to try new cake recipes that I find online.

When do usually eat cakes?

I usually eat cakes when we are celebrating something like birthdays or anniversaries. Sometimes I make coffee cakes and enjoy them with my morning or evening tea.

What is your favorite kind of cake?

My favorite cake is Upside-Down Cake with a layer of fruit like peaches or pineapple. Not only do they taste so good, but they also look very fancy.

9. Losing things

Do you often lose things?

Yes, I am very absent-minded and often lose things. I think two things that I lost a lot are my car keys and eyeglasses. I mostly lose them at home and find them after looking for them everywhere.

What can we do to avoid losing things?

We can avoid losing things at home by being more organized and having a designated spot for all our personal belongings. For example, a tray or hooks for keys. When we are outside, we should carry a bag or backpack and keep all our personal belongings in there to avoid losing them.

Why do some people tend to lose things more often than others?

I think one reason can be that some people are more forgetful and get easily distracted. People who are not organized also tend to lose things more often.

What will you do if you find something lost by others?

It depends on the situation and where I found the item.

First, I will look around and see if I can find the owner. If that's not possible I will hand it to someone who can help like the police. If I find something in my neighborhood, I will post about it on my neighborhood social media page.

10. Colors

What is your favorite color?

My favorite color is green, especially sage green because I find it very calming and relaxing. It reminds me of nature and greenery.

Do you usually wear clothes in your favorite color?

No, I like to wear black clothes. They look very elegant, and sophisticated and go with everything.

Are there any colors that have a special meaning in your country?

Saffron is considered sacred in India and is a symbol of purity. Priests wear saffron-colored clothes, and it is a big part of all religious ceremonies. It is also on the Indian flag.

Do you think different types of people like different colors?

Yes, I think people have different color preferences. I think color preferences vary by gender, culture, and age. Some people prefer bright and warm colors and others prefer cooler colors.

11. Memory

Why do some people have a better memory while others just don't?

One reason can be genetics and some people are just born with better memory. But at the same, I think memory is like a muscle and can be trained. People can use many techniques to train their memories to be better.

Why do more people rely on cell phones to remember things?

People are multitasking and life has become busy. Smartphones provide an easy way to save to-do lists, important dates, meetings, events, etc. so people don't bother to remember things on their own. Even simple directions don't have to be memorized because all phones have a map app.

Are you good at memorizing things?

I am not good at memorizing things. I save everything on my cellphone. I even save my grocery list on the phone so I don't forget what to buy when I am at the store.

Have you ever forgotten something important?

Yes, I missed my doctor's appointment last month. I forgot to set a reminder on my phone and now have to wait another month before I can see my doctor.

12. Feeling bored

Do you often feel bored?

Yes, I get bored sometimes, especially when I am at work doing the same thing every day.

When would you feel bored?

I feel bored in long work meetings which are most of the time unnecessary. Sometimes, I spend more time in meetings than doing the actual job.

What do you do when you feel bored?

When I feel bored I like to read books, watch a movie or TV series on the TV, and talk to my friends and family.

Do you think childhood is boring or adulthood is boring?

I think adulthood is boring because as adults we have so many responsibilities. We get busy with our work lives and life becomes boring and monotonous. Childhood is the time we can play with friends and enjoy life without any worries.

13. Music

Do a lot of people like music?

Yes, people like music as it relaxes them and lifts their mood. Music brings out so many different emotions, motivates people, and keeps them going.

What kind of music do you listen to?

I mainly listen to Punjabi songs. They have good lyrics and beats. Diljit Dosanjh, Riar Sahib and Sidhu Mosseswala are some of my favorite Punjabi singers

Is it easy to learn music?

I think it's easy to learn if you are consistent and committed. It requires a lot of practice.

Did you have music lessons at school?

I did not have music lessons at school. I wish there was an option, but my school curriculum did not include music.

14. Crowded place

Is the city where you live crowded?

No, I live in a small town and it's not very crowded. I like that I can reach any part of my town in 10- 15 minutes by car.

Is there a crowded place near where you live?

Yes, my hometown "Phagwara" is about 40km from Ludhiana which is the biggest and most populous city in Punjab. I remember going there with my parents when I was growing up. We would always get stuck in traffic.

Do you like crowded places?

I don't like crowded places and avoid them if I can. I like going to my grandparents' village. It is far from the big cities and is very peaceful.

Do most people like crowded places?

I don't think anyone likes crowded places. There is so much traffic and pollution. I think people don't have a choice because these big, crowded cities have better jobs, schools, restaurants, hospitals, etc.

When was the last time you were in a crowded place?

I visited Darjeeling last summer and was surprised to see so many tourists there. It was so crowded and did not feel like a serene hill station.

15. Advertisement

Is there an advertisement that made an impression on you when you were a child

Yes, I remember a hair shampoo ad and the straight black knee-length hair of the model. I always wanted hair like hers and would tell my parents to get Sunsilk pink color shampoo for me.

Do you see a lot of advertising on trains or other transport

Yes, I see a lot of advertising on trains, buses, and autos. I think it is an effective way to reach a big and wide audience. I see ads for household products, cosmetics, restaurants, coaching centers, cell phones, etc.

Do you like advertisements?

I don't like watching too many advertisements while I am watching TV. The ads are too long and get very repetitive.

What kind of advertising do you like?

I like meaningful ads that go beyond just promoting the brand and address important social issues. For example, the soap brand Dove's ad shows how women are judged for their weight, complexion, height, hair, etc.

16. Transport

How do you go to work/school?

I work in a city about 25 km from my hometown and take the public bus to work. Also, there is a lot of traffic near my office, and it's hard to find parking. There are some paid parking garages, but they are expensive.

What is the most popular means of transportation in your hometown?

Within my hometown, scooters are the most popular means of transportation. Even though many people can afford cars, some houses even have two or more cars. Scooters remain popular as it's a tiny town, and some roads are very narrow, so driving cars in these areas is challenging.

The public transport system is popular for going to other cities. There is regular bus service for going to all the nearby towns.

How far is it from your home to work or school?

I work in Jalandhar, about 25 kms from my hometown Phagwara. I prefer staying in my hometown as housing and living expenses are cheaper compared to Jalandhar. Also, it is less crowded and more peaceful.

Do you think people will drive more in the future?

People will not drive more in the future. Our roads already have too much traffic and the infrastructure won't be able to keep up with so many private cars. The Government is also improving the public transport system so it can reach more places and be more convenient than private cars.

17. Running

Do you go running a lot?

Yes, I like to go running. It is my preferred form of exercise. At the end of the day, if I go running, it relieves me of all the stress, and I can forget all my troubles for some time. Running keeps me mentally and physically fit.

Where do you usually go running?

I prefer to run outside than running on a treadmill in a gym as I like to enjoy the scenery and fresh air. I usually go to the park near my house and do 10-15 laps around the park. Many people are walking and running there, and seeing them keeps me motivated.

When was the last time you went running?

I go running 4-5 days a week. The last I went running was the day before yesterday.

What do you think of running as a sport?

Running is an excellent sport. It is not a traditional team sport like soccer, cricket, hockey, etc. People compete in many running events like track and field, long-distance running, marathons, sprints, and relay runs. It requires a lot of hard work, discipline, and endurance and is very competitive.

Nowadays, I don't write anything, but in the past, I used to write my views about different political issues. Writing was just a means for me to express myself.

3 Do you think the things you write would change?

I am not sure. I think I write only when I am very passionate about something. So, if in the future I am passionate about something, I would write about that.

4 Do you prefer typing or handwriting when you are writing?

I prefer typing as compared to handwriting because I generally do it on websites. Also, my typing speed is a lot faster as compared to handwriting.

56. Weather

1 What's the weather like where you live?

I live in Punjab. It is like a semi-arid region and the weather is mainly hot and dry, except in the monsoons when it rains a lot, and it becomes hot and humid.

2 Do you prefer cold or hot weather?

I prefer cold weather because I think I work more effectively in cold weather. In hot weather, I feel lazy and lethargic somehow.

3 Do you prefer dry or wet weather?

I love the rain. Perhaps it's because I live in a dry region, and it receives very less rainfall.

4 Are you in the habit of checking the weather forecast? When/How often?

I normally don't check the weather forecast except during the monsoons. During the monsoon season, the rainfall becomes very unpredictable and so before I leave the house, I check the weather forecast and if it is going to rain, I carry an umbrella.

5 What do you think are the effects of climate change in recent years?

I think there have been a lot of changes. However, the biggest has been the change of seasons. The summers have become a lot hotter and extended. I remember it used to be cold during Diwali, a festival we celebrate in October/November, but now it is warm.

6 Would you like to visit other cities that have different climates from where you live?

Yes, I love to visit cities with cold climate because Punjab has very hot and warm weather and we don't get to enjoy cold climate. That is why I love going to hill stations. I also live visiting coastal cities because I enjoy beaches.

57. Technology

1 What technology do you often use, computers or cellphones?

I use a computer rather than a cellphone for most purposes. I think the small screen of the cellphones stresses my eyes.

2 What electronic devices have you bought lately?

Recently, my parents bought a smart TV for me. I got really good grades in 12th standard and therefore my parents got me the TV. I use it to stream TV series and movies.

3 Is there any technology you want to buy?

Yes, I want to buy an iPhone. A lot of friends tell me that once I use it, I will never be able to use the other phones. I really want to prove them wrong.

4 Is technology important in your life?

Yes, technology is a big part of my life. I don't think I can survive without technology. Every part of life from waking up to sleeping is connected to technology. For example, I use technology for waking up, heating water, cooking, etc.

5 Is there any technology you don't like?

I don't know. There are times when I hate technology for example when my friends become glued to their mobile screens instead of spending time with us. However, there is no technology I hate as such. There are technologies I find less useful than others and there are others I find more useful.

6 What do you think are the trends in technology today compared to when you were young?

I think the main trend is that technology is changing at a very rapid pace. Earlier, it used to take time for new technologies but nowadays, every year there is a new update.

58. Social Media

1 Do you or your friends like using social media?

Personally, I don't use social media a lot, but my friends use it a lot. My friends are particularly crazy about Instagram and Facebook.

2 Do you think you or your friends use too much social media?

Again, I don't but my friends do spend a lot of time on social media. I have heard of my friends spending more than 2-3 hours on these websites every day and I find it absurd.

3 Do you want to work in social media? Why?

Personally, I wouldn't. I am still old-fashioned in this regard. I prefer spending time with my friends face to face rather than online.

4 What's the most popular social media in India? Why?

I think it keeps on changing with time. When I was young, there were websites like Orkut which were really popular, then it was taken over by Facebook and today is the era of Instagram and Snapchat. I am not sure why, but it is about the ease of access to these latest apps that make them popular.

59. Snacks

1 What snacks do you like to eat?

I love to eat both savoury and sweet snacks. My favourite is Lays Masala Magic chips. I think probably eat too much of them to be honest.

2 Did you often eat snacks when you were young?

No, my parents were really strict with me eating snacks when I was young. They made sure I only ate healthy home-cooked meals.

3 When do you usually eat snacks now?

I normally eat snacks in the evening along with tea. It is the time, we all family members sit together and enjoy tea and snacks. I also eat snacks at night after dinner when I am watching movies.

4 Do you think it is healthy for you to eat snacks?

No, it is not very healthy to eat too much of snacks. And that is the problem with snacks, they are so delicious that we tend to overeat. Nowadays, I have started eating baked chips to avoid this.

Yes, I think singing can make us happy. I don't know how but I think singing relieves stress. I think singing takes away our focus from our worries.

61. Puzzles

1 Did you do puzzles in your childhood?

Yes, I loved doing puzzles in my childhood. I used to solve a lot of jigsaw puzzles when I was young.

2 When do you do puzzles, during your trip or when you feel bored?

I think nowadays I do puzzles when I am travelling or when my younger cousins are visiting me. It is really fun to do puzzles with them.

3 Do you like doing word puzzles or number puzzles? Which is more difficult for you?

I like doing both word puzzles like Crossword puzzles and games like wordle and number puzzles like Sudoku. However, my English is weaker than my Math and so the word puzzles are much more difficult for me. Also, there is a cultural element to word puzzles sometimes and that makes it difficult for me to solve them.

4 Do you think it is good for old people to do puzzles?

I think puzzles are one of the best ways to keep the mind sharp and active. So, I think it is a great idea for old people to solve puzzles.

62. Public transportation

1. What kind of public transportation do you usually take?

If I am travelling locally, I normally travel by bus, but if I am travelling farther away, I travel by railways or air.

2 When do you usually take public transportation, in your everyday life, or when you are travelling?

When I was young, I used to travel by bus every day because of my studies. However, nowadays, I only use public transportation when I am especially visiting someplace. For example, after every one or two months, I visit Golden Temple in Amritsar and for that I travel by bus.

3 Do most people prefer public transportation in your country?

I think public transportation is the main mode of travel for most people in India. However, as people are becoming richer, many people have started travelling by car.

4 Did you take public transportation when you were a kid?

Yes, as I said before, in my childhood, I used to travel by bus daily because of my studies.

5 Will there be more people taking public transportation in the future?

On the contrary, I think the use of public transportation will decrease further as people are becoming richer and they care more about comfort than cost. However, if the government takes some steps in this regard, there can be a change.

63. Names

1 Does your name have any special meaning?

My name is Indroop. According to Hindu mythology, my name means an Avatar of Lord Inder.

2 How would you choose names for your next generation?

I think traditionally, people used to take the first letter for the name from the holy book, and then the elder people used to suggest a name beginning with that letter. I would do the same, but I would try to keep a modern and unique name.

3 Are there any differences between how Indians name their children now and in the past?

I think nowadays, people don't follow many rituals and traditions, and names are kept without following any rules.

4 Does anyone in your family have the same name as you?

No, I am the only one in my family with this name. I think my parents wanted to keep a unique name for me and so they kept it Indroop.

5 Are there any names that are more popular than others in India?

India is a large and diverse country. Different regions have different names. For example, in Punjab, names like Gagan and Jaspreet are very common. I remember there used to be three girls with the name Gagan in my class when I was young.

64. Morning Time

1 Do you like getting up early in the morning?

No, I don't like getting up early in the morning. I normally sleep late at night, so I don't get up early in the morning. However, my parents keep telling me that I should change this habit.

1 Have you ever seen some old buildings in the city?

Yes, there are many old buildings in my city, especially in the old city area.

2 Do you think we should preserve old buildings in cities?

I am very fond of History and anything old always fascinates me, I always feel we need to take our past along into the future, so old buildings being an important part of our legacy need to be protected.

3 Do you prefer living in an old building or a modern house?

Much as I like to see old buildings and imagine them in their hey days, I prefer to live in a modern house.

4 Are there any old buildings you want to see in the future? Why?

Yes, definitely there are many old buildings on my bucket list. Starting with my own country, I'd like to see all the well-known monuments in the length and breadth of my country. Then there are many buildings like the Colossus Colosseum in Rome, The Angkor Wat Temples in Cambodia, Buildings in the forbidden city in Beijing, Hagia Sophia in Turkey, The pyramids of Giza etc.

76. Meeting places

1 Where is your favorite place to meet with your friends?

I like to explore new places with my friends, they maybe a new restaurant in town or a park we've never seen before.

2 Do you think there are some places more suitable for meeting with others?

Yes, places that have a relaxed seating, low low level of noise and are comfortable to be in are most suited for meeting others.

3 Are there any differences between your favorite meeting places in the present and in your childhood?

In my childhood places like public parks, loud noisy areas all seemed attractive whereas now I'd prefer quieter and comfortable areas.

4 Why are some meeting places better than others?

I think the meeting places that provide a quite ambience are better than the one's which are very noisy.

India has a tropical climate, and many varieties of flowers grow here like Rose, Jasmine, Marigold, Lotus, Sunflower, Dahlia, etc.

2. Are there any flowers that have special meaning in India?

Lotus, the national flower of India is a symbol of purity and is considered auspicious in Hindu culture. Many Hindu gods and goddesses are depicted as sitting on the lotus flower or holding it in their hands. It is used for worshipping purposes and offered to deities in religious ceremonies.

Another example is Jasmine which is also considered sacred in India and is a symbol of love, purity, hope, and optimism. Jasmine garlands are used in Indian wedding ceremonies and many brides also wear it in their hair.

3. Have you planted any flowers?

I have planted many rose bushes in my backyard. They not only look beautiful but are easy to maintain and can withstand hot summer weather. I have also planted Jasmine flowers in containers on my front porch. They have a very sweet fragrance and I find it very relaxing to sit by them.

4. Have you sent flowers to anyone?

I send flowers to my parents on their anniversary every year. My mother is very fond of flowers and likes to put them by their kitchen window. I have also given flowers to my friend and relatives on special occasions like birthdays and weddings.

95. Barbecue

1. Do Indian people like barbecue

Yes, Indian people like barbeque. Traditionally in India, Barbeque is cooked in a Tandoor which is a cylindrical clay oven heated with charcoal or wood. This gives the food a smoky flavor. Mostly restaurants have big tandoors and at home, people use a small tandoor or grill. It is very popular in North India.

2. What kind of food do you like to eat for barbeque?

Tandoori chicken is my most favorite barbeque food. Chicken is marinated in yogurt and Indian spices and then cooked on skewers in the tandoor. I also like Naan which is like a grilled flatbread that is made by sticking the dough directly on the walls of the hot clay oven.

3. Would you like to have barbeque with your family or your friends?

I would like to have barbeque with both family and friends. I am very close with my family and most of my friends know my parents and siblings.

4. Did you have barbeque when you were a child?

When I was a child, we didn't cook barbeque at home as we did not have a tandoor or a grill. However, I remember eating it at restaurants and getting takeout from nearby food vendors.

96. Car Trip

1. Do you like to travel by car?

Yes, I like to travel by car. I find it very convenient and time saving compared to taking the bus. I have a scooter too but prefer taking the car especially during the hot summer days.

2. When do you travel by car?

I like to travel by car when I am going to places in my town or nearby cities (2-3 hours). For long journeys, I prefer the train to the car. The roads in many parts of my country are not in good condition, so car trip for long journeys is not safe and uncomfortable.

3. Where is the farthest place you have traveled by car?

The farthest place I have been to by car is Jaipur, Rajasthan. It was a very last-minute trip as my grandfather got very sick and we couldn't find any train tickets. My father and I took turns driving the car and reached there in about 12 hours.

4. Do you like to sit in the back or front when travelling by car?

I like to sit in the front row either driving the car or in the passenger seat. The front seat has a better view and I like to keep a watch on traffic even when I am not driving. I feel in control when I am in the front.

97. Relax

1. What do you do to relax?

During leisure time we were encouraged to do some physical activities like playing cricket, football, or basketball with classmates.

101. Environmental protection

1. Would you like to work in a company related to environmental protection?

Yes, I would certainly like to work for an eco-friendly company that has adopted sustainable practices and gone green. Our planet is facing a lot of environmental problems like climate change, global warming, air pollution, water pollution, waste disposal, etc. Natural disasters like earthquakes, tsunamis, and cyclones have so become common in the past few decades. All companies and individuals must actively take steps to protect our environment.

2. How can we protect the environment?

There are many ways we can help the help environment and reduce our carbon footprint.

- 1) Use reusable cloth bags instead of single-use plastics.
- 2) Recycle and compost.
- 3) Unplug household appliances when you are not using them.
- 4) Plant trees.
- 5) Take local transportation instead of driving cars.
- 6) Bike to work/college if possible.
- 7) Use eco-friendly products.
- 8) Conserve Water

3. Do you think you have done enough to protect the environment?

I don't think I have done enough. There is so much more that I can do. I have started small changes at home like recycling, reducing food waste, composting, and not using plastics. One thing I need to do is to start car-pooling with colleagues instead of driving my car to work. I would also like to get solar panels for my house and energy-efficient appliances.

4. Is there education about environmental protection at school?

Yes, environmental education is part of formal education in Indian schools (it was made compulsory through a supreme court judgment in 2003). Children are the future, and they must be taught about environmental issues at a young age so that they grow up to lead an eco-friendly life.

102. New Year

1. How do you celebrate New Year?

I usually celebrate New Year with my family and relatives. We all get together at my grandfather's home and spend the day together. My mom and my aunts prepare a big lavish brunch. We play board games and watch a movie together. We go to the temple in the evening and have fireworks in the night.

2. Do you still remember a New Year that you celebrated?

Yes, when I was in 10th grade, we all decided to celebrate New Year in Goa instead of doing it at my Grandfather's house. We stayed at a resort in Goa which was right next to the beach. 190. Foreign language

1. Why do you think it is important to learn a foreign language?

It is important to learn a foreign language because it helps you connect with more people. As it is, today we do not belong to a big planet Earth; we belong to a small global village and to survive in this global village, it is necessary to be multilingual. For example, English is spoken in 86 countries. If you know English you can communicate with people of 86 countries.

2. How is it helpful to you to speak a foreign language?

I know English which is a foreign language. It is very helpful for me. Knowledge of English makes me feel more confident as it increases my communication skills and also it helps me in surfing the net because most websites are written in English.

3. What is the most difficult part of learning a foreign language for you?

I find some pronunciations very confusing at times. For example bough is pronounced 'bo' whereas tough is 'tuff'.

Sometimes the spellings which have silent words also confuse me. For instance 'b' is silent in doubt and debt.

4. What is the best way to memorize new words?

The best way is to start using them in daily life so that they become part of your natural spoken English.

5. Is it better to learn a new word from translation or by definition?

I think both ways are equally good. Sometimes some words are learnt best by translation and some by definition.

6. Why don't some people know the language of the society they live in?

This is perhaps because they live in their own shell and don't intermingle with those people.

7. What do you think of children learning a foreign language?

I think children should learn a foreign language. It is very easy for children to learn a foreign language as they are very receptive and they are not hesitant about making mistakes. They also have a benefit of not knowing any other language too well, to make comparisons and assumptions about the difficulty of language learning. In this era of globalization, knowledge of a foreign language is very beneficial for a better career and a brighter future. It opens more avenues for the students for higher education and good jobs.

8. Why are some language classes boring?

Some language classes are boring because of the teaching methods used. If there no interactive and fun activities involved in teaching a language and only textbook teaching methods are followed, students become bored easily. Incorporating technology in classrooms, keeps the students interested in learning and they learn it easily. For example, there should be audio-visual means used.

9. Some students hate to learn foreign languages, what can teachers do to develop their interest?

Some students hate to learn a foreign language mainly due to lack of interest and uninteresting teaching methods used. Teachers play an important in developing students' interest. Interactive and fun activities should be included to keep the children involved and interested in learning. If students are taught only from text books and there is a pressure of examination, it leads to students becoming bored or disliking language classes. Teachers should also use contexts and examples to which the students can relate in their day-to-day life. If they understand how the language can help and benefit them, students would be motivated to learn that language.

10. Some people travel for learning a foreign language, what do you think?

I think that traveling is a very good way to learn a foreign language. It is true that the more we use a language, the better we get at it. So, if travel to a county/region where that language is used, we will interact more with the local people in that language and learn its nuances better. Also, language is related to the culture. If we travel, we learn more about the culture and can learn the language better.

11. What's the best way to learn a foreign language?

I think the best way to learn a foreign language in a classroom environment, from a teacher who has in-depth knowledge of that language. The teacher should preferably be a native speaker of that language or should have a high proficiency level in that language. It is very important to incorporate technology and audio-visual methods to teach that language. Also, travelling to that country/region where the language is spoken is also a good way to learn it. These days learning a language through videos and online classes has become very popular, as the students get a chance to interact with the teachers and also with native speakers of that language, through the internet. There are many apps also available, which can be downloaded on smartphones, which help learning a foreign language in a fun and interactive way. For example, the Duolingo app.

12. Why can some people learn languages fast while others learn slowly?

Some people learn language faster than some others because of the teaching methods used to teach them. Interacting more with the native speakers also helps with learning a language better and faster. Also, there may be a motivating factor, like a job that requires them to learn that language, which makes people learn a language faster than others, who don't have any motivation behind learning a language.

13. Does one's age affect their language learning?

Yes, I think age affects language learning. I think the learning curve goes down with increasing age. Also, at an older age, people try and compare the new language they are learning with the language they already know. That may cause a hindrance in the learning of a language. People also become more hesitant about making mistakes and feel more embarrassed, at a later age, as compared to young learners.

Advantages for children to learn languages – Why it is good to learn languages at younger age

1. When children learn multiple languages at a younger age, they develop a lifelong love of communicating with others.
2. It is much easier to learn foreign language when young. At a later age it becomes harder to become fluent
3. Learning a foreign language helps a child's mind develop. Such children do better in other subjects. It helps their intellect to develop more
4. Learning a foreign language helps children to expand their knowledge of the world. They want to know about other people and other countries. They would want to understand them instead of being afraid of them.

Advantages for the adult learner of a foreign language

He has his own language to compare with the second language. So new terms or concepts are easily understood.

They have a strong motivation to learn a new language especially if it is connected to an employment opportunity.

Most adult learners have participated in study earlier, so they know what method of learning works best for them.

5. Do you think that people have less free time today than in the past? Why?

Yes, I do feel that people have less free time today than in the past. Today, people have become workaholics. They run after money and in doing so they work longer hours. Moreover, today we belong to a materialistic society and to buy the luxuries we have to work more. In earlier times, life was slower and the needs of people were limited. So people had a lot of free time.

6. Do you think that the quality of living is increasing? How?

I feel that the quality of life has increased in many ways and in many ways it has gone down. People today enjoy greater comforts and have more money to enjoy life but on the other hand we face many problems today such as pollution and global warming which make the quality of life bad.

7. Today people use machinery to automate everything, is it good or bad?

It is both – good as well as bad. In many ways it is good. We have more time because of machines. We get good quality things because machines make uniform things. We do mass production because of automation and this boosts our economy as we can export things to other countries when we produce them in bulk.

On the other hand, many people have lost jobs because of automation. So, unemployment occurs and this leads to many other problems in society. Machines can also not give a personal touch to things.

8. How does modern technology help to save time?

Modern technology has touched all aspects of life. In transport industry we have much faster means of travel. In communication, technology has given us tools to connect to others at the click of a mouse. In the homes, we have washing machines and microwave ovens, which save our time.

9. Do you agree that people should let machinery do everything?

I do not agree that machines should do everything. In that way we shall become slaves of our own creation. We should know when, where and how much we have to use machines. We should know where to draw the line. When we need mass production, we should take the help of machines. In doing repetitive and boring work we can let the machines take over. But where creativity is needed, we should do with our own hands.

There wasn't any subject I liked the least. I liked all the subjects in secondary school.

8. Which secondary school subject do you think is most useful for people in adult life?

I think all the subjects that we study in secondary school are useful for people in adult life. A strong foundation is built in primary and high school years that helps us throughout our life.

9. What part of your secondary school education did you enjoy most? OR Did (do) you like your secondary school life?

I enjoyed my secondary school education a lot. There is no one part that I liked more than the other. I liked the fact that our school had an equal focus on extra curricular and physical activities, and not just on the academics.

10. How do you feel about your high school (secondary school)?

I think that high school years were the wonder years and I miss those times.

11. Why did you choose to attend (= to go to) that particular school?

My parents chose my school for me. I think I was too young to decide on my own and my parents chose the best school for my siblings and me.

12. Which class did (do) you enjoy the most? (Why?)

I enjoyed all the school years a lot. However, there was a lot of excitement and a feeling of pride when I got promoted from the primary wing of the school to the high school wing

216. Emails

1. Do you often write (or, send) emails?

No, I don't often write/send emails. I sometimes write official emails, like for sending in a job application through email and sometimes I write to my friends.

2. What do you write about?

I sometimes I write official emails, like sending a job application. When I write to my friends or relatives, it is informal and I ask about their health and wellbeing and tell them about what's going on in my life.

3. Do you think emails are useful?

Yes, I think that emails are very useful. Emails are convenient, timesaving, cost-effective and easy to send and receive. These days, emails are a good way to communicate for both formal and informal purposes.

4. What kinds of emails do you send and receive?

I mostly receive promotional or spam emails advertising various shopping websites or products. I sometimes receive emails from my friends who are living in another country and at times I receive official communication, e.g. emails from the bank or the Income Tax department.

5. Do you think it is a good thing that some companies send out letters/spam emails for the purpose of advertising?

I think sending spam emails for the purpose of advertising is a good marketing strategy and promotes a product or a service. However, it sometimes becomes a nuisance when it is sent repeatedly.

6. How often do you write letters?

I don't write handwritten letters any more. If I need to, I send an email. All official and personal letters can be sent through emails now.

7. What do you write about?

It depends whom I am writing to. When I'm writing to my friends and relatives, it's usually about what's happening in my life and to ask about their wellbeing. When writing an official letter, it is for a specific purpose and it is formal.

8. On what occasions do you write letters?

I write letters very rarely and there are no specific occasions when I write them.

9. Do you like writing letters to your relatives and friends? (why/why not?)

Yes, I like writing to my relatives and friends, but I write emails or messages to them. I don't write handwritten letters now.

10. Do you and your friend keep in touch by (handwritten) letter?

No, I don't stay in touch with my friends through handwritten letters. I text them or chat with them or send them an email.

11. How do you keep in touch with your friends and relatives (by email, letter, by phone or by any other way)?

I stay in touch with my friends mostly through the online social media apps and websites, like Facebook, Whatsapp, Instagram, etc.

217. RAINY DAYS

1. Does it rain much in India? (Where? When?)

India is a diverse country with different climatic conditions in different regions. So there are some parts of India that receive a lot of rain, like Cherrapunji in Meghalaya, Amboli in Maharashtra, etc. Some places receive a lot of rainfall only during the monsoon season, like Mumbai, Chennai, Goa, etc.

2. Does it rain much in your hometown? (Include how often)

It doesn't rain much in my hometown. It is only during the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August that we receive some rainfall.

3. In what season does it rain the most? OR When (in what month/season) does it rain most in your hometown?

It rains the most in my hometown in the monsoon season, that is in the months from June to August.

4. What about the other parts of India? OR In which season does it rain most in other parts of India?

India has a varied terrain. In many parts of India, it mostly rains in the monsoon season. However, it also depends on the geographical location as it affects the rainfall in many regions.

5. Would you prefer to have, more rain or less rain (in your hometown)?

I would prefer to have more rain in my hometown. In the last few years, there has been a drastic change in the seasons and the summers get very hot. If there is more rainfall in the summers, there will be respite from the heat.

6. Do you like rainy days? OR How do you feel on rainy days? OR Do you feel sad on rainy days?

I like rainy days in the summer season because the temperatures drop and we get respite from the summer heat. In winters I am not too happy when it rains, as it becomes very cold after it rains.

7. How does rain affect different people's moods? OR How does rain affect people's lives?

I think rains affect people's moods when it restricts their activities or leads to a loss in the work or business. Some people feel happy when it rains as the weather becomes pleasant and people can enjoy hot beverages and fried snacks.

8. Do you prefer rainy days or sunny days?

I prefer rainy days in the summers and sunny days in the winter season. Rains give us respite from the heat in the summers and we can enjoy sitting out in the sun on a cold winter day.

9. What do you do on rainy days (or, on a rainy day)?

I enjoy hot beverages, like coffee and fried snacks like fritters and samosas on rainy days. It gives us an opportunity to stay at home with family and spend quality time with them.

10. What do you usually do when it rains (or, when it starts to rain) and you are outside?

If it rains when I am outside, I usually look for a café or a place where I can sit and enjoy coffee and some snacks.

11. Do you think rain is good? (Why?)

Yes, I think rains are good. Rains are important to maintain the ecosystem's balance. Rains help with maintaining the groundwater levels. They make the dust settle down and help clean the environment. For agriculture-based economies, rains during the rainy season are very important for a good crop.

12. How does rain affect (life in) your country?

Agriculture is a major part of India's economy and that is largely dependent on timely rains. So a lot of farmers depend on a good monsoon season for a good crop. Unseasonal rains can have an adverse affect on agriculture, as it can destroy crops. In places where there is water shortage, people depend on rains and save rain water in reservoirs.

13. Is there any part of India where it doesn't rain much? (Where?) OR Is there an even distribution of rain throughout India?

India is a diverse country with different climates in different parts. There are many parts in the east of India that experience a lot of rain throughout the year. In most parts of India, monsoon season is the time when most of the rainfall happens. In some western parts, like in the deserts of Rajasthan, there is very little rain. Sometimes some states experience droughts because of no rainfall for a very long period of time.

14. What effects can a shortage of rain (a drought) have on people's lives?

Droughts/Shortage of rain can have adverse effects on the livelihoods of many people, especially those who are dependent on agriculture. Sometimes people are forced to leave their hometowns due to water shortage and start afresh somewhere else and face hardships. Many people die each year in India and all over the world because of droughts.

15. Can you remember any time when it rained particularly heavily in your hometown? (When?)

Yes, I remember that during my childhood it used to rain continuously for days and the roads and parks got filled with water. We used to enjoy a lot playing in the rain and in the pools of water. This used to happen during the monsoon season. Now the amount of rainfall has reduced drastically due to climate change.

16. Does rain ever affect transportation in your hometown? (How?)

Yes, sometimes the rain affects the transportation. It is mostly on some roads where the drainage system is not good or when it is blocked. At such times the water logging happens on the roads and the movement of traffic is affected.

17. Do you think the seasons have changed in recent years, compared to the past? (Why? How?)

Yes, I think seasons have changed in the recent years because of global warming and the consequent climate change. The summers last longer and the winters are shorter. Also, the amount of rainfall during the monsoon season has reduced. Sometimes we hardly get any rains during the monsoon season.
